Our families are where we learn, grow and change. As part of the 1983 Worthington Family Festival, the Community Coordinating Board will publish ideas that Worthington families feel are important to family life. Your "idea" might be an activity that your family does together. Or it may be a way your family members solve problems or provide support to one another. Your idea might be how you share responsibilities as family members or a way the members of your family make each other feel good. There are no limits to your ideas for being a family. Just share what is meaningful to your family.

Here's how you can help us find "50 Ways To Be A Family."

1. Discuss the program with your family and select one idea to share.
2. In 50 words or less, describe the idea in the space provided on the entry form.
3. Complete the front side of the entry form, including names, address, phone number.
4. Return entry to the Worthington Resource Center, 777 High Street, Worthington 43085, or to the office of any Worthington public school.
5. Deadline to submit entry is Monday, May 16.
6. Families whose entries are selected for one of the "50 Ways" will be notified by Friday, May 20. These families will be presented a certificate and honored with a special place in the Family Chain on Memorial Day.
7. "50 Ways To Be A Family" will be published in a special publication distributed prior to the Festival.
