CLASS SONG.

HANORA HANNON.

1. Our school-day joys are over,
Our hearts are sad and lone,
For we must leave our schoolmates,
No more with them to roam.

CHORUS.—Farewell, farewell, oh! schoolmates dear,
Farewell, farewell, oh! schoolmates dear.

2. We've fought the battle bravely,
We've crossed the raging tide.
We've landed safe at harbor,
By a hand, our faithful guide.
3. Now this kind hand is going
To seek another shore;
So may his unknown future
Be brighter than before.
4. Farewell, oh! now, dear schoolmates;
We will give a sad farewell.
We may part, perhaps forever,
Yet hope in Heaven to dwell.
5. There no parting pain will grieve us,
And our pleasures none can tell;
Yet ere we leave we bid you
Each and all a long farewell.
