"The faculty, students, and genuine spirit at Thomas Worthington have made it a positive place to learn and grow."

Scientific genius Aki Taniguchi impresses her fellow classmates by demonstrating her extensive physics knowledge.

A school is primarily a place for learning, a place for acquiring academic knowledge. But as anyone knows, its purpose goes far above and beyond simply somewhere to get a diploma. It is not just a four-year requirement mandated by the state or something to rush through as quickly as possible. A school is a place to flourish, mature, and experience the highs and lows of life and plays an integral role in developing the people that we will become in the future. It is probably the greatest preparation students have until they venture out into the real world on their own.

TWHS Cardinals are fortunate enough to attend a school that surpasses mediocre standards. Here at Thomas Worthington, there are approximately 1, 730 students and 143 faculty members, each individual contributing to the quality of TWHS in his own unique way. Students participate in over forty extra-curricular activities and clubs, and twenty-two interscholastic sports. The student body is comprised of artists, writers, thespians, musicians, athletes, singers, leaders, and recognized scholars who excel in all areas. The teachers and staff range from raw beginners to seasoned veterans, each spreading their own knowledge, insight, and personal experiences to their students. The combined effort between teachers and students is incomparable as is the passion and determination for achievement, both personal and as an entire school.

In reality, Thomas Worthington High School is just another building, like any other building that exists in any other city. It is the people who inhabit the building, the people who consistently strive towards and achieve excellence that make it the significant place that it is.

At first glance one may automatically assume that Thomas Worthington High School is just another cookie cutter, Abercrombie and Fitch-clad high school. But, in actuality, the TWHS student body is as diverse as any other high school.

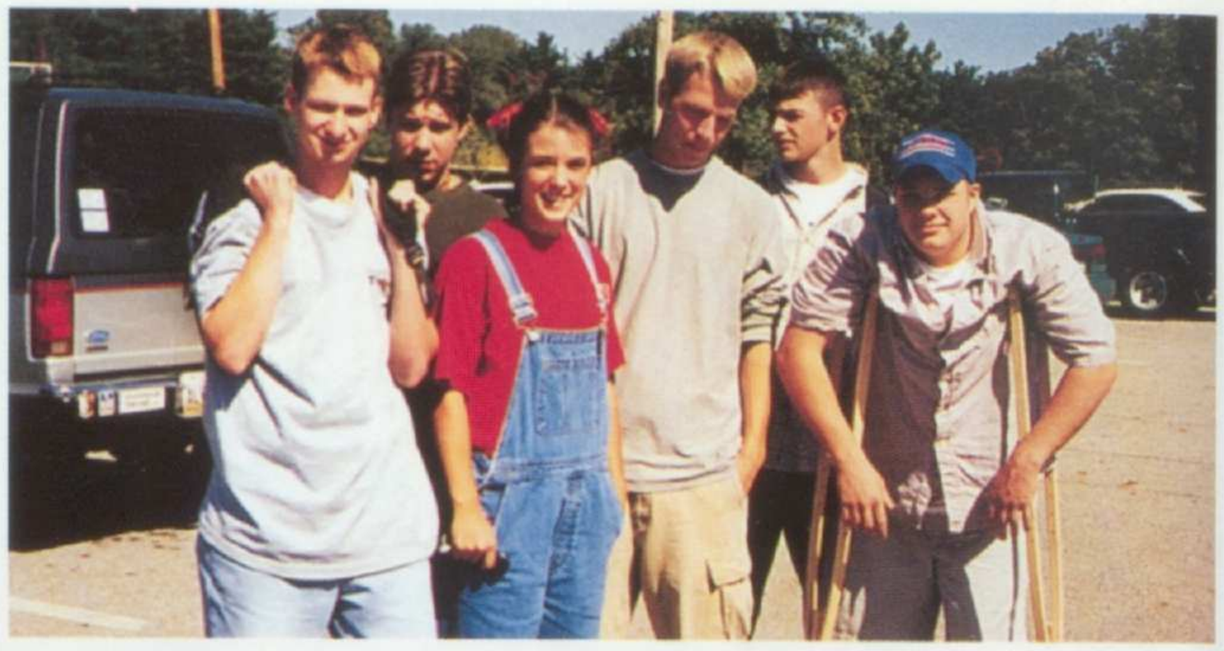

The most prominent feature of the student individuality is the vast array of clothing styles. A few of the styles students can be found in are the preppy, suburban wear of Abercrombie, the oversized black Korn t-shirts, and the urban gear of FUBU on any given day.

The students of TWHS excel in many different areas including: athletics, academics, music, theater, and other extracurriculars. While our sport teams rack up wins, our school band is receiving superior ratings, the National Merit Scholars are recognized for their ability, and the theater program puts on yet another sold-out performance.

But perhaps, the most significant uniqueness lie in the students themselves. The student body represents different races, backgrounds, religions, opinions, and personalities. Even though there are dominant social cliques in every high school and groups seem to share the same personalities, each student has his own sense of values and self. Each student contributes to the unique-nicity of TWHS.

Seniors 2000

This group of seniors is way too excited for senior lunch.

These six Natural Quality Seniors, Mary Murphy, Kacey Campbell, Marilee Oldfield, Katharine Smith, Michele Baker, and Ginny Rowe show their school spirit and their smiles before the football game.

"My senior year of high school at Thomas Worthington has been full of friends and times that I will always consider unforgettable."

"Yes, you are right, we are Extremely Sweet Upperclassman." says Alison Preisch to Lauren Kuntz

This is what you have been waiting for. Your senior year of high school. The year of endless advantages, easy schedules (except those of us with a day full of A.P. courses), and, of course, the notorious "senioritis."

One great senior perk is being able to leave school grounds for lunch. The only problem with going out to lunch is that the rest of the city is eating lunch at the same time. But, truthfully, waiting in line at McDonald's is a whole lot better than waiting in the cafeteria lunch line.

The one thing that differentiates the seniors from the rest of the student body is senior shirts. Love them or hate them, they seem to be here to stay.

Schedules, presumably, become easier in one's senior year. But senior year, with its required classes, can become just as difficult as any of the preceding ones. "Senioritis"is defined as "the idea that the senior earned the right to slack off in his or her senior year because they have earned it during the first three years of high school."

No matter what senior year is made up of, it is sure to be one of the most memorable years of a person's high school career.

100 years of football

This year marks the one hundredth year of Cardinal Football. The tradition of football in Cardinal Country started in 1899. Worthington High School was the first high school in Ohio to establish a football program. This year the players will wear a patch on their shoulders representing one hundred years of football. On September twenty-fourth, 1999, the community gathered in celebration of 100 years of football. Decorations for the stadium included red, white and blue balloons along with the balloon covered archway . The fans of Worthington all gathered before the game to tailgate in honor of the Cardinal football team.

Reflections on 100 years of football!

"It's nice to have tradition to fall back upon. It guides us in practice and in our performance on and off the field."
Behrad Mahdi (captain)

"It's something really cool. Not too many schools can say they've had 100 years in their program."
Dave Congrove (captain)

"Good better best, never let it rest, until the good is better, and the better is the best."
Dan Mead (captain)

Perhaps you may not realize how many of Thomas Worthington's students come to school with their parents each day. Seventeen staff members have children currently attending our school. Your parents teach you many life lessons at home, but these students are given grades for their lessons. Mrs. Bookwalter's daughter, Diana, a sophomore, had her mom for English last year and said it is nice having her around. "If I need lunch money or something from home, she is here to get it for me." Junior Chris Pope agrees "...it is nice having my mom here, but I don't like it when she comes up to me the cafeteria or in the halls." Not only do the students like having their parents around, the parents agree. Mr. Postle, whose kids, Jesse and Molly, are students, says that he loves it. "I love my kids and it is great because I am able to see them more often." Many of the students barely notice the difference from their other teachers. Senior Josh Ellwood stated, "I have gotten used to it" and doesn't really have an opinion on having his dad in the building. There are some disadvantages though. Sophomore Kyle Hummel agrees that it is nice having his mom teach at TWHS, but it is a bit awkward because some of his friends have her for Chemistry. Unlike Diana and her mom, Mrs. Pope didn't like having her sons in study hall. "Chris makes fun of me." The junior's only response..."well, it's just so easy."

By Paula Breen, Sean Dunn, and Susan Strick

Would you prefer your parents work somewhere else?

"I like having her work here because it is useful. She is my pawn in a game of chess. I love her very much."
Chris Pope

"It doesn't really matter, but if anything, it is kind of helpful."
Kurt Hummel

"I really like having her here. If I need money, someone to talk to, or a ride, she's here for me."
Bridget Myers

"I really don't mind her working here. I get the inside scoop on things."

What's in a name?

Walking down the halls of Thomas Worthington, one will definitely get the feeling that much diversity exists in our school. People seem to be able to define themselves in many different ways from the way they dress to the color of their hair. The interesting part of having different qualities is that people can still share a name. A name is something that belongs to us, however is not under our control. Our parents give us our birth name, and our friends conjure up our nicknames. At TWHS, we have not only common names like John and Jennifer, but unusual names like Leith and Sagar. Our names can be spelled and pronounced differently. There are even students who have the same last name although no relation is shared. Thomas Worthington students rejoice in their differences as well as their similarities.

Traditions

At Thomas Worthington, many traditions have been passed down through the years. One of many long standing traditions is the school spirit that is carried out by our school. Our loyal Cardinal fans always show up dressed in their red and blue with their faces painted. Also at many of the sporting events, the Cardinal mascot makes an appearance to cheer on the teams. The Cardinal has been a part of Worthington life for almost as long as the school has been in existence.

Down by the stadium, the rock that sits by route 161 has been painted for decades now. The rock is decorated for many different occasions, whether it be for a birthday, a sports victory, graduation, or just for the fun of painting it. Sheets are hung on the stadium fence for the same reason. We are proud to be a part of these traditions.

Offensively, the team was led by seniors Dan Mead, Adam Brankamp, and Braden Feucht. Defensively, they were led by seniors John Wendling, Dave Congrove, and Behrad Madhi. Senior Dan Mead had the following to say about this year, "It was exciting to beat some teams in the OCC. It was also nice equaling the records of when the great Dimitrious Stanley played here." Many loyal fans could be seen in the stands supporting the Cardinals, whether a win or a loss. By working hard, the team achieved their goal of a winning record. BOYS SOCCER

Better Than Their Goals

Quick Facts on Coach Ian Hamilton.

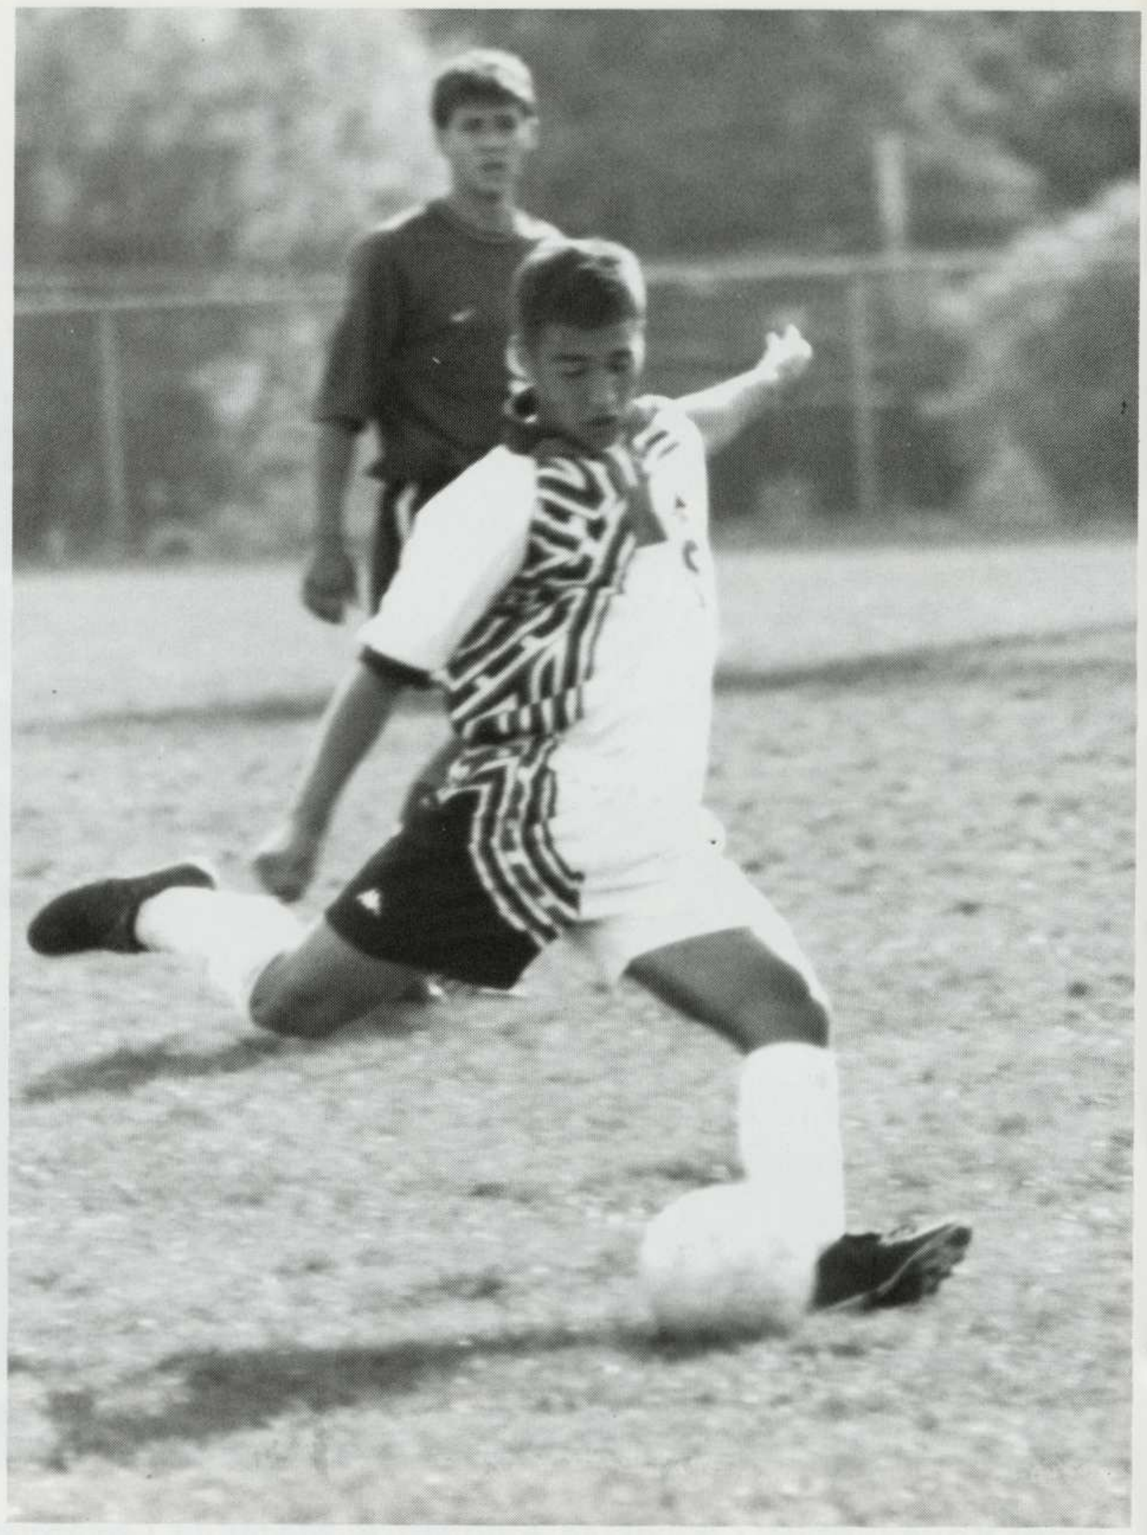

This year is sadly the year that TWHS soccer will say good-bye to its Head Coach for thirteen years. These are the incredible accomplishments of Ian Hamilton.

328-54-36
*6 District Championships
*3 Regional Championships
*2 State Championships
*9 times OCC Coach of the Year
*4 time District Coach of the Year
*3 AAA Coach of the Year
*4 time State Coach of the Year
*1 time Midwest Coach of the Year
*4 time undefeated OCC Champions

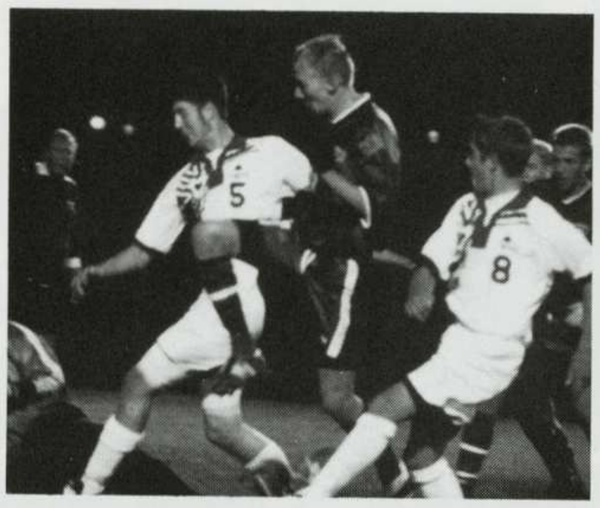

Thank you for everything.

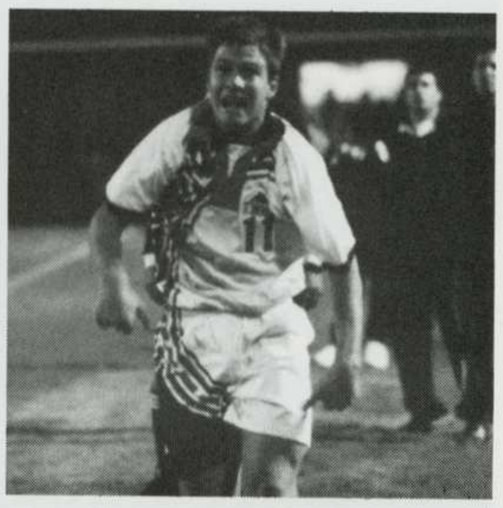

The boys soccer team had a challenging preseason. They were young and they were living in the shadows of a State Championship. None of them said die. Beginning with the #1 ranking in the state, the boys blew away their first couple of opponents. As the season wore on, they contiued to prove that they deserved the ranking. A highlight was winning their fourth straight OCC undefated championship. They began to cruise their way through the State tourney proving the class of not only themselves but their phenomenal coach. Heartbreak hit in the regional finals when their 43 game winning streak was brought to an end. These boys deserve an incredible amount of recognition for their wonderful season and unbelievable finish as Regional Runner-up. There were many awards on the team. The OCC recognized Taylor Korpeski (Honorable Mention,) Jeff Dietrich, Scott Springer, and Jim Fisher (Second Team). Jeff Strunk, Chet Ridenour, and Troy Perkins were also recognized by the OCC (First Team.) Perkins and Ridenour went on to be named to the District, Regonal, and State teams. Ian Hamilton was named State Coach Of the Year, while Perkins was Player of the Year and All American. Their record was 18-1-2.

This year's soccer team had eight fabulous seniors, including:

Kacey Campbell
Kacy Mc Millan

The 1999 girls soccer team was stacked this year with not only eight seniors but a supporting team of underclassmen that had enough experience to produce a quality season. That was just what they did. The girls went 8-6-2 and advanced to regional semi-finals. Their tournament season highlight came in the District final when they outplayed and beat their arch rival Upper Arlington 1-0. Although they did not produce the season that they wanted to,there were still outstanding highlights and incredible players. Beginning with the OCC, Kacy McMillan, Katie Tumblin, and Ashley Swinehart received First Team nods. The Second Team for the OCC included seniors Callie Soliz, Evie Scholl and Marilee Oldfield, while junior Elizabeth Lynd was named Honorable Mention. Tumblin and Swinehart also made First Team All District, while teammate Kacy McMillan was given Second Team All District. Rounding out the awards, Tumblin ended up making Second Team All State while Swinehart made First Team All State as well as being named All-American for the second year. The summer will be spent rebuilding not only their team but also their coaching staff as Mark Phillips is not returning. A special note, the girls junior varsity team put up an unbelievable undefeated record. Way to go Cards!

Having a large number of freshmen this year paid off for the boys cross country team. The freshman class had four students earn varsity letters. To earn a varsity letter for this sport it is required to be one of the top seven runners on the team. The boys had an outstanding performance at the Thomas Worthington overnight at Meadow Brook High School. The Cards ranked fourth out of the eleven. The J.V. team had a wonderful win at the Cloverleaf meet.

The top two runners on the team this year were sophomore Brian Chadwell and junior Tim Rust. Tim Rust also received OCC Second Team. "After many miles of training, each athlete improved his own personal best time over the 3.1 mile course. Outstanding job!" Coach Cox said about the season.

Next season there will be nine letter winners returning to help the team out. There are high hope that the freshamn class runners will perform at the same level as this year.

Leslie Carpenter

"We had a really good season and everyone worked really hard," comments team captain Tim Rust on his season.

And they're off! The varsity boys run towards their very successful season while they attend the Watkins meet.

As they become the leading runners for the season, Tim Rust and Brian Chadwell run for victory with Tim Warnky close on their heels.

"I think I can, I think I can," says senior Matt Carlsten as he makes his way up the final stretch of the race.

Keeping Pace

Senior runners this season were:

Jenny Brill

Laura Feldderjohann

Laurie Heller

Maren Mayer

Michelle McGhee

Nine Varisty Letters were awarded this season.

The Gary Smith Award was earned by Jenny Brill.

All District Award was earned by Michelle Warnky.

An average of 650 miles are run during the season; they could lap Ohio's border.

We see the girls running for hours after school. Together, they go rock climbing on their "off-days" for team bonding and testing their strength. The team is a closely knit group of girls. They are the Girls Cross Country team.

With the leadership of five seniors, the girls had a successful season trying to build a stronger team. Despite a few injuries, the girls created a memorable season. From weekly team dinners to various fund-raisers, the team became inseparable.

When asked about the season, senior Maren Mayer answered, " We had a few downfalls, but we stuck together and made the best of our time together. We were a young team, and much luck is wished to the girls next year."

Sophomore Michelle Warnky was the only runner to qualify for regionals, and The Gary Smith Award was earned by senior Jenny Brill.

This was a season for team bonding. As the runners return next year, there are high hopes. Good Luck, Cards!

Girls Golf

Swingin' Away

Senior players were:

Erin Wallace-Browne

Andrea Davis

Meghan Hartranft

Through the season, 1,753 golf balls were used.

A total of 289 golf balls sank into the deep waters of the pond.

68 lonely golf balls were caught in the sand traps.

This was the third season for the girls at Thomas Worthington to hit the green, and they are improving quickly. With a league record of 14 wins out of 29, which placed them eighth, along with their overall record of 19 victories out of 45, the girls are soon to be the team who everyone fears!

"This was my first season playing for the Cards, and I was really proud of the way we played on the courses," said senior Meghan Hartranft.

Awards received by the golfers were Honorable Mention, earned by Sadie Taylor, and Scholar Athlete, earned by Andrea Davis.

Of the eight golfers this year, five received letters. Four of those letter winners will be returning next season. Coach Apple said, "We have a promising team for next year. We should be strong and will make our team known."

High hopes are set for the golfers as they continue to grow in their new sport here at Thomas Worthington.

Leslie Carpenter

" We had a good season, hopefully we'll grow soon," agree captains Erin Wallace-Browne and Andrea Davis.

Girls Golf is a sport that has only been a part of Thomas Worthington for only three years. Originating at Worthington Kilbourne as a club team, girls golf soon became popular. Although golf is perceived as a real man's game, it is hoped this will soon change with its growing popularity.

Girls golf is not in the OCC, but in the Mid Ohio Girls Golf League, MOGGL. Of the many OCC schools, only nine have golf for the girls.

The home courses for the Cardinal golfers are Worthington Hills Country Club and York Golf Course. The practices are held at Golden Bear.

The TWHS golfers have placed eight of thirteen teams the past two years. The low scorer for TWHS girls golf is Renee' Hoskins, '99, whose record has yet to be beat by any other golfers, but this year, sophomore Sadie Taylor made her presence known and is hoping to replace that record with her own.

When Coach Lynn Apple was questioned about her team, she answered, "The guys have always been more competitive, but women golfers are becoming more and more popular. We had a strong team this year, the sport is becoming well known. I anticipate the growth of the team in the next few years."

"Everyone improved their game and made the season fun,"Andrea Davis said.

Teary eyed, Erin Wallace-Browne replied,"This was a season to remember. It was my best high school memory."

Showing how victorious the team is, golf all stars Andrea Davis and Erin Roll pose by the victory bell after tearing up the golf course with a phenomenal win.

Mr. Prebles instructs the girls golf team to go home after the banquet and tell their parents they love them.

Boys Golf

Hole in One

Senior players were:

Chris Wilkins
Tommy Lee

7,238 golf balls were hit through the season.

The water was the enemy as 17golf balls were victims of drowning.

The sand trap took 28 golf balls.

519 golf tees were lost while playing the various golf courses.

At Thomas Worthington, the boys golf team is more than just putting around. This season, the golf team proved themselves worthy receiving six varsity letters. In the Worthington Invitational, the guys placed 4th, and in the Lancaster Invitational they placed 8th. While competing at Sectionals, the golfers came home with a fourth place ranking.

TWHS top golfer, Brian Gifford, earned 1st Team All League, Central District Individual Qualifier, and Honorable Mention All Central District, during his season on the golf course. Shane Wallace-Browne was awarded Honorable Mention All League.

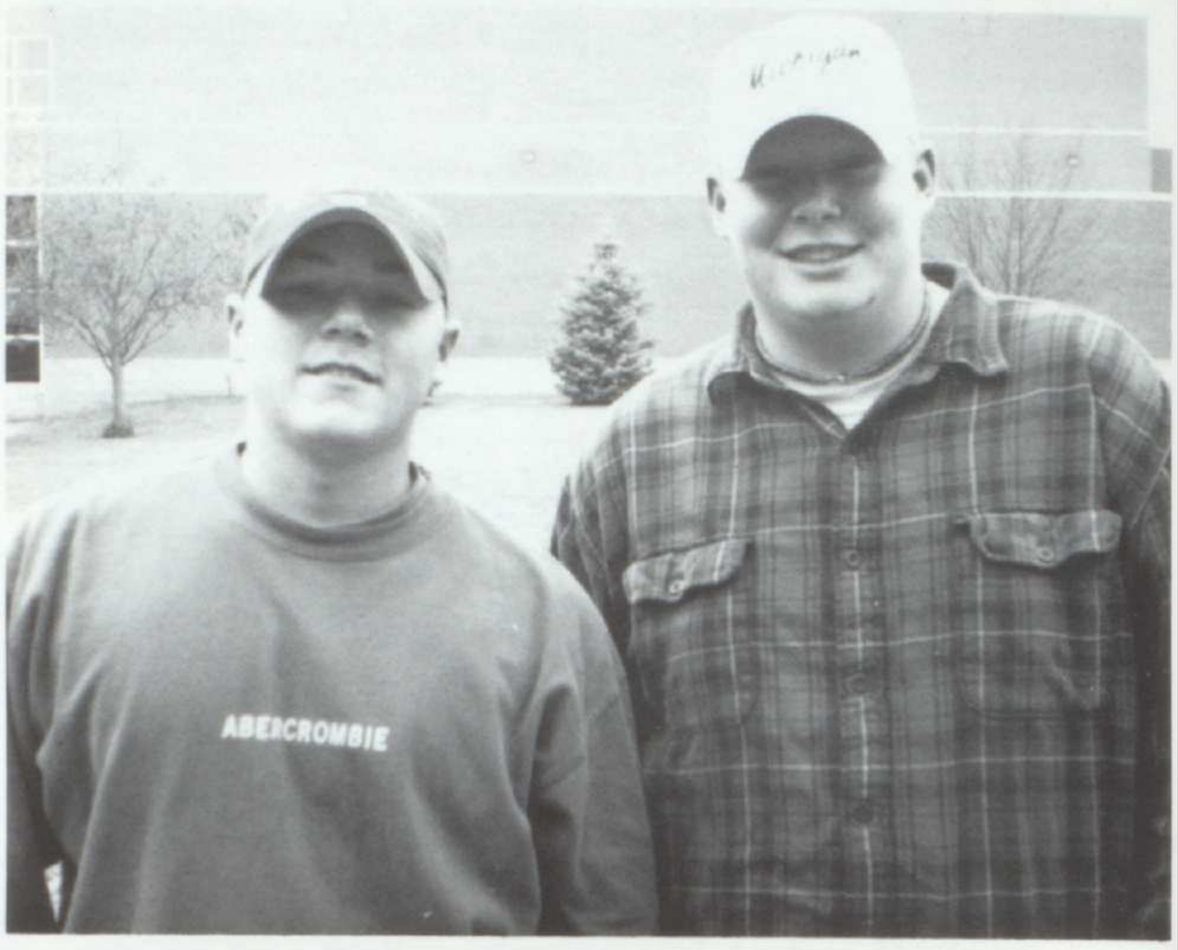

"It's all about unity!" senior Chris Wilkins said about his season. "We played well this year and had a good season overall," Jeff Hume commented.

High hopes are set for the golf team next year. With four returning letter winners, this stellar group should be quite strong.

Alison Preisch and Steve Huber

Good job ladies and good luck next year!!

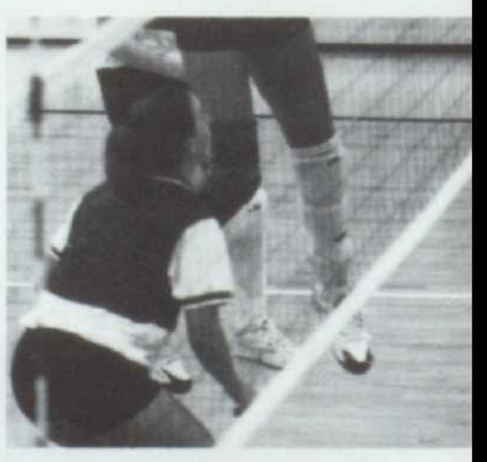

The Volleyball team received a new coach for the final year of the century. Tim Meyer was hired at the beginning of the summer. As soon as it was possible, the girls began playing. After a summer of camps and open gyms, the team seemed ready for a great season. Loaded with six seniors, the team was well lead by not only by captains Abby Scholl, Sarah Hutson and Leslie Kirkbride, but also by fellow seniors Jill Davis, Rachel Shriver and Jill Kennedy. The season did not start as smoothly as hoped due to unforeseen circumstances. The girls stepped up and did what they needed to play. It was not exactly flawless, but the girls were willing to work hard, including five and six hour practices. By the end of the season, they were performing well, and the senoirs were being very well supported by the underclassmen. They were looking forward to tournament time. Unfortunately, they drew a bad seeding and did not travel far in the tournament. Overall the team greatly improved and should be very proud of their accomplishments.

Swinging mightily, the girls tennis team worked hard this season. Proud of the fact that not only did they not give up, they also had a blast all season. The girls went 7-10, sending some individuals, including Kavitha Siviashanker to the tournament. "Kavitha did really well in the tournament. She went all the way to the State match. It was really exciting to coach a player that far." Coach Ferris told the Yearbook. Coach Ferris has coached the girls tennis team for the past decade and has been a wonderful addition to the Worthington Tennis program. Saddened by the loss of two senior captains, the Cards will rebuild on five returning letter winners. This will include their powerhouse Kavitha. On her season, Kavitha says that " I was really excited to make it to States, I stayed really relaxed and just played my game. Thanks to all my teammates help in practice I did really well!" Captain Meredith Nesline told the Cardinal, " Everyone worked as hard as they could and you just can't ask for anything more than that. I don't think I could have asked for a better group of girls to be on the team. Although I'll miss it, they will definitely be a team to be reckoned with next season!" Great Job Girls!!!

Not many followers of girls water polo gave Thomas Worthington much of a chance for 1999. Losing five seniors from the '98 team put the Lady Cardinals in a tough spot. The team ended up with a successful season. Led by senior captains, Jennie LaBuda, Heather Rennebohm, and Faye Schuler, the Cards battled every opponent that they faced, upsetting the likes of Kilbourne and Cincinnati Sycamore early in the season. They managed to qualify for the state tournament, and ended up finishing sixth in the state for the second year in a row. Junior Lauren Abraham and sophomores Katie Ness, Megan Thornburg along with several promising freshmen will keep the team competitive during the 2000 season. They worked hard together and everyone on the team contributed. The captains made a great offensive team and Megan Thornburg (with the help of Jill Davis at States) did a marvelous job in goal.

Boys Water Polo

Although the 1999 water polo team was disappointed with its season's record, the future looks to be promising. The team loses two senior captains, Brian DePew and Mark Claibourne, but returns four starters: Kyle Davis, Tivon Favret, Rob Daniel, and Takahura Okada. Matt Williams also was a great contributor coming off the bench. The team failed to make the state tournament this season, but had some very exciting games nonetheless. DePew and Claibourne provided excellent leadership and pulled the team together in close games by oftentimes scoring goals in clutch moments. Commenting on the season, Brian DePew stated, "During the season I had a great time and came away with some great friendships. I wish the team the best of luck in the future."

Many changes awaited the Cardinals upon their return to their original site. The girls returned to their front field which had been re-leveled. Along with their refinished site, they would be coached by someone new. The Cards adjusted to the improved coaching style, and finished their season with an overall record of 6-8-2.

Captains were Lindsay Miller, Leslie Poulson, and Jenny Steele. The seniors agreed that they had an improved season over the last few. "Though it was an adjustment in the beginning, the team pulled together and made the best of our games," Leslie Poulson stated about her playing time. "The future team next year should be very strong; we wish them lots of luck," says senior Shannon Huston.

These help to show school spirit along with giving that little extra encouragement needed to bring home a win! Finally, after the signs are made and the crowd is roaring, the girls are off to their own competition. Not just anyone can be a cheerleader; it takes time, effort, and skill. We are glad we have such a peppy group of girls at Thomas Worthington who lead our teams to victory!

Everybody Jumps In...

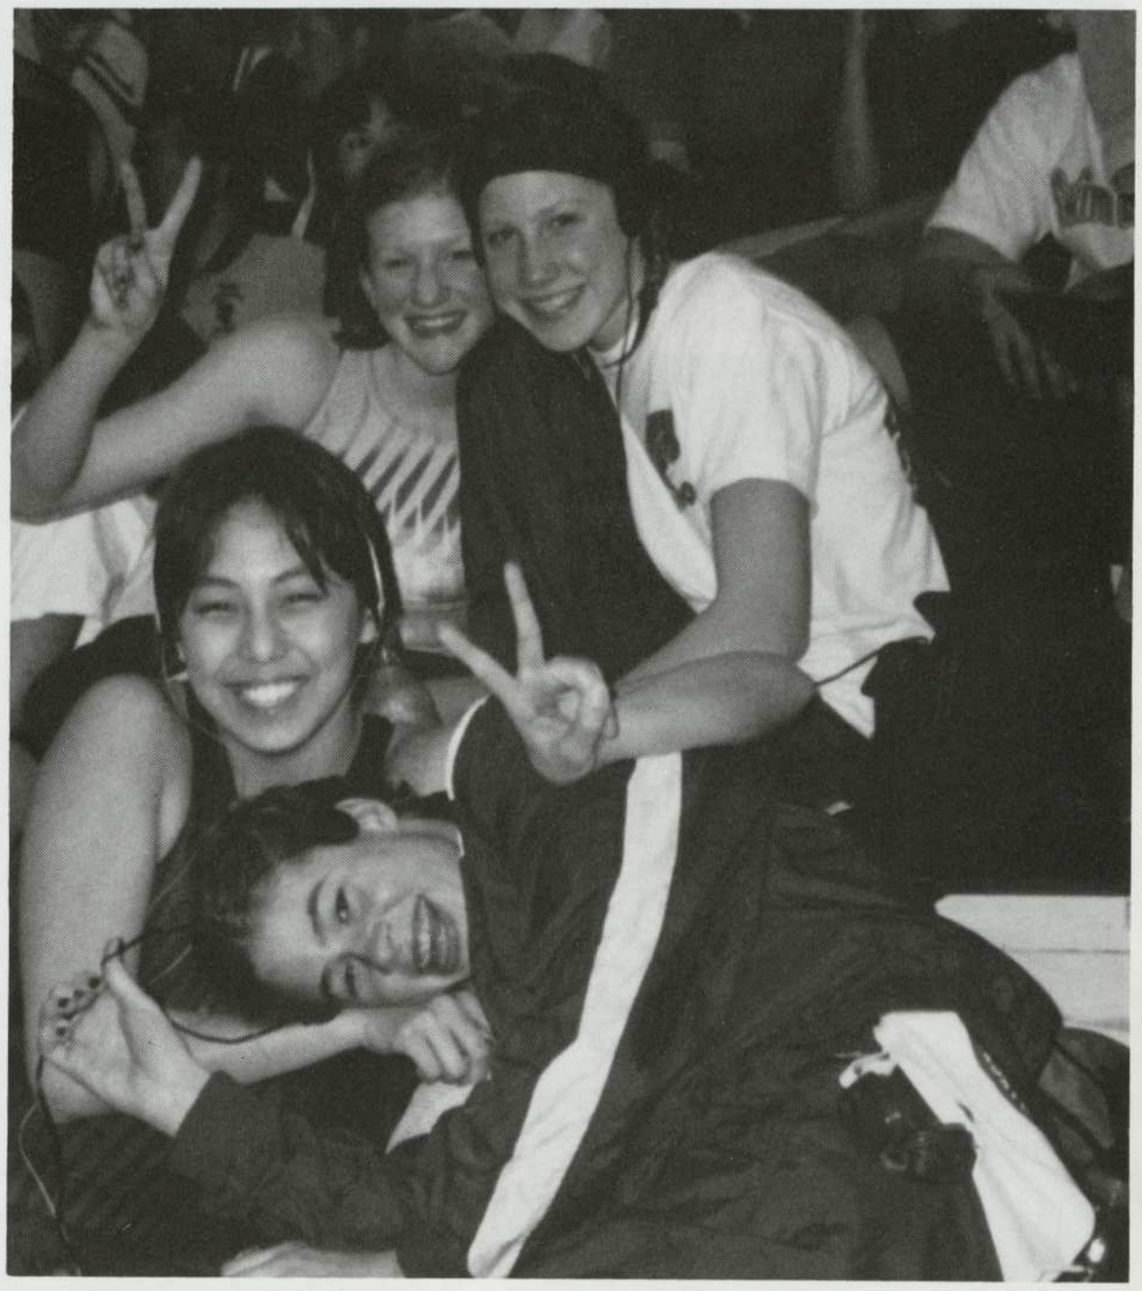

The Thomas Worthington girls swimming and diving teams' hard work paid off with an outstanding season. The Cardinals were led by captains Heather Rennebohm and Faye Schuler, and the team worked well together to finish off the season on a very successful note. Their successes included seven top three finishes at the district meet, and as a team earned third place overall. For the state meet, Thomas had six state qualifiers. Overall the girls had a rewarding year with the most ever time drops at the championship meets. Heather Rennebohm and Katie Ness were this season's most valuable swimmers.

The diving team, led by captain Erika Klinker, also had a successful season. They had a fifth place finish at the district meet, and Erika also qualified to the state meet. The diving team will not be losing any seniors, so they will be better than ever next year!

Boys Swimming and Diving

Wet and wild

DID YOU KNOW?

This year 10 Letters were awarded to the boys swim team?

The Cardinal indoor swimming pool holds 165,000 gallon of water?

Takaharu Okada broke the school record in the 100 yard breaststroke with a time that was over a second better then the last record?

The Boys Swim team had a pretty rewarding season this year. The team all together, including the diving team got 2nd in the OCC, 8th at districts, and 20th at states. That is really good considering that they improved from 21st at states last year, and that they had no seniors on the team. Plus they had a very small team which meant that they had to work twice as hard. The team was led by captains Kyle Davis, Takaharu Okada, Tivon Favret, and Robert Daniell. Takaharu also known as "T," broke the school record in the 100 yard breaststroke. The previous record was 59.01 seconds, and Takaharu broke it with a 58.8.

The Diving team was led by captain A.J. Senff who placed 8th at states individually. The rest of the swim team had a pretty good season with a record of 6-5 for their dual meets. They placed 4th at the Columbus Academy Relays, 5th at the Worthington Invitational, and 4th at the Orange Invitational.

Boys Basketball And One.....

The class of 2000 is ever present in the boys basketball program.

Marwan Gaines
Mark Knight
Ryan McNally
Brandon Nee
Matt Pope
Chet Ridenour
Adam Schwamburger

The boys were OCC Champions with a regular season record of 17-3 and were District finalists.

The boys basketball team had a phenomenal '99-'00 season. Lead by nine seniors, several returning juniors and new Cardinals, J.J. Sullinger and Kevin Anderson, the team soared further than anyone expected. During the preseason, however, Coach Miller was nervous. Several players were hurt including knee injuries and constant ankle ailments. Nothing could have warned fans or teams about the strength of the Cards during their season opener at Delaware. The boys were on fire, stealing, shooting and dunking all over the Pacers. The victories did not end in Delaware. Undefeated through the first 4 games, boys basketball became huge in Worthington. Television time, fans and ranking started pouring in for the boys. Coach Miller never let the rankings and the excitement of the season get out of hand. He said that he just wanted to take one game at a time and that's exactly what he did. The whole team stayed modest and avoided complacent-ness which lead to their capture of the OCC division title. Going into the tournament, the Cards were ranked #1 in the district and went all the way to the finals before a heartbreaking loss at the district finals. The team offered not only themselves but all their fans an unforgettable season.

Always looking for an open player, Adam Schwamberger prowls the court. "You are not beating me PUNK!" Mark Knight tells this player. While Matt Pope tells everyone to get out of his way because he's coming through "Intensity " co- captain Chet Ridenour screams. "We surpirsed so many people , it was great" -co-captains Marwan Gaines and Adam Schwamburger agree.

Basking in the glory of their OCC Championship, the boys can't get away from the overpowering voice of Coach Miller, telling them to line up right and smile!

Girls Basketball
Two points shy

The girls basketball team has three members graduating in the class of 2000:

Jenn Lykens
Mary Murphy
Rachel Shriver

Julie Anstine scored the most points.

More rebounds were pulled down by Mary Murphy.

Rachel Shriver made 24 three-point goals.

Julie Anstine was named Second Team OCC.

The start of the season was promising for the Lady Cards. High hopes and tough goals were in place from the beginning. Working hard and making practices as intense as they could was something that the girls did well. Several injuries during pre-season hurt the team's bench but not their attitude. These injuries included senior Co-Captain Jenn Lykens who was out until December with a severe ankle sprain. Adjustments were made and things were looking good going into the first game. Inexperience and self-doubt continued to haunt the Cards throughout the season. The girls, although unsuccessful in many outings, they did produce some incredible highlights and wonderful memories. The biggest win came in a double-overtime victory over then fifth ranked Westerville South. The victory was won by the skin of their teeth and the unlimited contributions of all the players on the team. The Cards did achieve some goals in their season, like never giving up and having a good attitude no matter the results. They also built friendships to last a lifetime. The Defensive Player of the Year was Kelsey McDonough, Offensive Player of the Year was Julie Anstine. The Most Improved went to Jenn Lykens and Most Valuable Player was Mary Murphy.

"Get out of my way!!" Kelsey McDonough physically moves her defender away from her. Listening for direction from their coach are Jenn Lykens and Sherrel Easley. Big baller Julie Anstine reaches for the stars...and the ball.

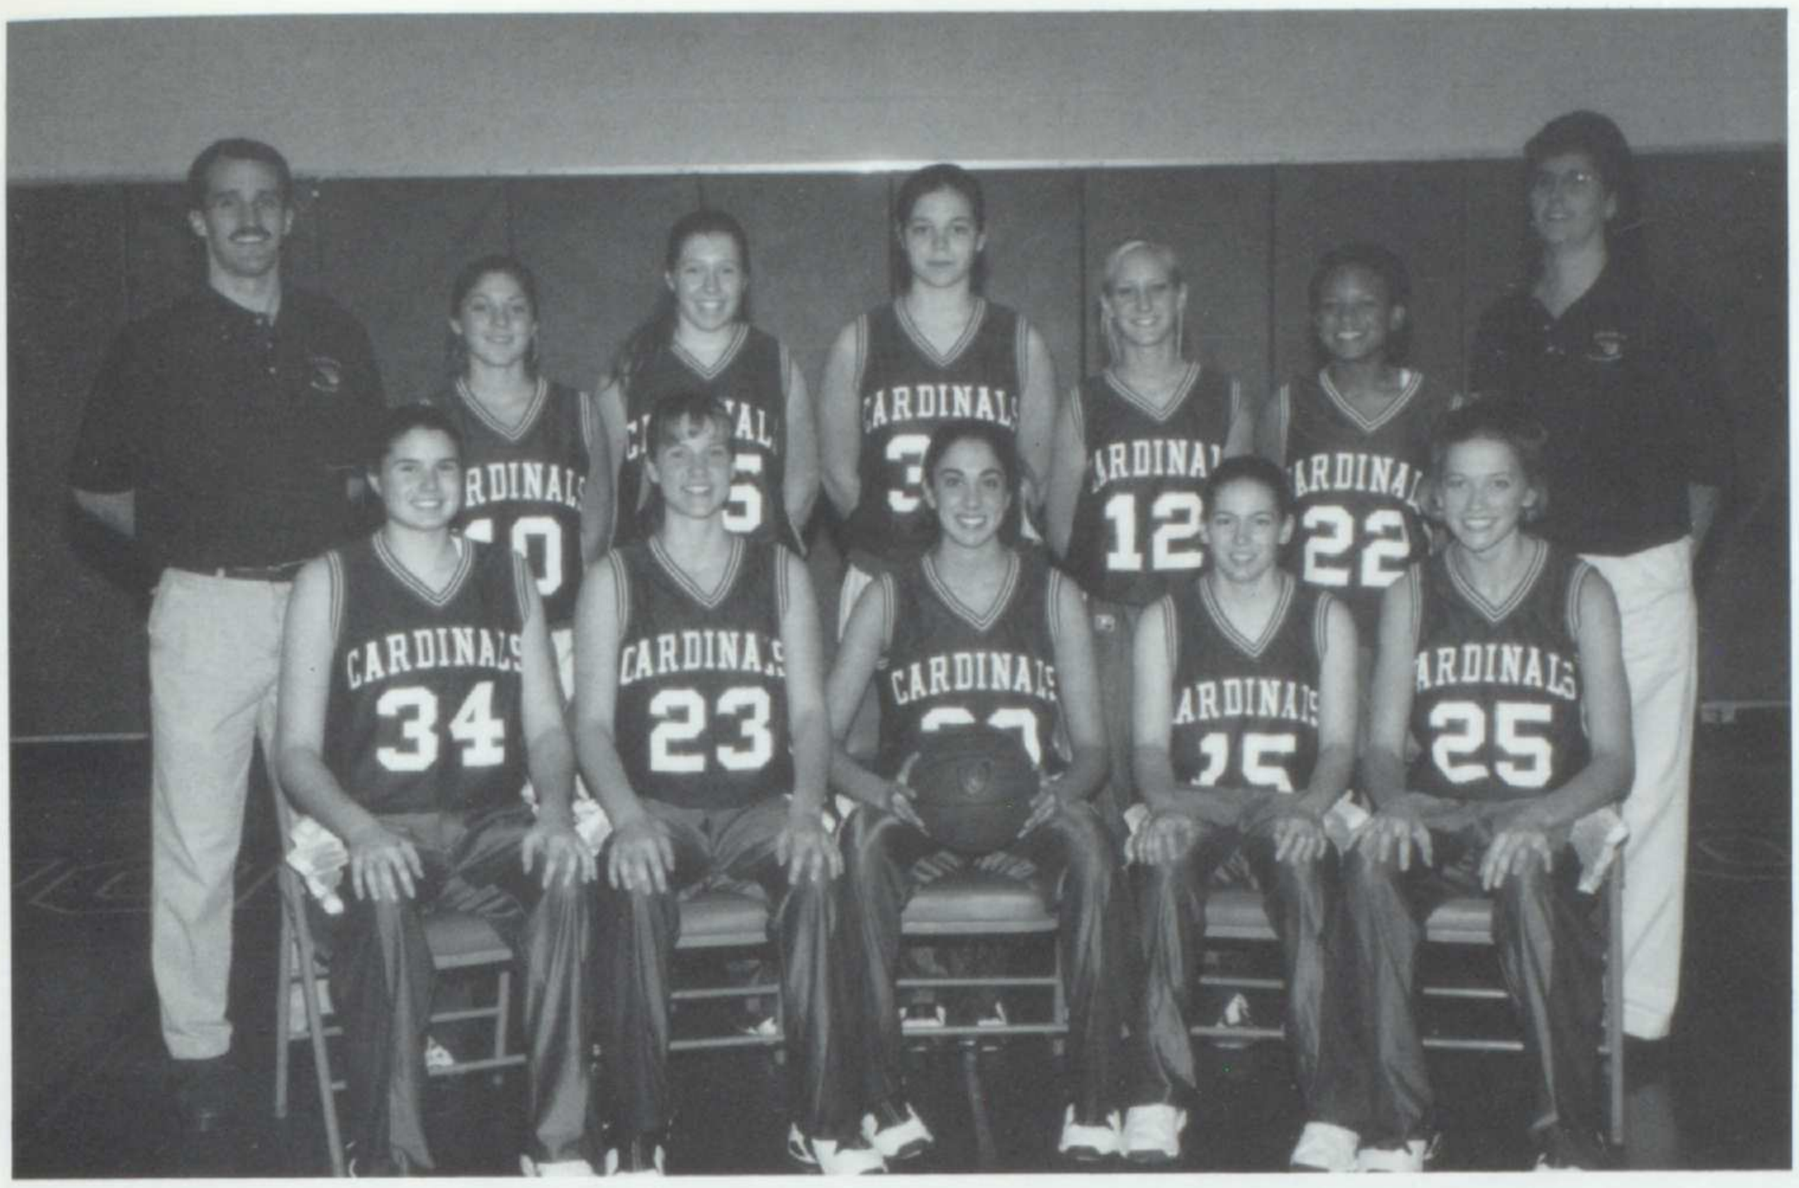

" I really think that the team worked hard this year. I'm going to miss the girls." -Mary Murphy (with co-captains Rachel Shriver and Jenn Lykens.

Teamwork runs strong in the girls program, here the girls have a bonding session that looks like it's turned in to a last pep talk before a big game. They know that this will bring them luck.

The 1999-2000 wrestling team was another outstanding group of students. The squad was led by senior captains Josh Stevens, Jacob Bender, John Elliot, and Jeff Ishizuka. Having many people going to States made it a very memorable year. Brandon Evans went to States along with Mike Neely (finished 5th), Josh Stevens (finished 4th), and Greg Spivey (finished 4th). The team finished 7th overall at States. The Cardinals were also OCC and Sectional champs. There were ten district qualifiers on the team this year. "I was really happy to win the John Glenn Tournament," said senior captain, John Elliot. Along with all of the team's accomplishments, they also finished fifth place at State Duals. When asked how he felt to be OCC champs for the first time since the schools split, Jacob Bender replied, "It felt good, and I can't wait to come back and see the banner showing that we were champs."

Gymnastics

Perfect 10!

Senior gymnasts this season were:

Jenni Alford

Kate Schabo

On average each gymnast did 13 somersaults per practice.

A gymnast had her feet above her head 78 times per week.

At least 6 times a day, a gymnast went plummeting to the ground from the beam.

Fifteen pounds of chalk were used through out the season.

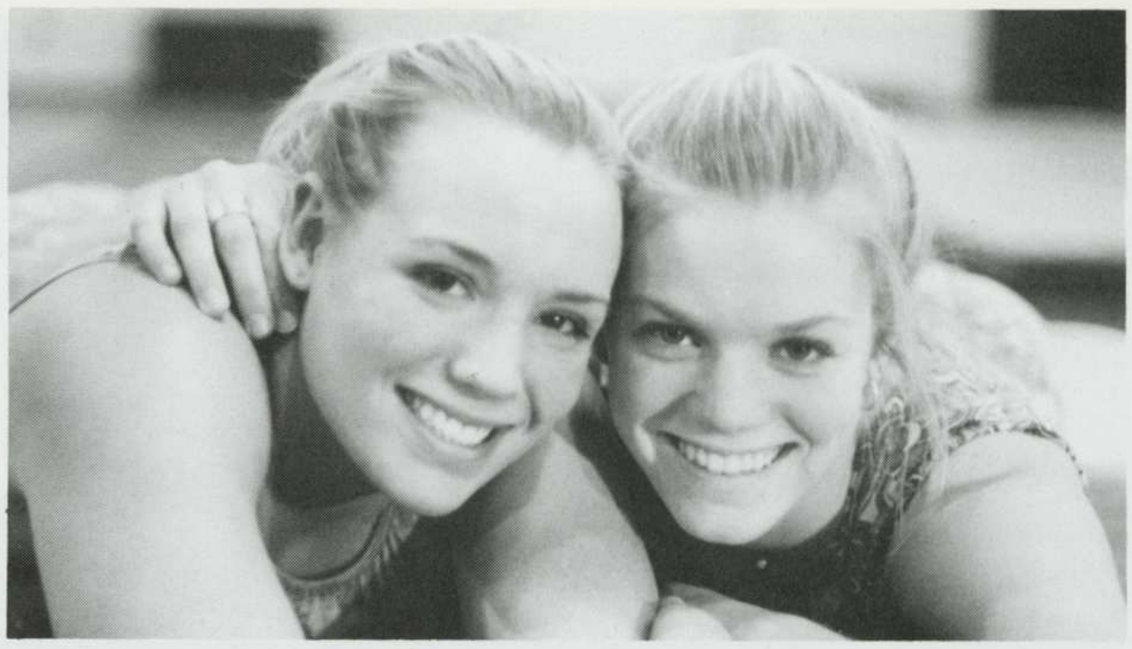

From cartwheels and back flips to tumbling and balancing, the Cards know how to strut their stuff in the gymnasium. The Cardinal gymnasts made their presence known this season. Unfortunately, the girls were not able to make it to states, shy of only a few place rankings. But they did close their season with a success.

At their OCC contest, the Cardinals placed fifth, ahead of Grove City, Westerville North, Olentangy, and Dublin Scioto. Following the OCC contest was districts, where the team placed an overall ranking of seventh out of sixteen. To qualify for states, the team needed to place first or second. And individually, the girls had needed to place in the top five in each category.

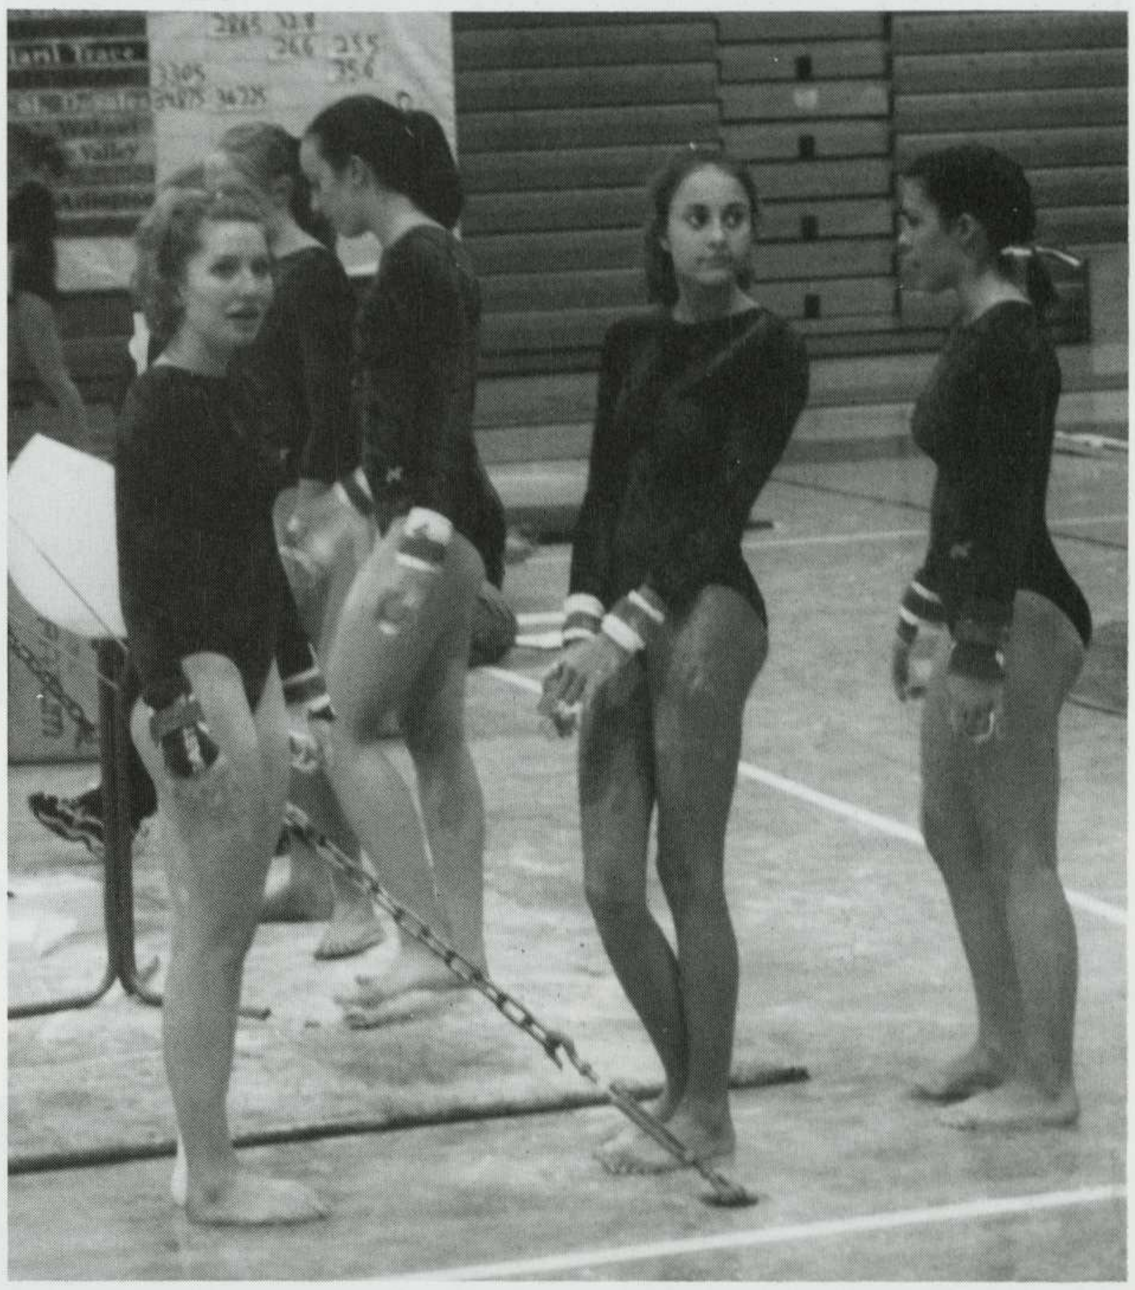

Junior Venetia Kgabo said, " We had great team spirit this season and really stuck together while encouraging each other. I looked forward to each day of practice!" Jennifer Warner stated, "This season was really a lot of fun. The seniors will be missed next year, they were so great ! It will be hard to replace them."

With the leadership of seniors Jenni Alford and Kate Schabo, the team was full of team spirit and had role models to look up to. There are hopes that next year the team will make it further and possibly make it to states. Good luck, Cardinals!

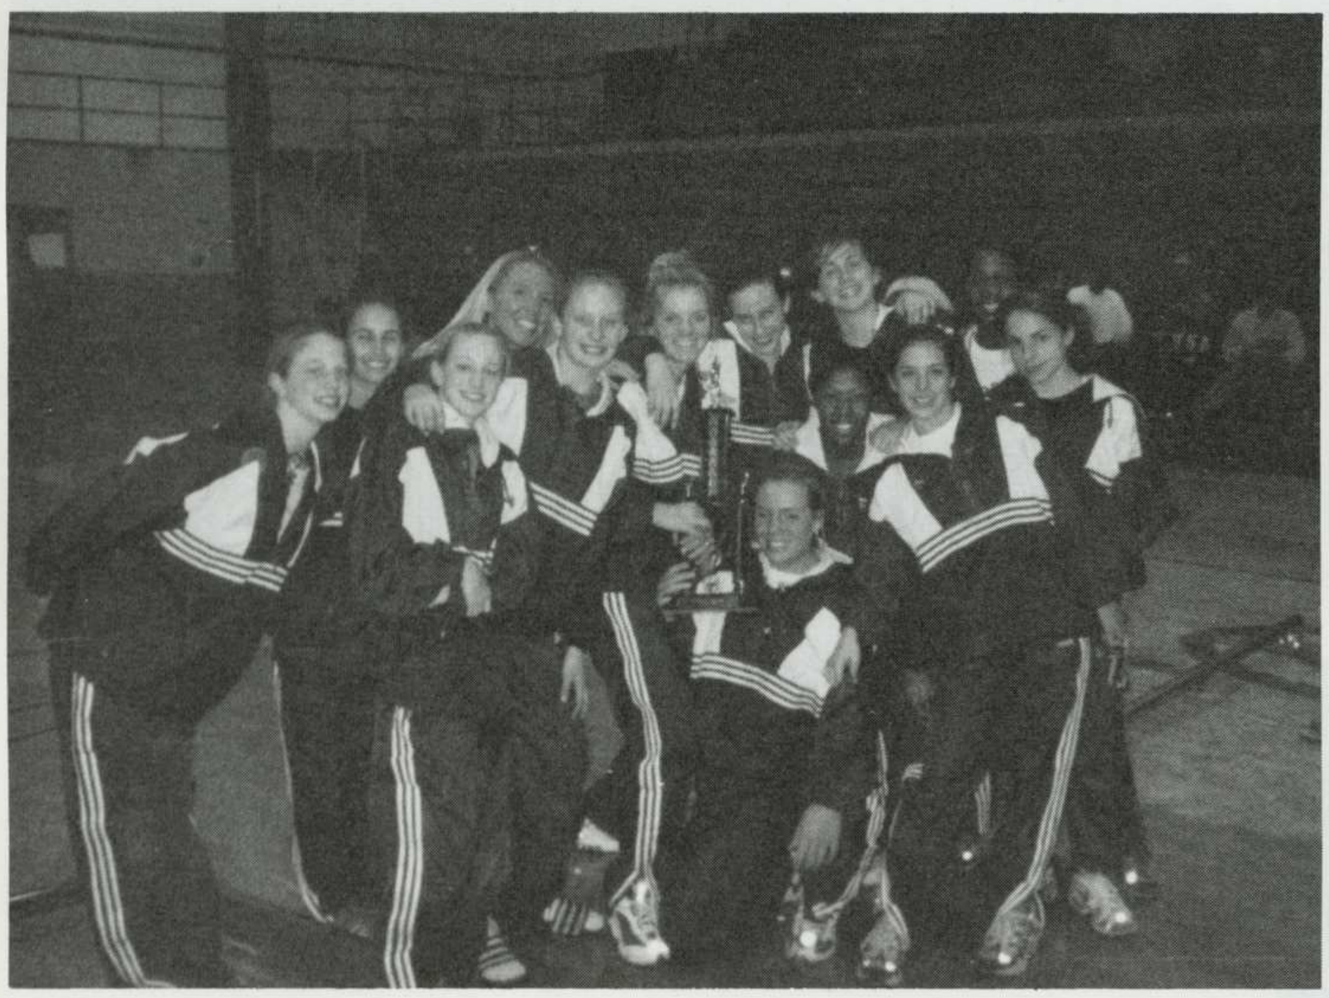

Alison Preisch

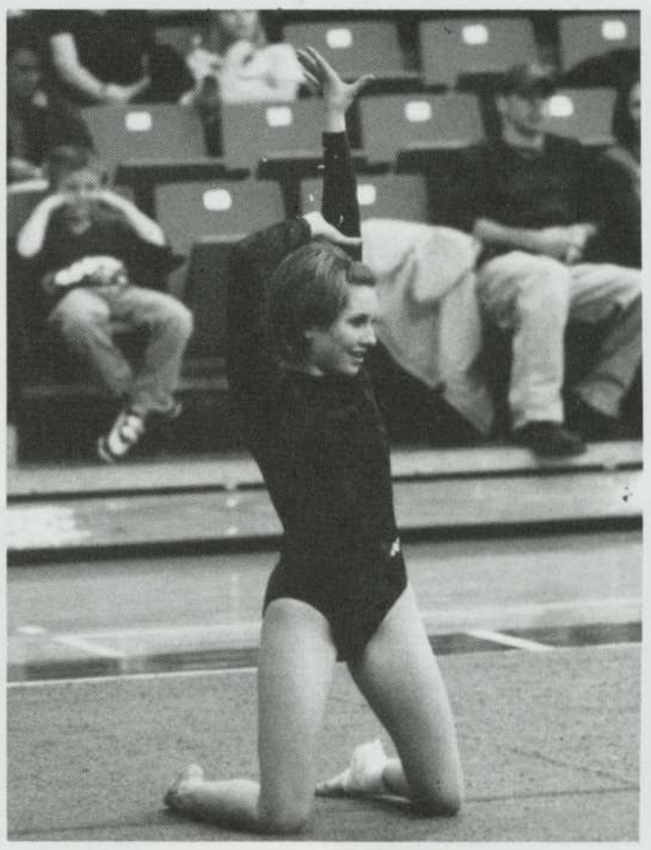

Seniors Jenni Alford and Kate Schabo agree, "We had a great season. It was a nice way to end at Thomas Worthington."

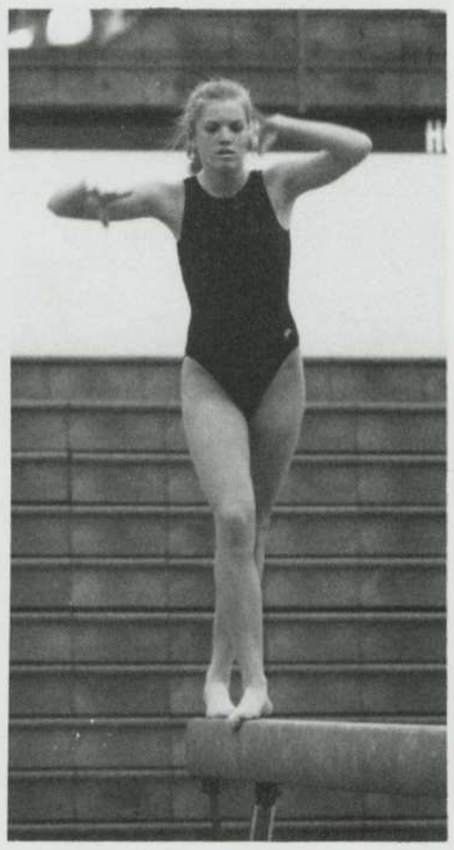

Waiting patiently to compete, these Cardinals are ready to impress the crowd and judges.

Happy to show off their trophy, the gymnasts get together and celebrate. It is one more for the trophy case, girls. Way to go!

Reaching for the stars, junior Jenn Warner doesn't realize standing up will get her closer.

Senior Kate Schabo keeps her balance as she crosses the beam.

A little bit of inspiration will hopefully encourage the gymnasts as they are on their way to Districts.

Superb Season

The 1999-2000 Ice Hockey team ended the season with an improved record of 9 wins and 18 losses. The Cardinals were a very young team with two freshmen, ten sophomores, three juniors, and three seniors. Improvement came from the hard work and dedication the team spent on the ice. The team was led by senior captain Nick Harness and junior captains Matt Stone and Travis Grohoski. The season started out slowly, but the team picked it up and had an eight game winning streak. This winning streak came at the right time because the team ended up getting second place in the Thomas Worthington Holiday Classic. This was the program's first trophy since it was only their second year as a varsity sport. The team was again in the South West Ohio Hockey League which only has a small number of teams in central Ohio. The team had to travel to play most of their games. Hopefully in the next couple of years many of the schools will have programs. This group greatly appreciated the fan support this season and hopes to see more next year. Let's Go Cards!!!!!!!

The 2000 girls track season was a good one. Starting the indoor season in January, the girls spent hours meeting their weight room requirements and on the track expectations. "It's important to spend time in the weight room with track," Captain Jenn Lykens said, " It makes that much of a difference in beating your opponent and winning your event." The girls felt strong making the transition between indoor and outdoor and picking up more runners from the winter sports. Representing the school well, the team traveled to Eastern Michigan and placed in the top positions in all their events. Eight runners made it to the State meet. T'nita Waters placed 4th in the long jump, and 7th in the 100m dash, while teammate Evie Scholl placed 10th in the 800m run. The 4x800 m relay team also placed 10th in the STATE!! Carrie Bruck won the high jump at OCC, while the team placed an overall second. Coach Beattie is quoted as saying, " My girls did an excellent job this year. They worked their tails off and kept themselves healthy. We had a scare in the middle of the season with eligibility, the younger girls stepped right up until everything was solved and that was extremely impressive to me. I'm just so proud of them. "

Looking towards the sky to figure out just how high she can jump, Lisa Eccles prepares herself for competing in the pole vault.

The girls track senior class does not mess around when it comes to competing, but they decided to pose with Coach Beattie between races.

Faster than a speeding bullet, Kacey Campbell is winning her relay race and still maintaining her looks for the pictures.

Making the high jump look easy is Carrie Bruck who gracefully flys over the bar.

The 2000 boys track team had a very successful spring. They were lead by a group of phenomenal seniors who helped capture the OCC Champion title. The freshmen and sophomores also won the Wildcat Freshman/Sophomore relays. The team was a dedicated and hardworking group who spent not only hours on the track but early (6:30 AM) hours in the weight room. 2000 was highlighted by the strength in the field events and the strong comeback of the hurdles led by Matt Williams and distance led by Tim Rust. As usual, the boys did not disappoint anyone and sent a group of boys to the State meet to run the 4x400 . In total, eight runners represented TWHS at the State meet. The overall record this year was split between dual meets (3-3) and "Big Meets" (116-46) Coach Cox said this about his boys, "This year, as in past, we saw improvements and personal records at every meet. I am very proud of my athletes and all their extra effort that allowed us to succeed."

For the Cardinals this season, finishing 16-11 was not exactly what they were hoping for. Placing second in the OCC put a smile on their faces, but many of the athletes had higher hopes for the season.

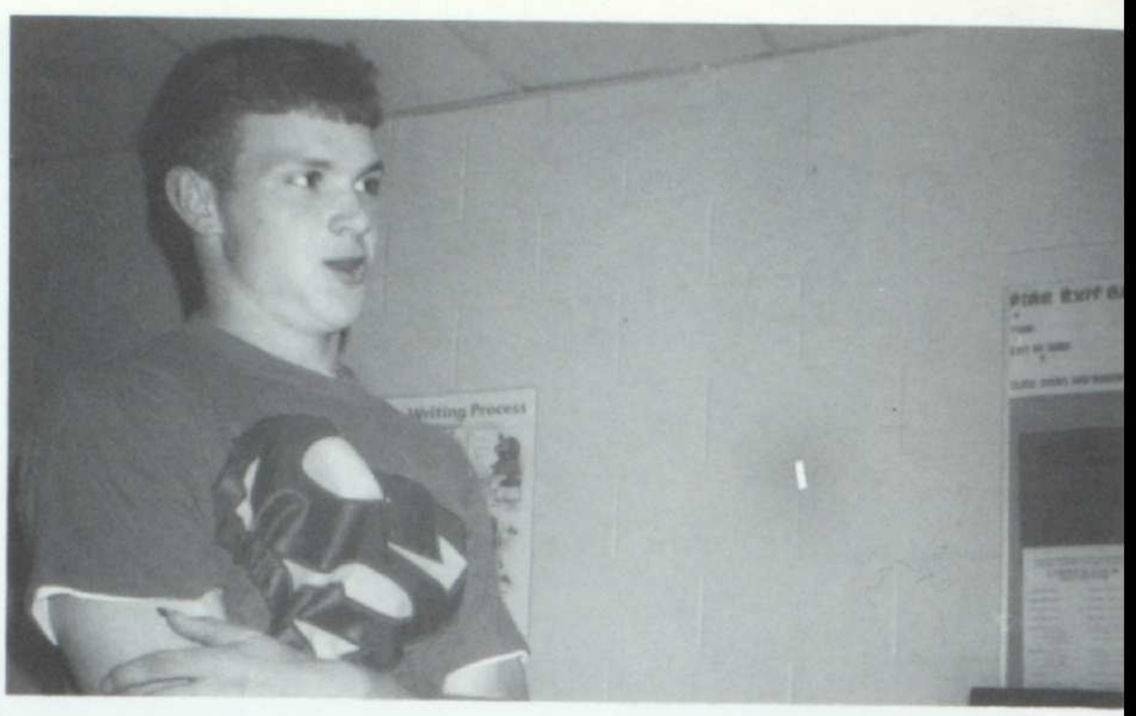

Senior Jon Speelman said, " We just got it together a little late in the season. Had we started out more focused in the beginning, the record may have been a little different." The record showed the team's hard work through out the season, but one major upset lingered in many heads of the players. The team's two losses to Upper Arlington were major upsets for the season. But when the time to play Reynoldsburg came around, they redeemed themselves and brought home two amazing victories.

With this skilled team, many awards were earned during the season. Senior Greg Ackley earned First Team OCC and Honorable Mention. Showing off their talents through the season earned seniors Dan Mead and John Speelman Second Team OCC.

The baseball team has a young group coming in next year, but following this year's fine leadership, lots of luck and much confidence is in store for next year. Go Cards!

The Lady Cards had a bit of a slow start to their season. Despite their rained out games in the beginning, the girls stuck it out and were able to show what they were made of.

Over spring break, this lucky group of athletes traveled to Florida, where they got the opportunity to practice and play at the Disney Wide World of Sports Complex. Four games were played here. Their trip was not just fun in the sun, though. "While working on our tans, we were able to get to know each other a little better, which in turn helps us to play a little better." Emily Koudelka said. "One of the more memorable parts of the trip was when we defeated a team from Minnesota!" Rachel Shriver exclaimed.

Coach Apple said about the season, "It has been a wild ride. We were set back a little because of rain, and it was sometimes difficult for the girls to stay focused." The girls agreed that they just had to work as a team. They developed much team unity throughout the season and learned how important it is to keep going after a few letdowns.

With the leadership of seniors Jill Kennedy, Emily Koudelka, Linsey Gianas, Rachel Shriver, Lindsay Miller, Nikki Spiezio, Abbey Scholl, and Erica Papenbrock, next year will have some shoes to fill. Much luck is wished to next year's Cards.

Elder, Stevens and Hemmelgarn made the National Team.

The Millennium brought in more than just a new century for the girls lacrosse team. They started out the season strong and in charge, totally dominating the first two games. Next, they decided that in order to meet their goal of winning the first ever girls State tournament, the division had to be won first. So, they did just that and rolled through their league going undefeated and beating the number one seed, Columbus School for Girls. This year's team was lead by seven seniors including All-American Stephanie Elder on defense. Ginny Rowe, Emily Hemmelgarn, Rachel Stevens, Stephanie Reeb and Michelle Baker lead the team on offense. Finishing the season sixth in the state and with a 9 and 5 record, they were all satisfied with their accomplishments. "We won a lot of games, and although we did not win States, we did something more important, we had fun." Stephanie Elder told the CARDINAL. " All the girls were fun and I think that this season was definitely a good one. I'm so proud of all we did." tri-captain Ginny Rowe added. Congratulations to the girls for a hard earned and wonderful season. Good Luck next season!

Faking out her opponent, lacrosse stud Emily Hemmelgarn drives towards the goal. "I'm gonna score!" Ginny Rowe declares. Another save by Rikki Leake.

Elder was named All-American.

Captains this year were Stphanie Elder, Emily Hemmelgarn, and Ginny Rowe. "Of the four years I've played here, this team was not only the best, but my favorite too."-Emily Hemmelgarn.

With the leadership of seniors Olsen Ebright, Shawn Domer, Dave Lehrke, and Alan Gardner the team had much success. Though this stellar group of guys will be missed next year, four returning lettermen will be the foundation of the team next season. "We had a great season, but one major upset. Playing and beating St. Charles was great during the season, but a real heartbreaker when we later lost in tournaments." Olsen Ebright reflected on the season. "We had a good season. We will miss the seniors next year; a lot of our progression was because of them." Steve Huber responded.

During the season, senior Dave Lehrke broke the school record for lead scorer. Lehrke, along with the other seniors will be greatly missed next year. Best of luck to the Cards next year!

Boys Tennis Still Winning

The boys tennis team had a phenomenal season this year. Starting off, the team had three very dominant seniors in Victor Chen, Jay Goldbaum, and Karthik Sivashanker. The underclassmen help was also very much needed and appreciated. Beginning the season with an undefeated record, the team ended up 13-4 and sent Jay and Karthik to the State Tournament. Jay and Karthik also won the Worthington Cup and Victor Chen was voted OCC Player Of The Year. The team sent five players to the district match, Jay and Karthik (doubles), Mason Miller and Nate Andrysco (doubles), and Victor Chen (singles). They finished third in the OCC and from the yearbook's point of view, rookie coach, Mark McCort, has taken over for the program and done well with it. "This team faced a lot of adversity this year and still finished high in the State. (sweet sixteen) It is never easy to take over a high profile program; thankfully these players have made the transition an enjoyable one. They are truly a great group of athletes." Coach McCort said about his team. Congratulations boys!

These percussionist clear the hallway, get the rhythm going and lead the way to the stadium for the first pep rally of the year.

The juniors are practicing for next year's spirit contest and are ready to defend their title. Maybe next year they'll have some competition.

"Come on baby, twist and shout!" screams Lindsey Schneider as she twirls Kristin Robinson. These dances are so much more fun than the formals!

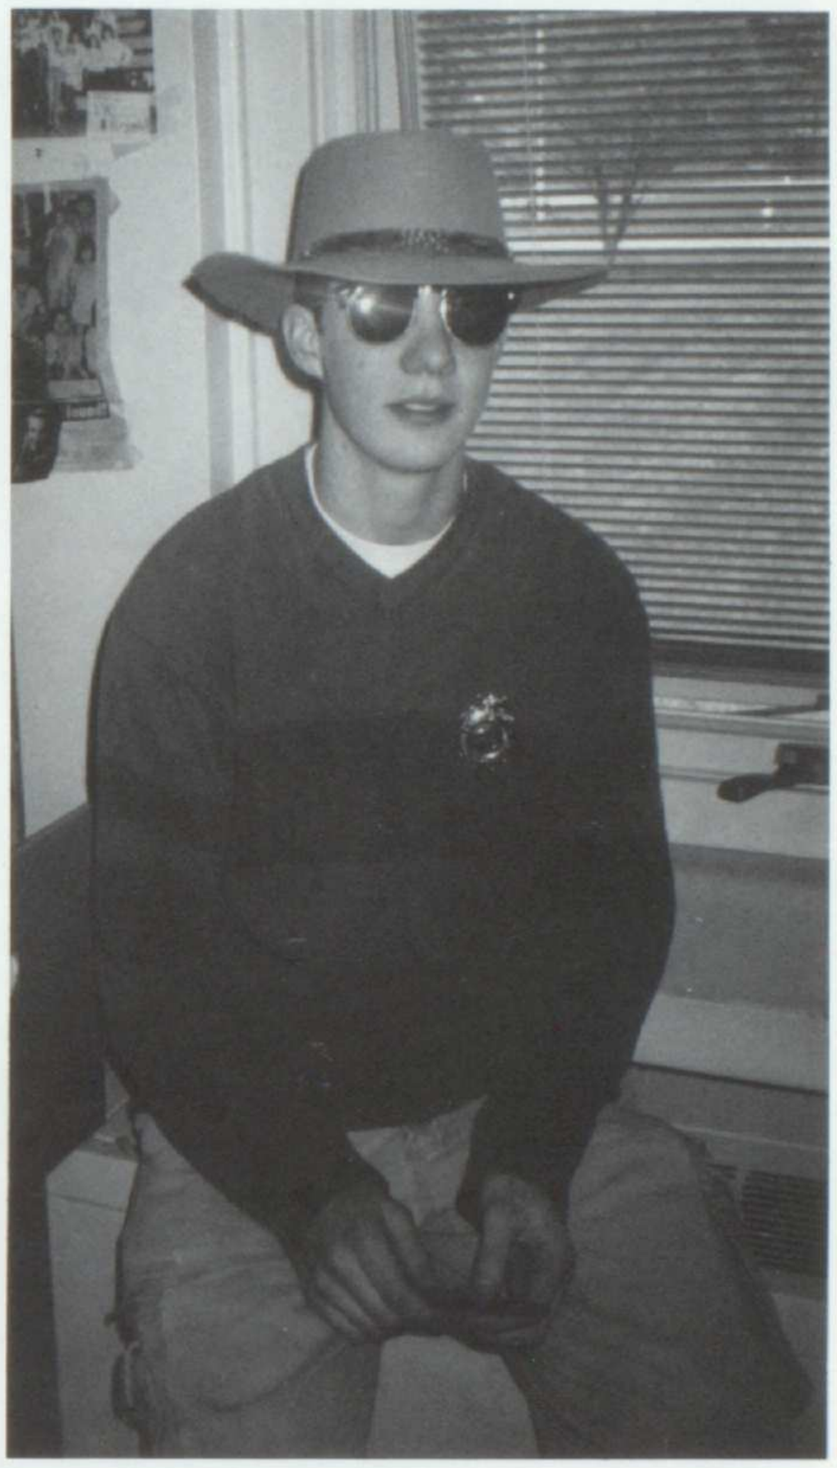

"Get your arm off of me or I'll burn you!" warns Kyle Davis to Matt Wiechel.

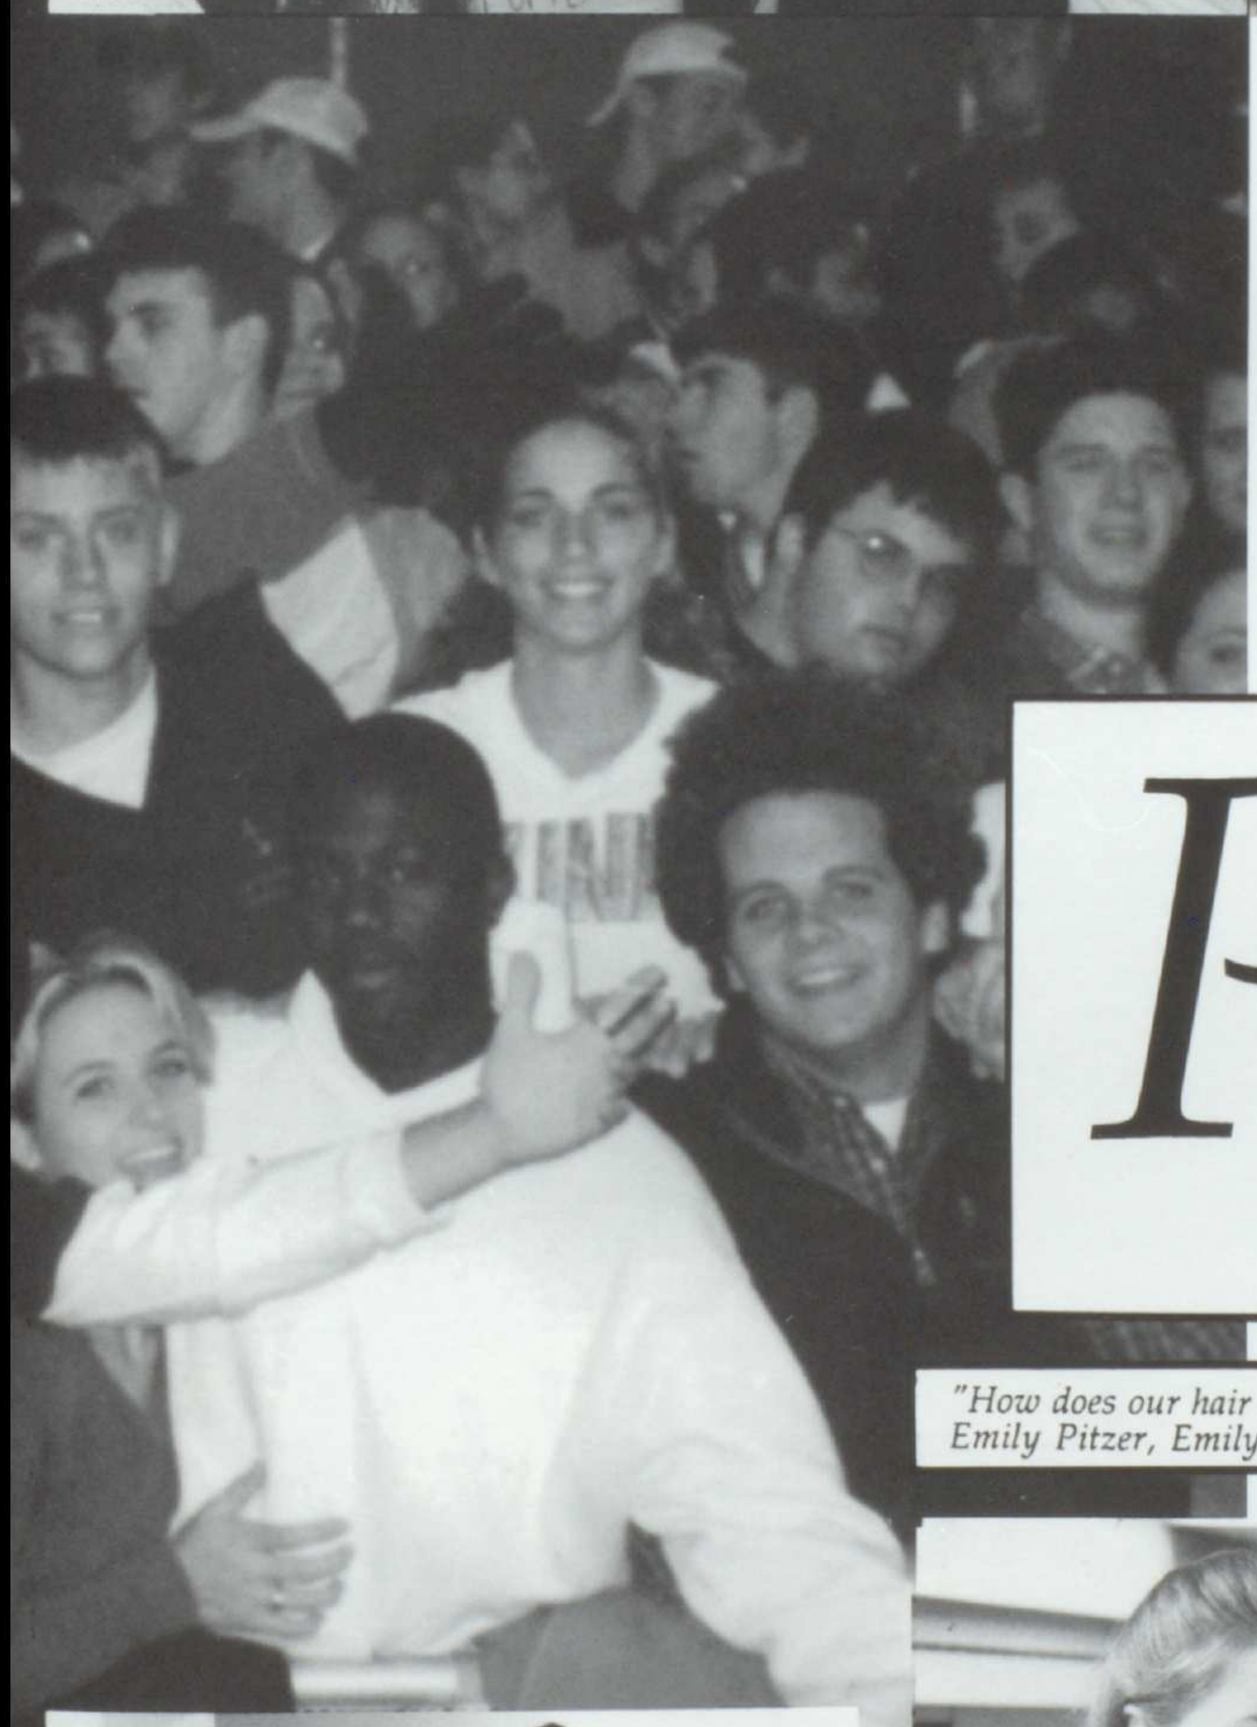

"Oh my gosh, oh my gosh, Steve Huber is coming our way! Calm down, just smile and act cool."

The grapes of wrath have invaded Thomas Worthington! Ahh, never mind it's just Miss Condren, Mr. Fuller, and Ms. Ramey. Who said teachers can't be fun and goofy like us?

"Of course, Officer, I would be happy to work on the yearbook staff." Senior Nick Harness recruits new members.

FACULTY

Every year students get a day off of school for COTA day. While students may be sleeping in, teachers are still hard at work. Central Ohio Teachers Association day is a day where the staff has to attend a series of workshops and in services. Some teachers here at TWHS commented on COTA day. Mr. Rupp said he went to WKHS for mediation training. He said it supplemented his background greatly. Teachers in different fields go to different workshops. For example, Mrs. Allen said she went to many science workshops that show different methods of teaching science. So while all students are enjoying their day off, the staff of TWHS is still performing to their fullest.

Left: "Lunch is served," says Mr. Maddox as he shows his cooking expertise while cooking up a feast for the staff luncheon.

The faculty at Thomas Worthington High School is very unique in their involvement with the student body. The teachers here serve a much greater purpose than just teaching. They advance students intellectually and support them with Cardinal pride. They attend sporting events, musical performances and theater plays. This is the sort of involvement that makes Thomas Worthington a special place. The students here know that they always have someone backing them up in everything they do. Teaching is not what solely makes up our school's faculty; it is the dedication to their students and TWHS as well. We are privileged as students to be a part of it all.

Freshmen Frustrations

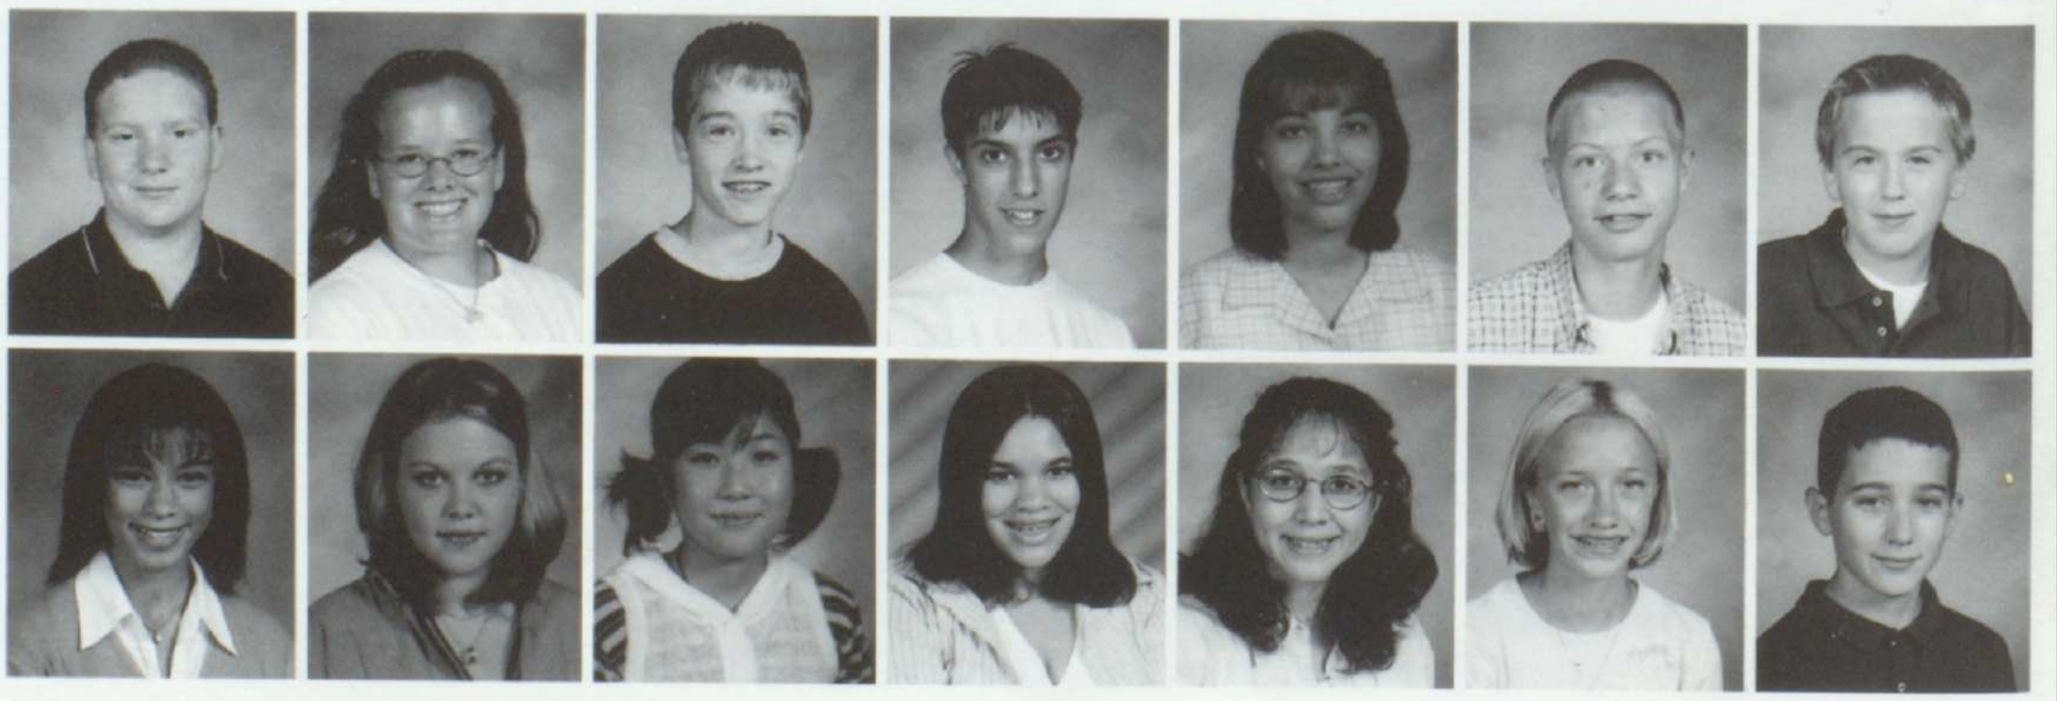

We all look forward to being an upperclassman for many reasons. We anticipate our future and the numerous privileges we will have as seniors. Lack of privileges along with other factors may cause a freshman to become quite frustrated. The list is long: not being able to drive, having to stay at school for lunch, and no early release or late arrival. Also, freshmen have gone from being the oldest in the school to being the youngest. Freshmen Chris Pelt, Sean Reno, and Jeff Hairston agree, "Not being able to drive is our main frustration. It's just so inconvenient." In addition, many pressures are put on freshmen that are tough to adapt to. There is a lot more homework in high school, daily tests and quizzes are given, and now you truly have to commit to a sports team rather than just playing rec ball. Furthermore, not only are the sports tough, but in some cases, the initiations are no fun. You wander around the halls with all those intimidating upperclassmen looking down upon you thinking, "Little freshman." It seems as though the list goes on and on. Everyone can sympathize, because everyone has been there before. However, before you know it, you'll be graduating, and for many you, you'll be freshmen again!

The Forgotten Class

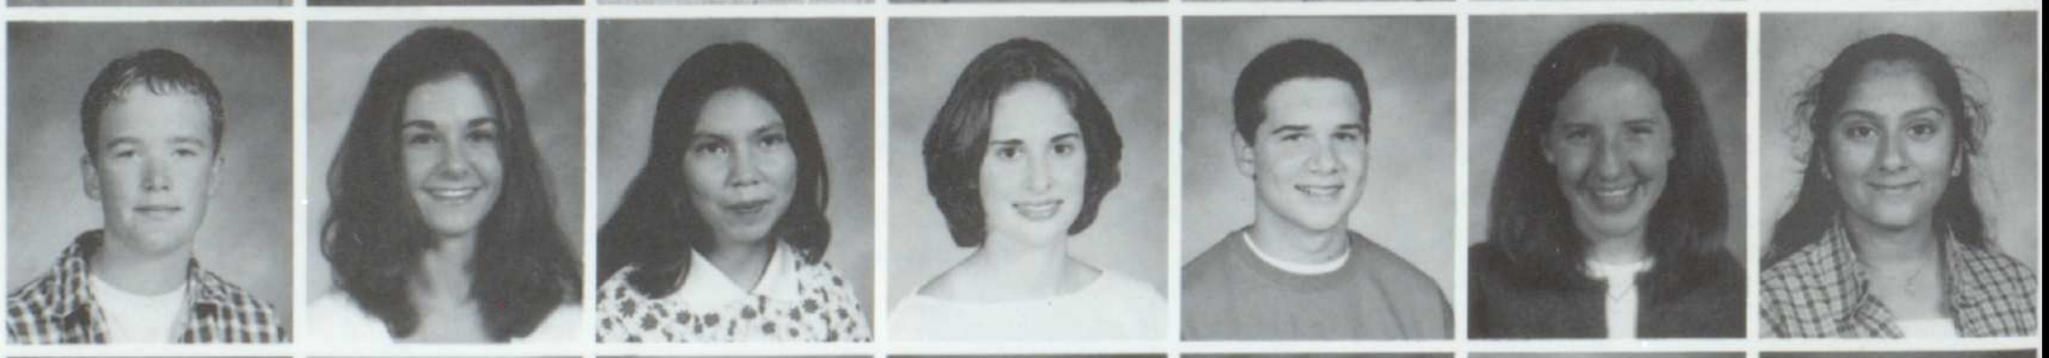

Sometimes it seems as if the sophomore class is forgotten during high school. Every other year seems to have something special except that of the 10th graders. The freshman class gets to be the newcomers to the school and are treated accordingly. Juniors are considered upperclassmen and have more privileges as they begin to look at colleges and their futures. Seniors are preparing to live on their own. The best thing about being a sophomore is getting your license, but after awhile even that seems to get old and not that special since other students in the school can also drive. Sophomores should focus mainly on not giving up. They soon will also be upperclassmen and in the blink of an eye, moving on to the future.

Sophomores in the Summer

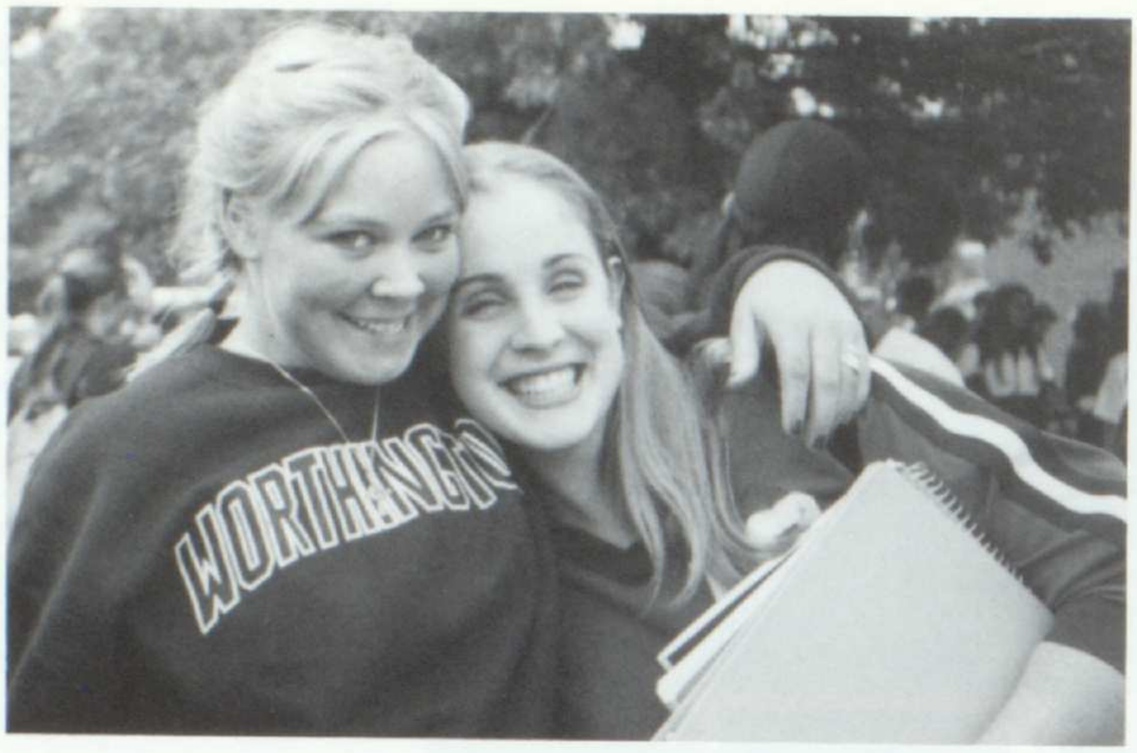

Each year as classes conclude, the students of TWHS begin to plan for their exciting, busy summers. There are a lot of ways that people choose to spend their summers. For most students it is the time to get classes out of the way in summer school, so there isn't as much work to do during the year. For others, the summer is purely social. The summer after sophomore year is a special one as many of us have the addition of a license and can now go places without having to get someone to take us. Freedom is something that all of us enjoy. For other teenagers, summer is a time to travel. Some choose to be exchange students, travel with family, or go on mission trips. No matter how you spend your summers, it is no doubt the best time of the year.

Linworth

The Linworth program was established in the fall of 1973. It was created as a new option for students not comfortable with the atmosphere that Thomas or Kilbourne presents. Responsibility, making choices, and different educational experiences are all seen at Linworth. Linworth must meet all state and federal education requirements and they achieve that by offering classes at Thomas, Kilbourne, and Linworth. Students have a more hands on part in many aspects of their education, one being schedules, which consist of classes that are in blocks. The relaxed enviornment that Linworth provides has been the home of many students and has only thrived as the years continue.

Cardinal Freshman Day

Freshmen Service Day

Cardinal Freshman Day began when the class of 2000 were merely freshmen. Ever since then Service Day has been an annual event of work and play. The morning was spent improving the appearance of the school and the surrounding landscape. Some timely improvements included planting trees and flowers, laying mulch, painting curbs, and weeding the outfield of the baseball field. After the free labor was complete, pizza, pop and cookies were provided for the workers. when the afternoon of labor was concluded, the pool was opened for all freshmen and student leaders to relax and have fun.

Wednesday, October 6 was the bonfire where Queen Brooke Flinn and her court were crowned. This was the first year that the school had spirit games throughout the day, every day a spirit game in which a representative from each grade would compete. The seniors took the lead by raising the most money, which was donated to the United Way. Not only did they earn the most money, but they dominated the spirit games. Spirit Week was concluded with the 1999 Homecoming dance.

Upon entering the auxiliary gym, students were jamming to songs such as, "The Electric Slide," "American Pie." and "You Drive Me Crazy." The kissing contest was held as usual, with people kissing up to as many as 50 people. However many people were too busy dancing to even take the time to pucker up with someone. Many groups of high-spirited people made their own shirts or created their own unique outfits. Elizabeth Lynd and Melissa Langstaff wore wife-beaters and even represented their school by painting "T-DUB" on the front. Another group of senior girls took a different route and bought red velvet shirts which gave them a more formal look.

Moonlit Millennium

The Prom of the millennium definitely showed the school what a group of hard-working junior minds can do. With Excel hired to do the decorations, the room was filled with balloons and light projections all over the walls. This magical night was held on May 6th at the new COSI downtown. Moonlit Millennium was the theme and it was just that. Couples entered with smiles on their faces from ear to ear and it was apparent that nothing could ruin this enchanted evening. 2000's prom King and Queen, Whitney McKenzie and John Mafi, led everyone in their court to slow, special dance with the song "Can you feel the love tonight?" by Elton John echoing in the background. However, once the announcement was made, the beat began to pick up and once again the dance floor was filled with students getting down. Memories will always be cherished from that night and will be hard to forget.

Graduation

The Class of 2000 congregated for the last time on June 4, 2000 at Battelle Hall for their graduation ceremony. The air was filled with anxiety, excitement and nervousness as the first class of the millennium prepared to bid adieu. Thomas Worthington's symphonic choir began the service by singing The Alma Mater, and the class song, Don't Stop Thinking About Tomorrow. People offered their Congrats and wisdom for the years to come. A group of five students reminisced on the memories they shared during the four years in High School. As the achievers marched across the stage, recorders rolled and cameras flashed, and cheers echoed all through the building. Many parents wept as their children shook the hands of the faculty and got their diploma. The class took a trip down memory lane with their academic and athletic achievements through the years. Finally, the Class of 2000 had achieved something deserving of great recognition. They had a graduated from Thomas Worthington High School.

Graduation Party Food Dancing Music Games

The after graduation party was a night never to be forgotten. It was an evening full of games, food and prizes! The party kicked off at 11:30 and went on in full blast till 4 a.m. The Worthington rec center was set up to resemble a casino with black jack and other casino games. Gambling with fake money really paid off for some of the lucky ones who won. Such prizes were given out as gifts: gift certificates, phones, televisions and even a stereo and refrigerator. With all the free pizza and pop you could want, the night was a perfect completion to such a memorable event. When the party ended everyone left the gym with the ever so popular song "Friends Forever" by Vitamin C echoing the gym.

Mock Accident

"I could barely stand there. I had to watch my best friend since 5th grade lay there helplessly. It was one of the hardest things to watch. " Alison Preisch said while reflecting upon the afternoon of May 3rd. The accident was staged in front of the school where paramedics, police, firemen and the med-flight arrived. "It really gives students a good feeling for what can actually happen. Everyone in high school thinks that could never happen to them, but it really can. The situation was so realistic." stated Mary Murphy After the accident students were sent to the gym where they heard a number of touching speakers.

The Complete Works Of William Shakespeare

Filled with passion, Nate Swinehart swoons as Daren Gaskill serenades him.

Pondering the meaning of life is Ben Zelinski.

Taming the snake is the beautiful Sara Fetgatter

The Complete Works of William Shakespeare (abridged) is the creation of Adam Long, Daniel Singer, and Jess Winfield who are co-founders and members of The Reduced Shakespeare Company. The show was first performed in 1987. The original cast was made up of three authors who played all the parts. In the light of this daunting undertaking, it is not surprising that the play is dedicated to "all the brave men and women who have lost their lives in the performance of Shakespeare's work." The Reduced Shakespeare Company has produced other "abridged "works, including a recent production that recreated the complete history of the United States--in under two hours.

Glass Menagerie

Rebecca Jones is ready to receive her gentleman caller as one admiring Amanda Sykes looks on.

Eli Bowman is struck by the beauty of Rebecca Jones' favorite glass figure.

Darren Gaskill shows his fists of rage to Amanda Sykes.

Tennessee Williams was born Thomas Lanier Williams in 1911, in Mississippi. He became one of America's best known and greatest playwrights. His favorite themes were the inability to communicate, suffering and loneliness. The Glass Menagerie is strongly autobiographical. Williams' father was a traveling shoe salesman who did not get on well with his family. As in the playthe play. his family moved to St. Louis. Williams also had an introverted sister Rose. Her eventual breakdown and institutionalization left him with a life-long sense of remorse. Tennessee (a college nickname), was taken out of college by his father, and made to clerk for a show company, a job he hated. Like "Tom," he sought refuge writing, and by going to the movies.

Teahouse of the August Moon

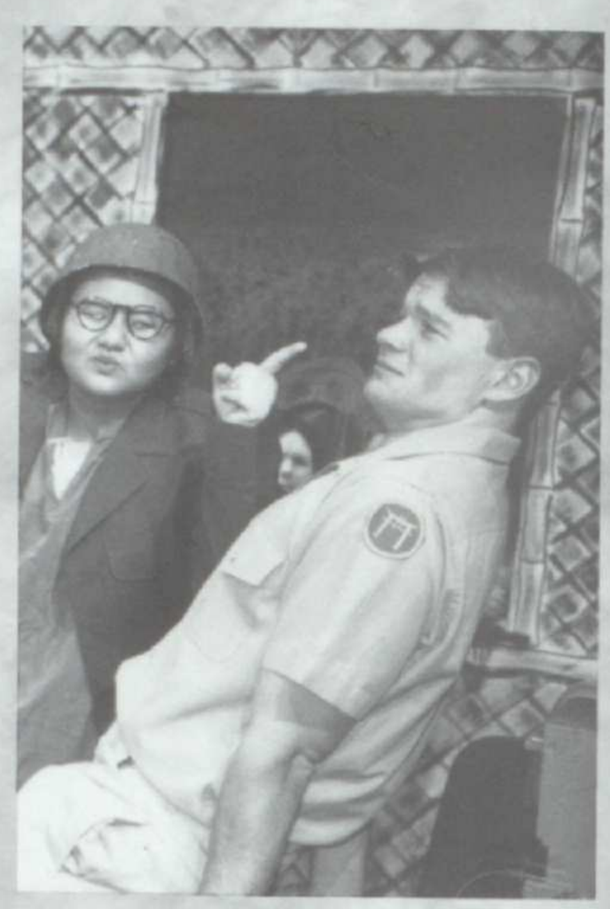

Okinawa. What a pleasant, light hearted play to come out of a location which a year before the setting of 1946, had been the site of the last, large scale, ground battle of WW11. General Douglas Mac Arthur determined that Okinawa would be the best staging ground for the massing of troops and creation of airstrips necessary for the invasion of the Japanese mainland. The play was much taken to heart by the American theater going public when it first appeared on the Broadway stage in October, 1953. For playwright John Patrick it won the Pulitzer Prize for dramatic literature, it won Broadway's Tony Award, and the New York Critics Circle Award.

Amazed at his receding hairline, Ryan Kilgore looks through the window for answers.

Sara Felgatter could have fooled me for a traditional Japanese woman.

Amy Wang yells at John Elliot to buy the women's league items so they can become Geisha girls.

The Miser

The French playwright, Jean-Baptiste Poquelıun (aka Moliere), was born in 1622 in Paris. Though he received an excellent education and a degree in law, Moliere's love was for the theater. His best known plays are "School for Wives," "Don Juan," "The Forced Marriage," "Tartuffe," and "The Miser." This year the theater repertory performed Moliere's famous comedy, "The Miser." It is a hilarious story about a desperate, scheming, penny pincher who decides to marry the young woman his son loves. Hysterical events unfold in one outrageous scene after another, and who better to play the miser than the talented Christopher Pope.

Chris Pope is astonished to find his son, Kyle Sweeney, has fallen in love with, Jackie Kucinich, Pope's bride-to-be.

The chef/coachman, Nate Swinehart, explains to Chris Pope how much his feast will cost.

Jackie Kucinich and Chris Wilfong discover that Darren Gaskill is really their father.

Ten Little Indians

Gasping for air Susie Meyers falls to her knees, while Miranda Hayes, Chris Smithson, and Kyle West try to save her.

Amelia Stephens and Jason Baker ponder the events that have just occurred.

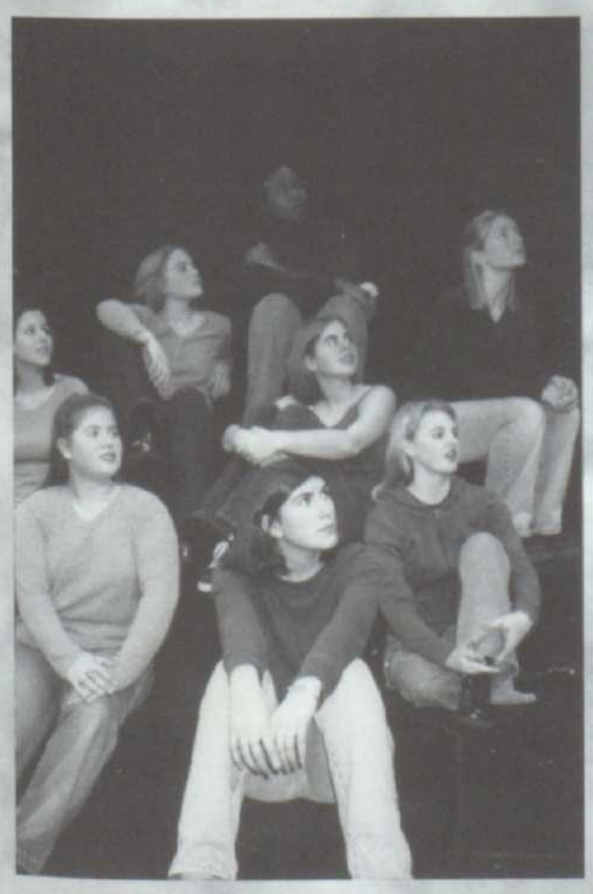

Ben Zelinski and Miranda Hayes passionately kiss while embracing each other.

Ten Little Indians is a murder mystery written by Agatha Christie. The "ten little Indians" refers to the cluster of statuettes on the mantelpiece of a weird country house on an island off the coast of Devon. The play opens with the nursery rhyme embossed above the Indians telling how each Indian met his death. Eight guests were invited for the week end by a mysterious host. The guests have never met each other, nor have they met the host. Throughout the play, each Indian topples over, and as each Indian falls, so does one of the guests. The week end turns into a weekend full of terror and fear. The murders continue until the final curtain.

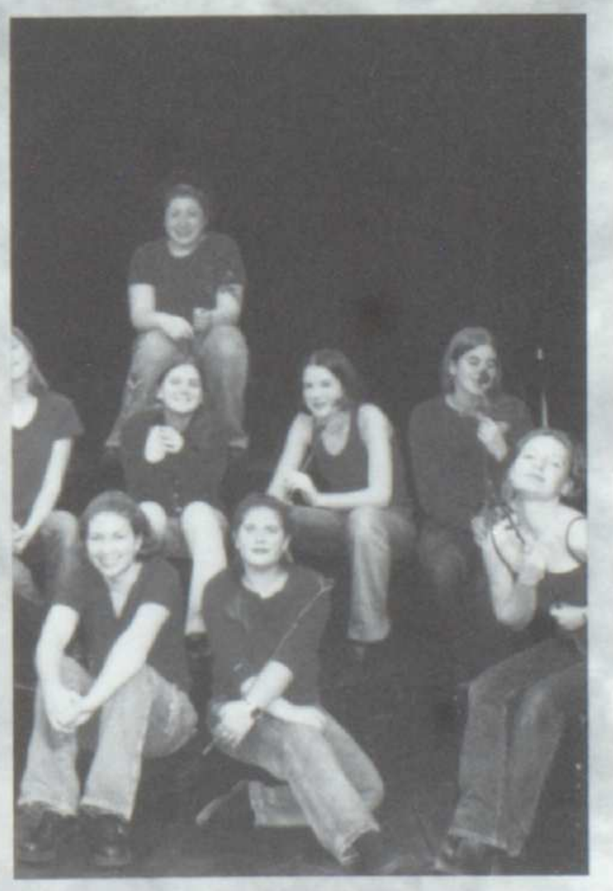

Poetry Past and Present

Sarah Landis, Amanda Buffington, Latifa Ray, Sarah Loge, Alex Wakely, Whitney Francis, and Marissa Kent.

Playing the role of Emily Dickinson, Rebecca Jones, tests her balance.

This play is a unique presentation celebrating poetic expression. Act One presents Emily Dickinson in an excerpt from the "Belle of Amherst" by William Luce. Emily Dickinson, one of America's greatest poets, describes her passion for poetry and her creative life. Act Two presents poetry by Thomas Worthington students published in the "1999 Writerspatch." Of Emily's writings, playwright William Luce speaks of: "mystical energy, the radiation of an invisible light, a balancing of spareness, ecstasy and despair." About his own creation Luce describes "The Belle of Amherst" as "a love affair with language, a celebration of all that is beautiful and poignant in life."

Guys and Dolls

In the 1930's, Damon Runyon recreated a world of gangsters, gamblers, and New York's other assorted sinners in his own hilarious works of fiction. Then in 1950, Frank Loesser took it to the next step by making the gangsters sing and dance. He turned Runyon's tales into a musical comedy called Guys and Dolls. The musical is about gamblers and their sweethearts. The play focuses on two couples, one of which is very romantic and the other lovably goofy. The play centers around Nathan Detroit and his search for a place to set up his craps game. The play swiftly moves from the streets of New York to the lusty club called the "Hot Box." The play is full of love, crime, and laughs.

Harvey

Caught gazing into space, Robin Tate thinks about his imaginary friend Harvey.

Investigating the myth about the mysterious giant rabbit, Scott Lanski finds that the hat is a good piece of evidence.

Anne Hoskins, Sarah Lyons, and Sarah Tatz are amazed when Robin Tate is talking to the invisible giant rabbit.

When Elwood P. Dowd starts to introduce his imaginary friend Harvey, a six and a half foot rabbit, to guests at a dinner party, his sister, Veta, has seen as much eccentric behavior as she can tolerate. She decides to have him committed to a sanitarium to spare her daughter, Myrtle Mae, and their family from future embarrassment. However, when Veta goes to the doctors to commit Elwood, she is committed instead of Elwood. finally the doctors learn of their mistake and the search is on for Elwood. When he shows up at the sanitarium looking for his lost friend Harvey, it seems like one of the doctors is influenced by Elwood's delusion. Finally at the end does Veta realizes that Harvey isn't bad.

Charlotte's Web

Showing the companionship between Charlotte and Wilbur are Suzanne Myers and Evan Gardner.

The Arable family. consisting of Abby Legge, Emily Fuller, Dan Dumond, and Craig Francis, strike a family pose.

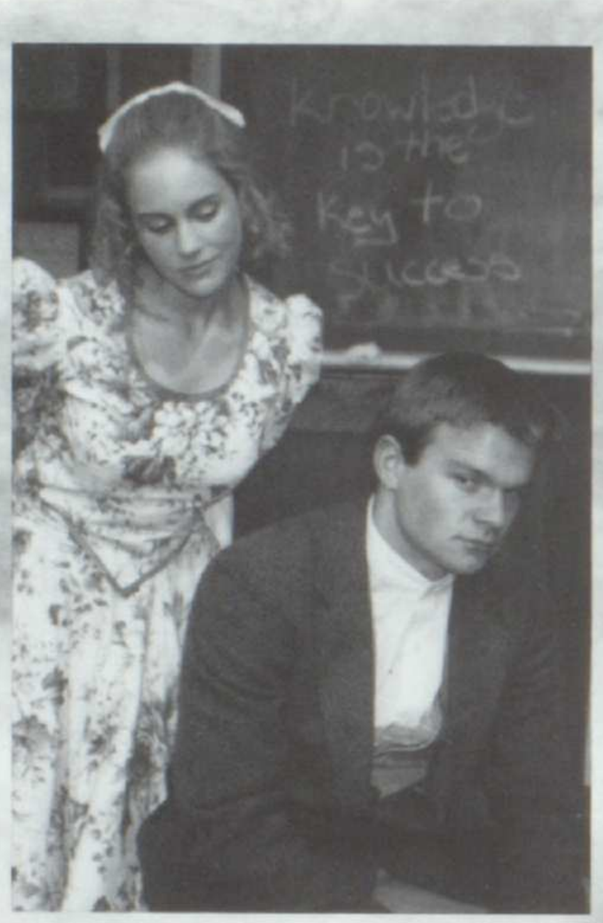

Playing the role of the sneaky rat, Templeton, is Chris Wilfong

An affectionate, sometimes bashful pig named Wilbur befriends a spider named Charlotte, who lives in the rafters above his pen. It's a charming musical version of the story of Wilbur, the pig who desperately wants to avoid the butcher. A tale of friendship and adventure unfolds as Charlotte, an elegant spider, endeavors to rescue Wilbur. Determined to save her friend, Charlotte spins a web that reads "Some Pig," convincing the farmer and surrounding community that Wilbur is no ordinary pig and should be saved. Wilbur is also helped by a sneaky rat named Templeton. In this story of friendship, hardship, and the passing on into time, E. B. White reminds us to open our eyes to the wonder and miracle often found in the simplest things.

The Corn is Green

The Corn is Green was first produced in 1928. It is strongly autobiographical and playwright Emlyn Williams earned an international reputation with it. Miss Moffat is a turn of the century, feminist, social pioneer. She is an outspoken champion of education for the working class and child laborers. The play has been a favorite of strong leading ladies, played in England by Dame Sybil Thorndike, and in America, by Ethel Barrymore. Betty Davis and Katharine Hepburn have performed the role on film. The production was of particular interest to those who knew Welsh, Welsh singing, and the folk ways of the Welsh people because of the district in which Wilkes-Barre is situated.

Showing her affectionate side to John Elliot, Amanda Buffington flirts with style.

Breaking the news about her baby to Courtney Carr is Whitney Francis.

Everybody congratulates John Elliot for his acceptance into college.

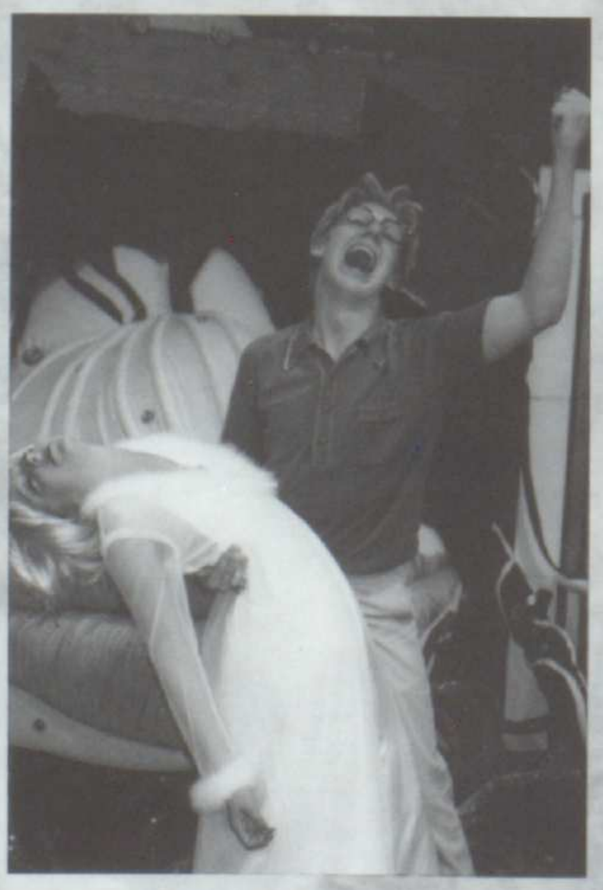

Little Shop Of Horrors

A disco musical spoof of a Grade B Horror movie. This is a story about Audrey, the man eating plant, and a nerdy Seymour who works in the plant store. The play is a poorly made horror movie come to life. It pokes fun at the horror movies which are truly scary. The play starts out with Seymour, a poor orphan who is working at a small, run-down plant shop. When Seymour introduces Audrey, the talking plant to Mushnik, everything is good. The plant creates fame for Seymour while creating a name for Mushnik's shop. But the catch is that the plant only grows when he is fed blood. After Seymour gives all the blood he can give, he resorts to killing people to aid the growth of the plant. As the play unfolds, the plant becomes giant while eating the characters.

Singing about the shop of horrors are Amanda Sykes, Jackie Kucinich, and Courtney Carr.

After his true love, Meredith Nesline, dies, Nate Swinehart screams with horror.

The crazy dentist, Ben Zelinski, puts on his mask full of nitrous oxide and goes nuts.

...The Future Is Ours...

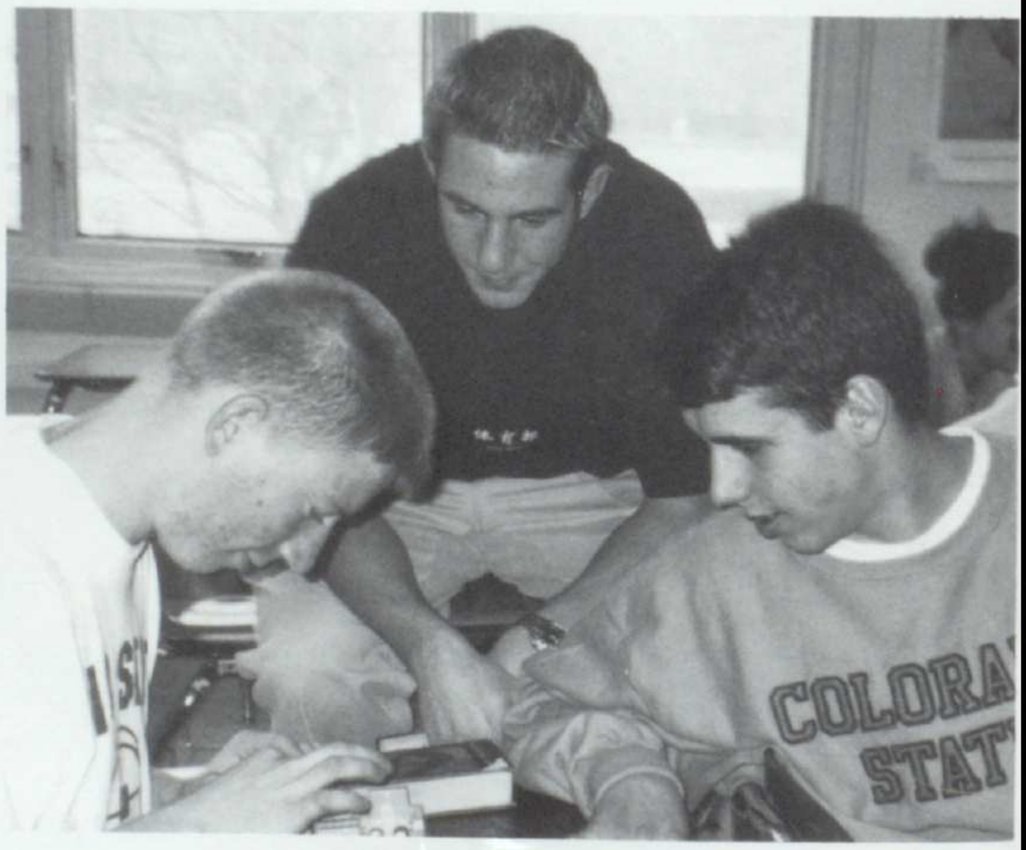

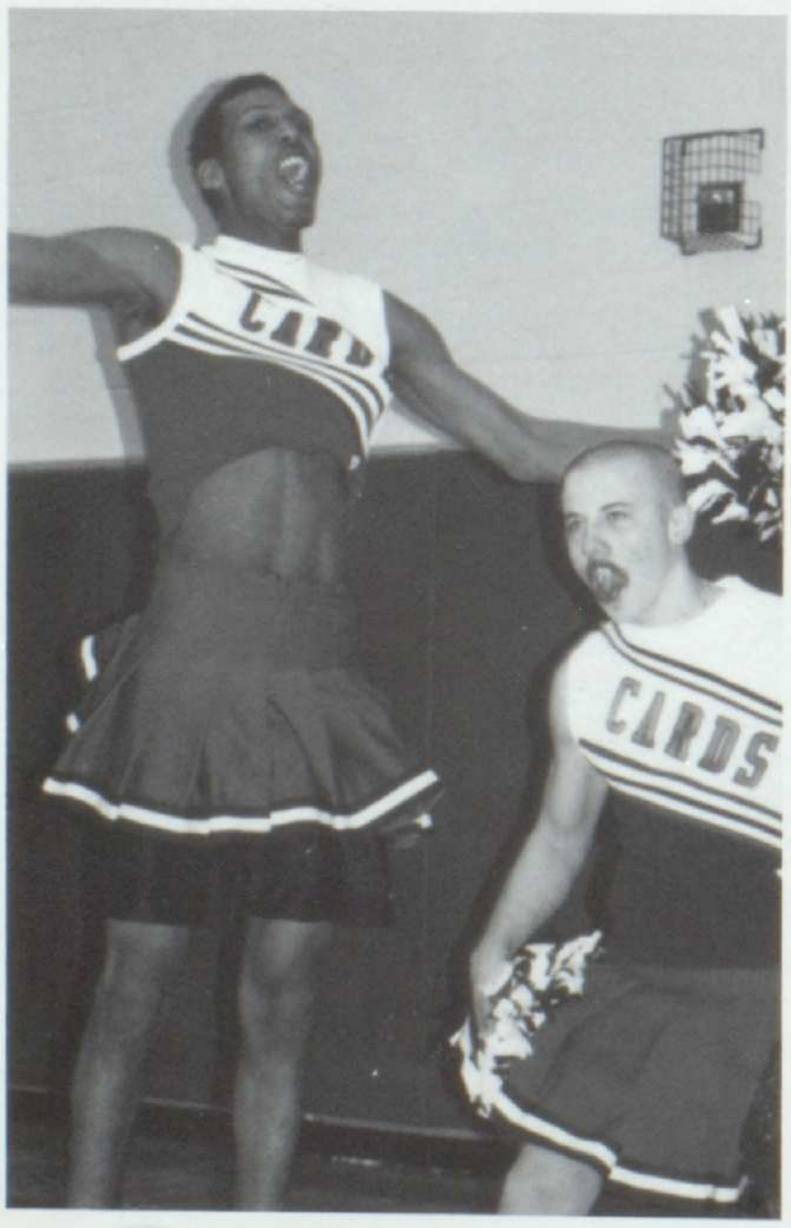

The sun is just too bright for Alicia Yarletts.

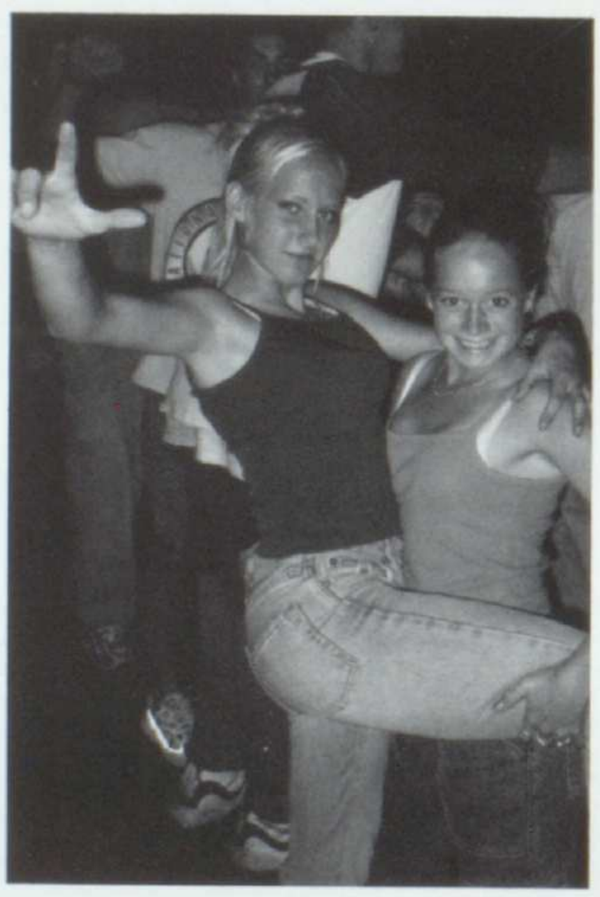

Showing his perfect physique is Steven Huber.

This group of senior girls relaxes after a long lunch break at Bruegger's

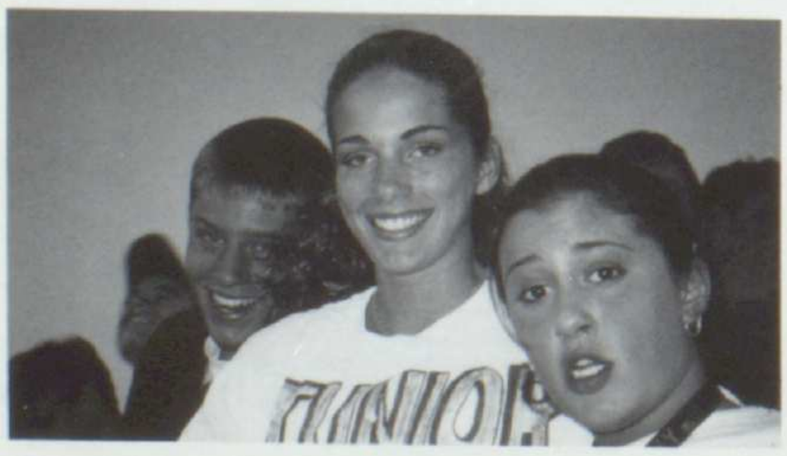

Teaching the tricks of the trade in a game of rush hour is Ross Baldwin as Mark Claibourne and Sean Domer try to memorize the plays.
Such innocent girls practicing such graphic dance moves.
That's more school spirit than we care to think about.
"If you actually think you are going to steal my girl Carrie then you are sadly mistaken!" states Lauren Abarham to Nick Comer.

Don't forget to breathe Chip Williams!
Reinacting the monkey she saw at the zoo is Janet.

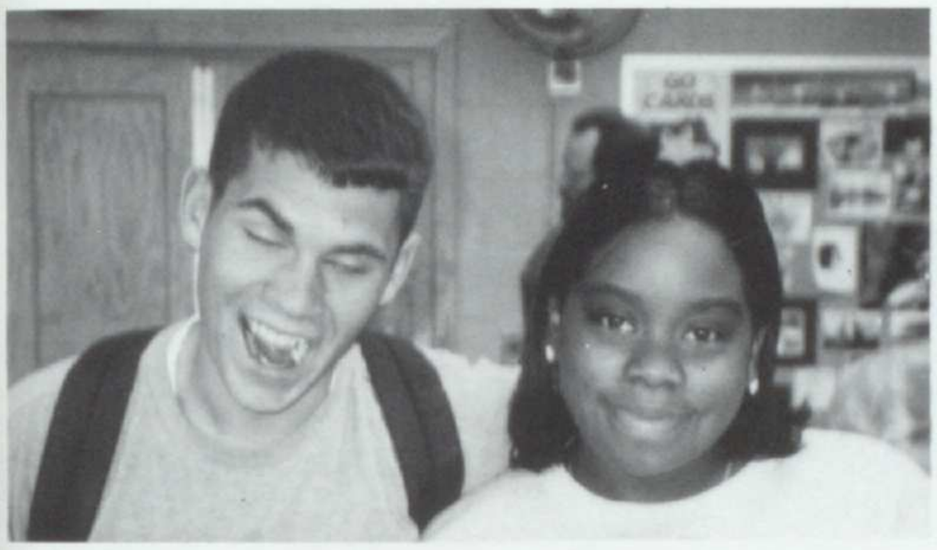

Literally putting on their game faces are Ginny Rewe and Mary Murphy.
"I have the power !" claims John Lively.

"Yes, we got dressed in the dark!"

"I'm just not seeing the humor!" mutters Yvette.
Woo that is like such a big flower.

Everyone wonders where to go next at Freshman day.
"I'm ready for any disaster." claims Scot Snelling.
"I'm stuck!" cries Ross Baldwin.

Trying not to scratch his Mustang is Josh Pederson.

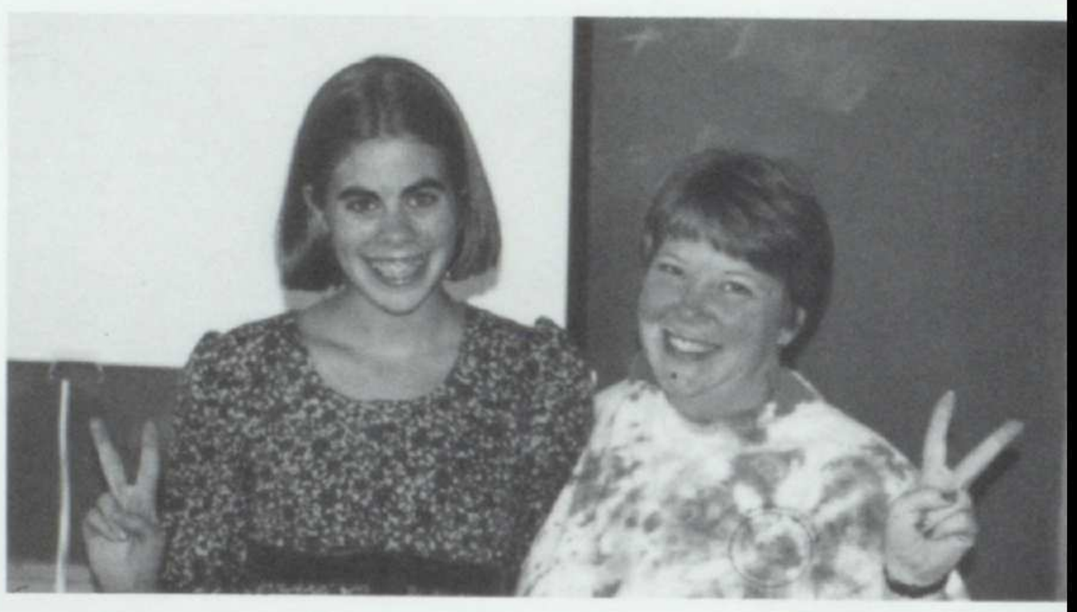

Hanging out with her idol DW is Marilee Oldfield.
"I am a star!" yells Linsey Gianas.
Before tearin' up the dance at Prom these girls pose for a candid.

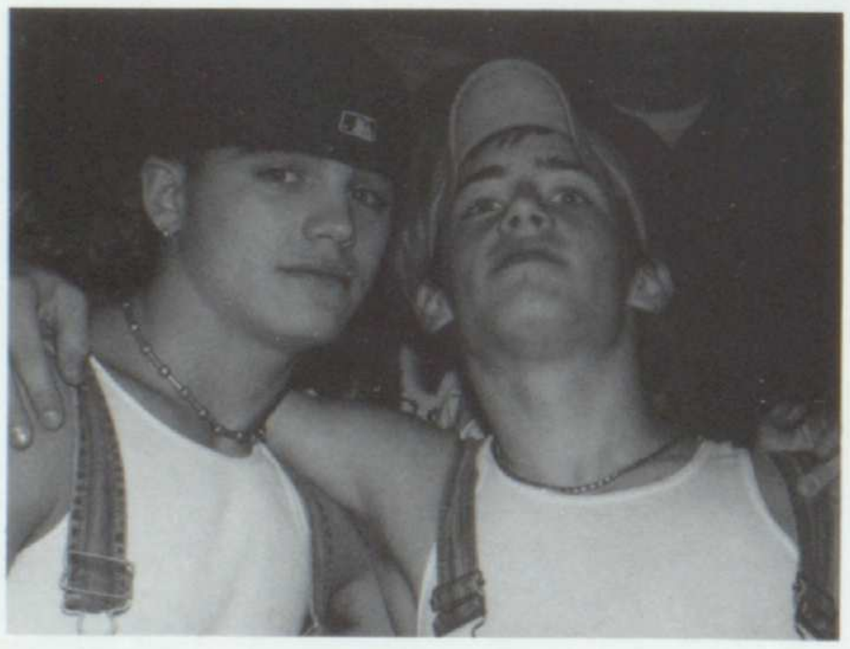

Causing mischief in the hallways are the always irritable freshmen.

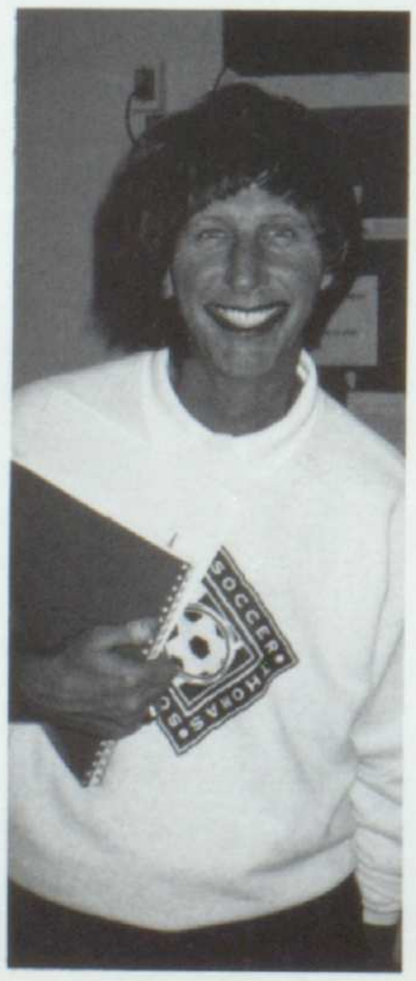

Bringing us back to the 60's are Mrs. Allsop and Sara Loge.

"Yes, I called Jesse last night to make sure we matched." explains Jeff Hume.
"I am the man because I am here with the prettiest girl." thinks Josh Pederson.

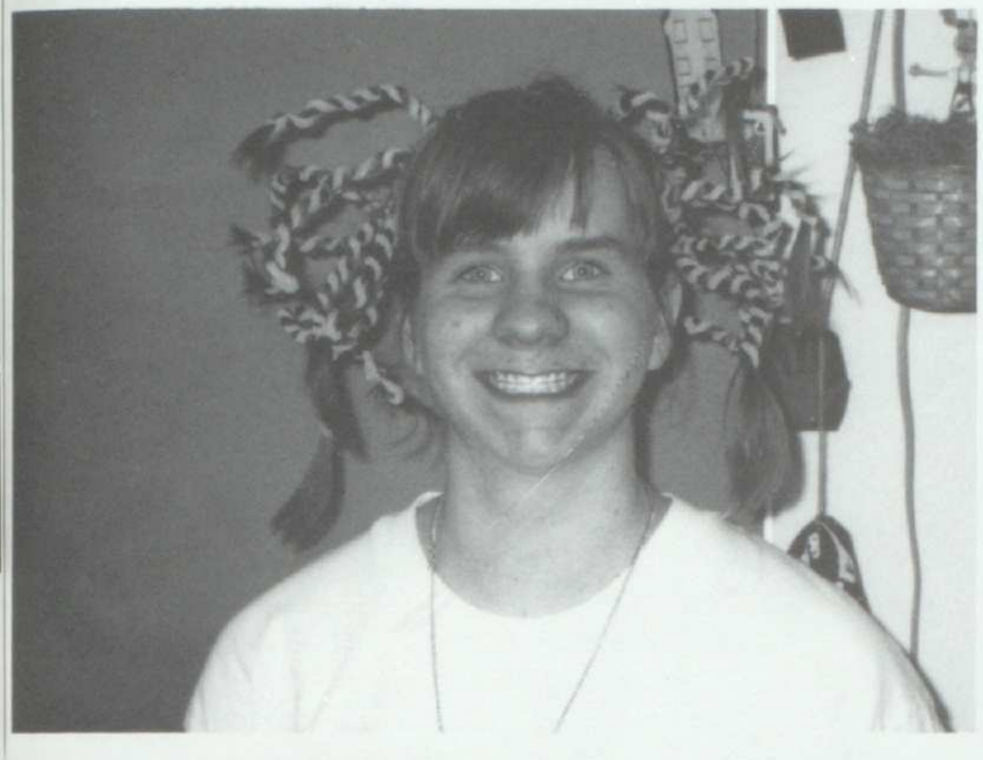

Showing his feminine side is Ian Hamilton as he gives a shout out to the girl's soccer team.
Caught in the act of tracing a picture is Laurie Heller.
Deep in thought about her next paper is Megan Hartranft.
"Boy I am glad to be here with you!" Eli says to his date Abbey.

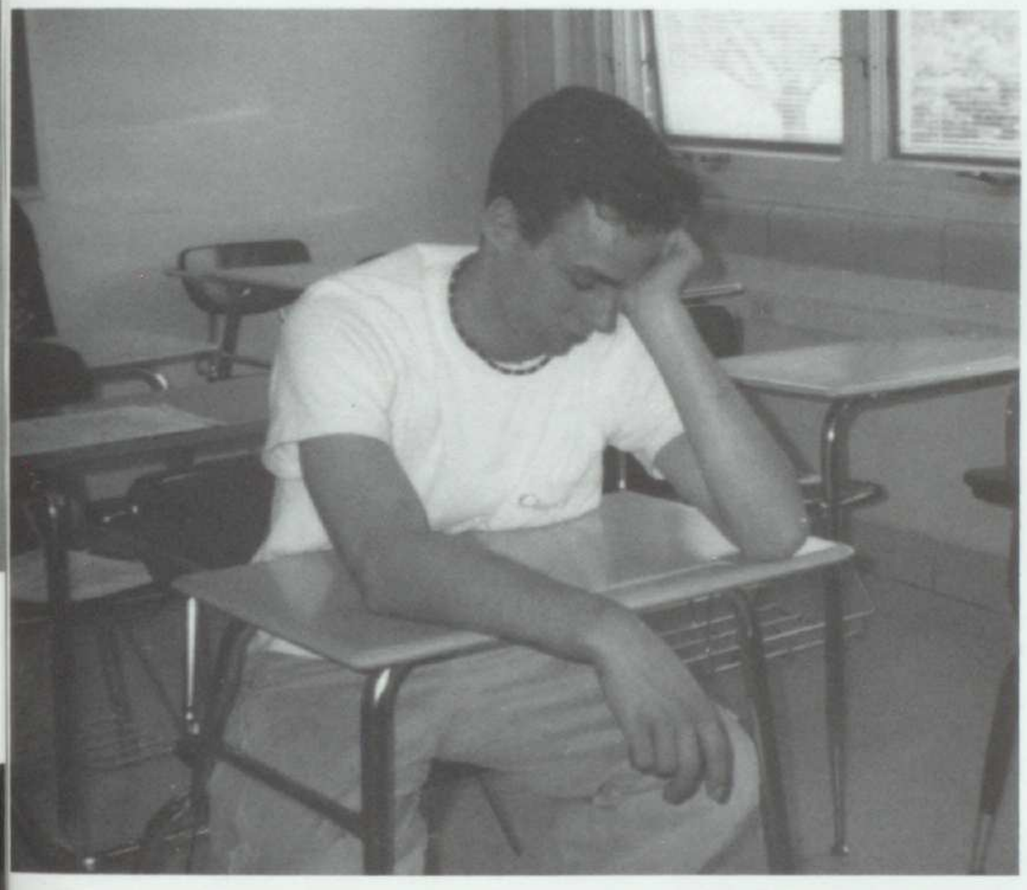

After getting her hair done for the prom, Laura Reuther second guesses her hairstylist's career.

Being a good Samaritan, Jeff Dietrich reaches for the mysterious objects which hang from the limbs of tress in the front lawn. They mysteriously appear year after year...could it be aliens who help decorate?

Tired of the high school scene and ready to get off to college, Ben Zelinski snoozes through yet one more class.

Sporting her new Cardinal Day t-shirt, this buff student is pumped for the big day.

"What are you looking at?" asks Kacey Campbell.

Oh how cute! They match!

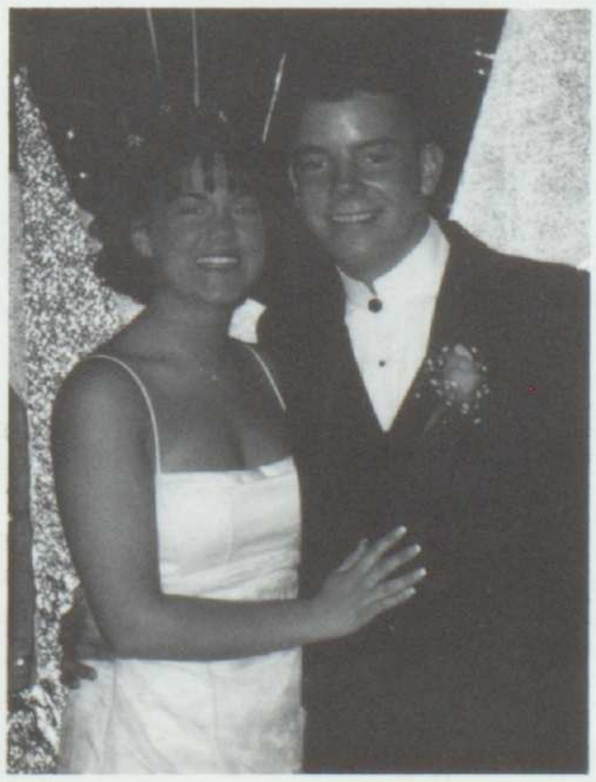

Hard at work, these yearbook superstars anxiously await for Ms. Fish to assign more pages and deadlines.

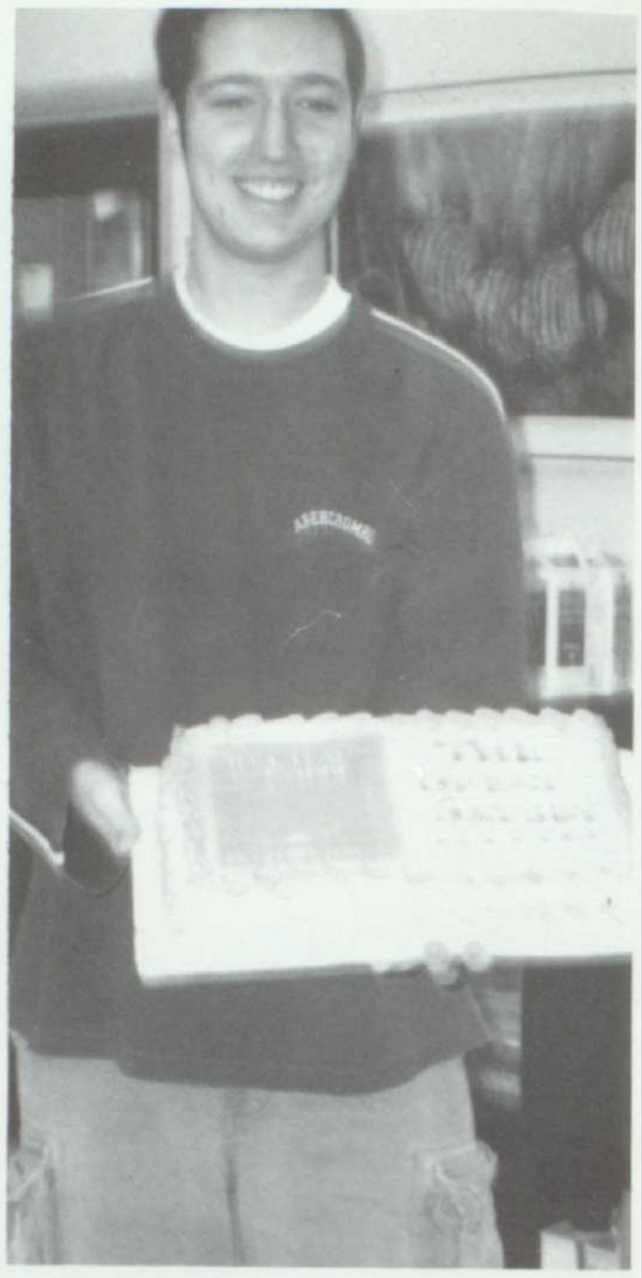

Slaving weeks in advance to create the perfect shirt for the dance, these freshmen let loose at the dance and ge their groove on.
