CARDINAL

Worthington High School
Worthington, Ohio

Our life at Worthington High School does not flow from one source; it springs from many influences—those of our friends, of our teachers, and even of ourselves. The campus is the background for that MOSAIC pattern of our unforgettable years in high school. The complex design is constructed of numerous tiles representing our activities, our sports, our scholastic achievements, our school spirit . . . Our dreams, our ideals, and our future plans which have been molded here cannot be eliminated from the full design. Each event and each incident adds a different multicolored piece—blue of the cross-country team and of the choir robes; white crowns of our queens; silver and gold of the instruments and whirling batons of the band; pastels of our classroom walls; and red of the Worthington Cardinals.

These tiles are brought together through you, the student body. Each student is an individual piece of the final MOSAIC which is the CARDINAL 1964.

. . . There we are, the Class of 1964. Our contributions to the mosaic of WHS are complete and the colorful spectacle of our high school years is in the past.

We have left in the halls the characters of our monologues, symbols of the day we finally earned the title "Seniors". We contributed to the pattern the signs and slogans of our political parties.

We are proud of the members of our class who have imparted to the design their achievements in scholarship and sports.

We are proud of the Senior Class Play, of our Senior musicians, of those in our class who have displayed leadership in clubs and Student Council.

As we take our places in the long procession of blue and white, which are our Senior Class colors, we are proud to be Seniors.

We are proud to be part of the MOSAIC 1964.

SENIORS

Worthington's Varsity team posted a fine 12-6 record this year, although they didn't meet pre-season expectations. Coach Bernard Weiss, in his second season at Worthington, would like to have seen this year as his first championship year, and feels that such a team is in view the next couple of years. Worthington was lead by Co-Captains Jeff Iannarino and Ira Porterfield, both seniors and starting lettermen for the Cardinal five. Worthington had great strength this year in its five group of guards; Jeff Iannarino, Jamies Poston, Tom Smith, and Bob Colton. Great strength and rebounding ability was revealed in 6'4" Don Blackstone, 6'4" Bruce Baxter, 6'1" Lanny Wilson, 6'2" Paul Jones, and 6'3" Ira Porterfield. One of the season's thrillers came against Upper Arlington, when the Cards defeated their rival by 19 points.

Four girl's basketball teams are chosen each year representing each class. During the course of the year the freshmen and sophomores play three games, and the juniors and seniors play seven. These games promote friendliness and sportsmanship with other schools in central Ohio. Also each class team plays the teams of another class, establishing a unifying friendliness in our school.

Every fall the students at W.H.S. become familiar with the sounds of the girls' hockey teams: the cry of "Bully" and the shouts of "Clear the field! Here comes the Cross-Country team!" Three large teams are chosen each year. The hockey "A" team consists of the most experienced players, while the "B" and "C" teams learn to play the game skillfully and eventually support the "A" team. The "A" and "B" teams participate in games with other schools. This year the "A" team had a 2-2-1 record, while the "B" team had a 2-2-1 record.

Marta Picado
American Field Service Student

Marta takes part in Senior Frolic.

MARTA PICADO

Worthington High School was privileged this year to have four exchange students enrolled in the student body. The Seniors enjoyed having as a member of their class Miss Marta Picado, our American Field Service Student from San José, Costa Rica.

Marta found many differences between her life in Costa Rica and her life in the United States; not the least of these was joining the seven-member family of Doctor and Mrs. George Bonnell. Marta and her American sister Susie have a common liking for sports. Marta joined Susie as a member of the hockey team and the senior girls' basketball team.

Marta's favorite subject this year was American History, and she was greatly interested in the importance our gym classes have. The number of extra-curricular activities associated with the school amazed Marta; in Costa Rica "school is for studying."

Marta hopes to be a doctor after attending the University of Costa Rica. She would like to teach gym to help earn her way through school. Marta says, "To know people in the United States has been very interesting. In the beginning you find so many differences, and after a month it is like living in your own country. Everybody has the same feelings and wishes."

Skiing is one of Marta's many hobbies.

Other foreign students attending Worthington this year are Cecilia Ayala and Alfred Hsu. Not pictured is Newton Caldas.

CARDINAL YEARBOOK

The MOSAIC, 1964 would not be possible without a Yearbook Staff. All of us had to learn quickly the process of compiling a yearbook together to include the memoirs of an entire year. We have tried to include in the book this year the activities, the events, and the people which mean the most to the student body at W.H.S. Under the leadership of Jan Lamp, Editor; and Mr. Phipps, Advisor; we have been guided to meet deadline after deadline.

OPERETTA BRIGADOON

"Once in the highlands, the highlands of Scotland, two weary hunters lost their way." The Choir's 1693 operetta Brigadoon told the story of the American hunters, Tommy Albright and his friend Jeff, who chanced upon the enchanted village of Brigadoon, which appeared to the world only once every one hundred years. Amid the excitement of the village fair and Jean MacLaren's wedding to Charlie Dalrymple, Tommy and Fiona MacLaren find that they have fallen in love. However, Tommy has a fiancee in New York, and he knows he must leave this dream-world and return home. In the States the vision of the Scottish lassie and her village will not leave him. Finally in desperation Tommy returns to Scotland. As the forest mist rises, Brigadoon is revealed, and the villagers welcome Tommy once more into their special world.

"Brigadoon, Brigadoon, blooming under sable skies."

"I'm sellin' a bit o' milk and cheese . . . "

"Who ever heard of a town coming out of the clouds?"

All the laddies and lassies together.

The W.H.S. marching band forms the traditional script "W."

MARCHING BAND

The Marching Band presented a well rounded performance this year as they attempted to give an overview of various band shows throughout the United States. Some of these different shows were a concert performance, in which concentration is on musical selections, rather than marching; a drill performance; a formation performance, which had a circus theme; and a final performance was on the history of the band at W.H.S. One of the most striking performances of the band this year was the wheel formation done to the music of the "Finale" of the 1812 Overture.

ORCHESTRA

The Worthington High School Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. David Miller, performs at student body assemblies and presents concerts throughout the year. Among these concerts are the Winter Concert, the Punch Bowl Concert, and the Spring Concert. Other functions, which the Orchestra makes more enjoyable, are the Operetta and Commencement Exercises. A special performance took place this year at the Youth Center on the Ohio State Fair Grounds for a United Nations Day program.

DANCE BAND

The primary emphasis of this band is on learning the techniques of a stage band. The band attended the annual stage band clinic in April this year. Participating in musical functions, the band played in the Spring Concert and a concert at a convention at the Columbus Plaza in May.

Row One: D. Walters, E. VanGilden, B. Rooker, T. Limbird. Row Two: M. Davis, L. Shock, B. Dennison, D. Holchomb, C. Sisson. Row Three: B. Goddis, E. Fiekert, F. Crowner, G. Gimlin, B. Gast. Row Four: J. Dyke, S. Weart, S. Putnam, R. Headley, T. Hinton, D. Palmer, L. Plants.

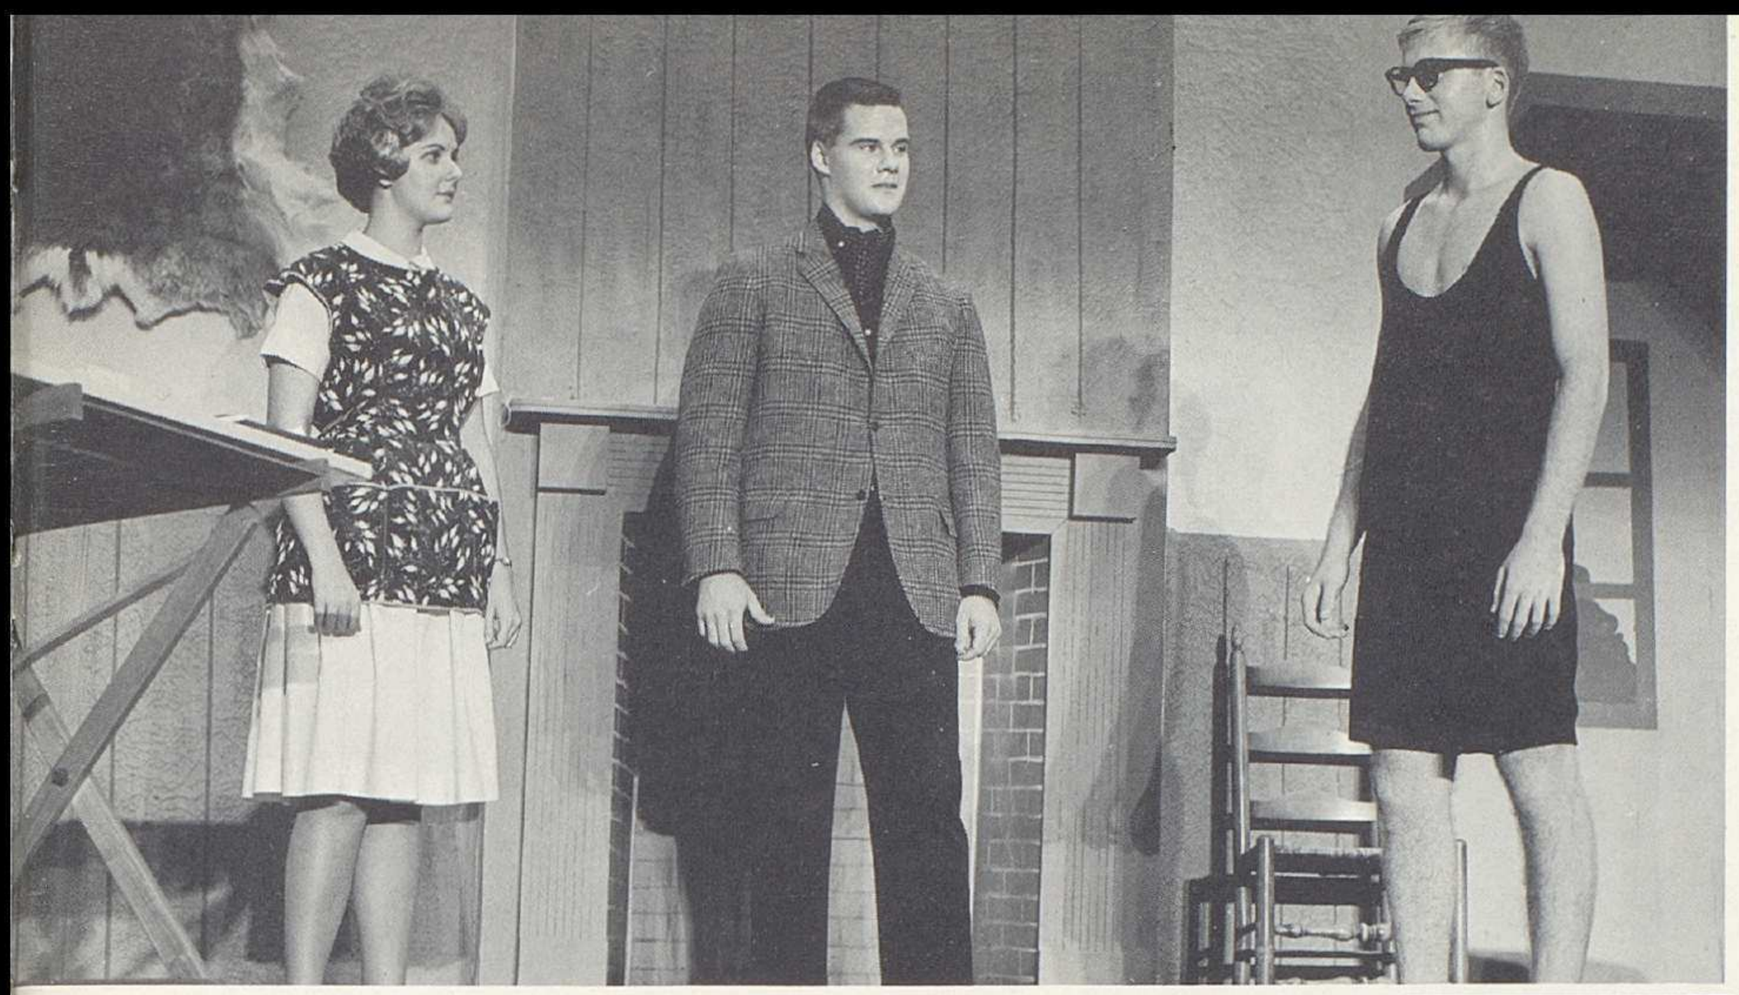
"MR. BARRY'S ETCHINGS"

"Grisly! Griswold is the name."

"No, no, not croak 'em; frisk 'em."



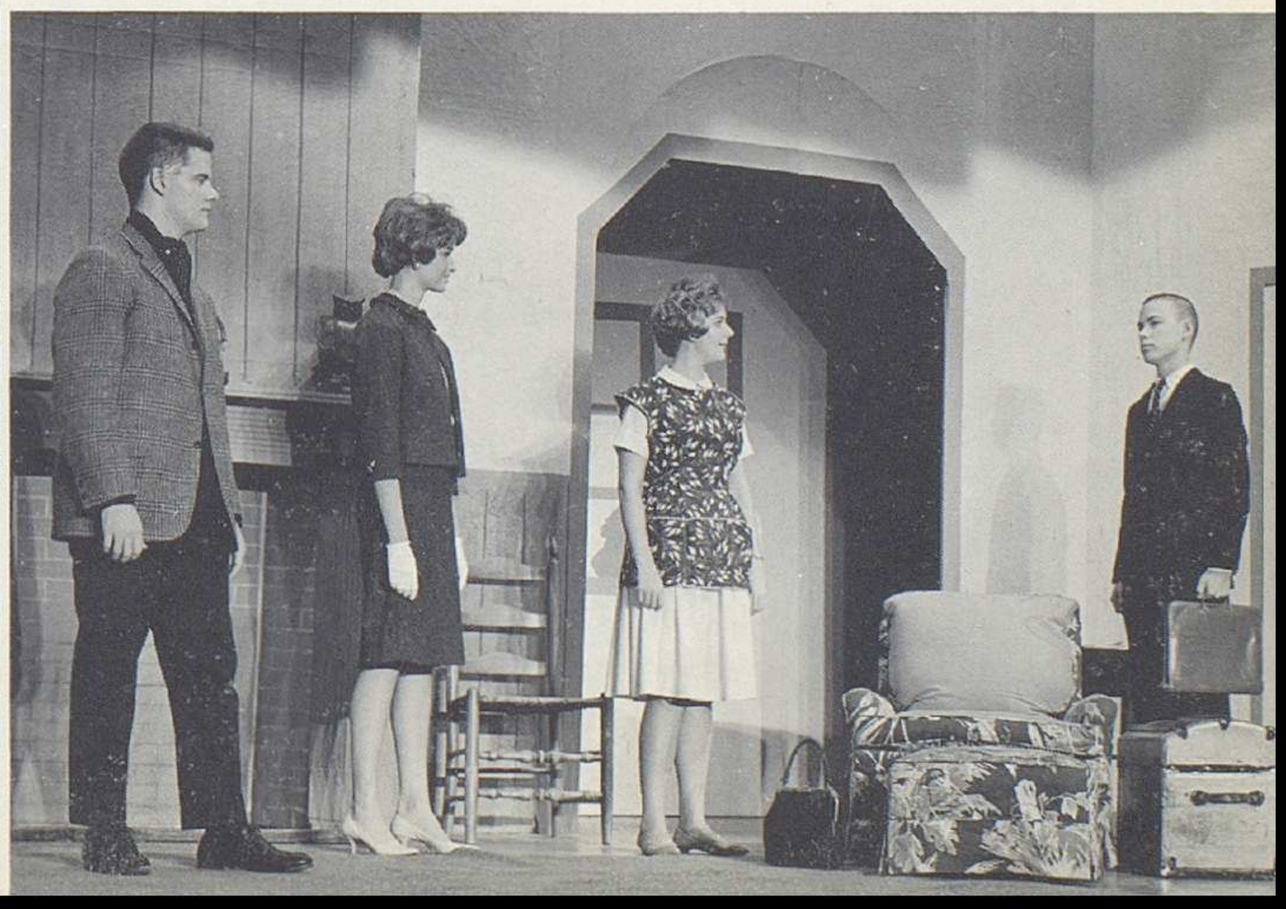
"Do men still wear two pieces?"

In the play Mr. Barry's Etchings, directed by Miss Elaine Hottenroth, when the economic growth of a small town by the name of Stanwich is temporarily stunted, an artist becomes a philantropist and feels compelled to help by secretly donating a large sum of money (counterfeit) to various community projects. Mr. Barry is not actually a crook; he just does not like the portrait of General Grant on the fifty dollar bill. Mr. Barry sought to improve the portrait by giving General Grant what he termed a "What the hell expression." In lieu of going to Alcatraz, Mr. Berry sells his life story to a movie producer for a large sum of money—(a sum large enough to pay back the value of the counterfeit currency).

"Reverend Greentree liked my etchings; he ought to love these."

"Can I come and see you in jail, Mr. Barry?"

"I am Kenneth Plunkett; I am looking for Judson Barry."



"Great Catherine"

A new addition to the theatrical world this year at W.H.S. was "Experimental Theatre." Three satirical plays were presented and an exibition of modern art by local artists was displayed. Eugene Inoesco's "Chairs," the theatre of the absurd, was directed by Glen Tracy. The roles of the characters were played by Geoff Brown, Becky Adams, and Kim Martin. "Great Catherine," a satirical comedy, by George B. Shaw, was directed by Mark Morss. Leading actors were Bill James and Jo Ann Warren. "Suppressed Desires," a satirical comedy on psychoanalysis, by Susan Glaspell, was directed by Pat Campbell. Ron Bradshaw, Jeanette Janssen, and Sally Sidebottom starred.

"HOMECOMING" 1964

Homecoming festivities began early in the afternoon this year with a pep rally on the high school athletic field. Arranged by the Cheerleading Club, this event proved to be very humorous as it aroused the student body to yell the Cardinals to victory at the football game. The Homecoming Court was presented and Margo Montgomery, Homecoming Queen, wished good luck to our football team. The night finally came and all eyes watched as the huge lights lit up our field. Everyone's attention was first directed to the Homecoming Court—Margo Montgomery, queen; Jane Walker, senior attendant; Sue Mamby, junior attendant; Jody Haywood, sophomore attendant; Judy Charleton, freshman attendant. As everyone yelled in cheers, the Cardinal team ran onto the field. Queen Margo bestowed the traditional kisses on Bill Gabriel and Warren Smith, co-captains. The final score in the Worthington-Urbana game was tied.

SENIOR CLASS FLOAT
"Witch Senior Prom"

The unpictured junior class float adopted its theme "Tricking or Treating Toward Oz" from the famous movie, "Wizard of Oz." Two different floats were presented. One float depicted the evil in the world, while the other float depicted the world's goodness. A colorful float with a poppy-lined, yellow, brick road portrayed an ideal situation. The other float, pulled by wicked, flying monkeys, was a scene of a witch stirring magic in her pot.

HALLOWEEN

Spooks and goblins were drowned this Halloween as a thundering storm fell on the traditional parade. Nevertheless, the classes' floats paraded around the athletic field, competing for various prizes. The freshmen's winning float was entitled, "Witch-o-Patra." The sophomores took second place with their float, "Days of Cider and Doughnuts.' Juniors placed third with their float, and seniors placed fourth with their float, "Witch Sr. Prom." Serving on the Halloween court this year were Jan Lamp, Queen; Meg Schultz, senior attendant; Pam Orthoefer, junior attendant; Kathy Coombs, sophomore attendant; and Nancy Cole, freshman attendant.

CHRISTMAS FORMAL

Christmas in the days of horses and carriages.

The Christmas Formal is an annual event sponsored jointly by the Senior Y-Teens and the Hi-Y. This year a snowy-white, low ceiling and two rows of street lamps formed the background for the dance, the "Christmas Avenue." Murals depicting old-fashioned Christmas scenes covered the walls in the gym and the lobby. A large gold wreath placed behind the band completed the decorations.

Couples gather in the lobby for a pause between dances.

Under the dim light of street lamps couples enjoy their favorite melodies.

Miss Meg Schultz

CARDINAL QUEEN

The climax to the evening of February 8, 1964, was the announcement that Miss Meg Schultz was to reign as the Cardinal Queen of 1964. Meg was chosen from the seven girls elected by their classmates to represent the beauty and charm of the girls at W.H.S. Miss Pat McBride, Miss Jan Lamp, Miss Nancy Dickson, Miss Andy Learned, Miss Patsy Scofield, and Miss Margy Fisher were the members of the Cardinal Queen Court.

CARDINAL Business Manager, Porter Stark bestowed the traditional kiss upon Meg after crowning her. The 1963 Cardinal Queen, Miss Beth Syverson, presented Meg with the traditional Queen's bracelet.

Dancing to the strains of "Days of Wine and Roses," Queen Meg and her escort Dan Bennington were joined by the Court and their attendants for the final dances of the "Coronation Ball."

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM

Hours of dedicated work by the Class of 1964 resulted in the enchanting Junior-Senior Prom Sayonara '63. The couples began a journey into this Oriental fantasy as they followed the poppy-lined paths through the pagoda to the dance floor. The golden Buddha gazed on a mural of Mount Fiji and watched over the tea houses bordering the setting. Rightfully proud of their artistry, the Juniors heard many comments that Sayonara '63 surpassed previous proms.
