Leadership Worthington

The concept of a community leadership academy originated in Atlanta in the early 1970s and spread to other areas where communities sought to foster leadership and development. Following the successful examples of metropolitan leadership academies, but seeking an identity uniquely tailored to the Worthington area, Leadership Worthington was launched in late 1989.

It began as a cooperative venture of Worthington Schools/Business/Community Partnership Council and the Worthington Area Chamber of Commerce. A charter board of 30 trustees, representing the diverse businesses and interests of the Worthington area, established goals and guidelines, a seminar curriculum, candidate selection criteria, and a program mission (See page 10).

The program began under the coordination of Lynn Straker (from 1989 to Fall 1990) and graduated its first class, in June 1991, under the capable leadership of Kathy Moore (Fall 1990 to Fall 1991), who now serves as a trustee. Alumni of that class are listed on pages 14 and 15 of this directory. Several of them have joined the board of trustees of Leadership Worthington; most are now actively involved in community leadership projects.

Janey Davies, hired as Leadership Worthington coordinator in Fall 1991, helped to refine the program, spark recruitment efforts and build community enthusiasm for Leadership Worthington during the 1991-92 academy. Working with the board of trustees and guest presenters, she facilitated the following program of course topics for the class.

- Orientation to Leadership Worthington (Retreat)
- Leadership and Decision Making
- Problem Solving and Conflict Resolution
- Worthington, Past and Present
- Worthington in Context with State and Nation
- The Global Economy: Worthington and the World
- Multi-cultural Issues
- Team Building
- Local Resources and Issues
- Volunteer Leadership
- Project Presentations
- Course Wrap-up
- Graduation Ceremony

Leadership Worthington's second class graduated on May 24, 1992. These emerging community leaders—many already well established as volunteers, mentors and officers of community organizations—are pictured within this directory.

If your organization needs enthusiastic, experienced leaders, contact the members of the 1992 graduating class of Leadership Worthington, or an alumnus of the 1991 class. For more information on how you can sponsor a candidate or participate in the program yourself, contact Janey Davies at 431-6500.
