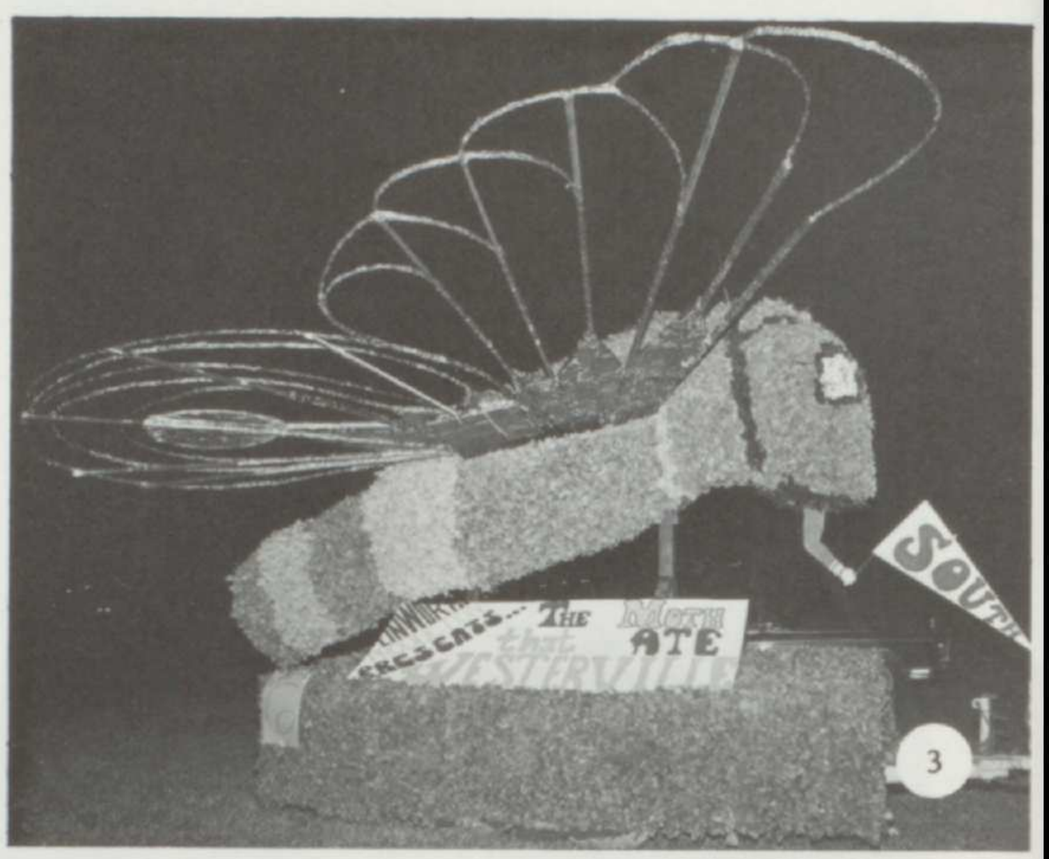
Activities

The talented Cards in Hollywood become . . .

The Homecoming events were spectacular as usual this year. The float competition was without a doubt one of the tightest and most outstanding in many years. Five awards were given out this year. They were for theme, creative use of materials, neatness, originality, and, of course, an overall prize. The A.P.'s "Moth that Ate Westerville" float won the overall prize. The Seniors took the award for neatness, the Juniors came in first for theme, and the other two awards for creative use of materials, and originality went to the band.

The game went well as we defeated the Westerville South Wildcats 24-14. The halftime, of course, was delightful. Then came the third quarter's extra activities. The riot that broke out led to the destruction of all of the floats except the Junior, Freshman, and the band floats. The other floats were all destroyed to some degree. This incident was soon under control, though, and the game continued.

In a few short hours the display of months of hard work was over, but what a fantastic showing it was. The "Cards in Hollywood" certainly did become overnight successes with their floats, queen, and football team. Tinsel Town will never be the same.



1. Junior float, winner for theme. 2. Excellent entry for Freshman float. 3. A.P. float, overall winner. 4. Senior float, winner for neatness. 5. From left: Junior attendant Lauren Tyler, Senior attendant Tammy Jarrett, Homecoming Queen Becky Turrittin, Sophomore attendant Julie Stewart, Freshman attendant Racheal Johns. 6. . . . Overnight successes

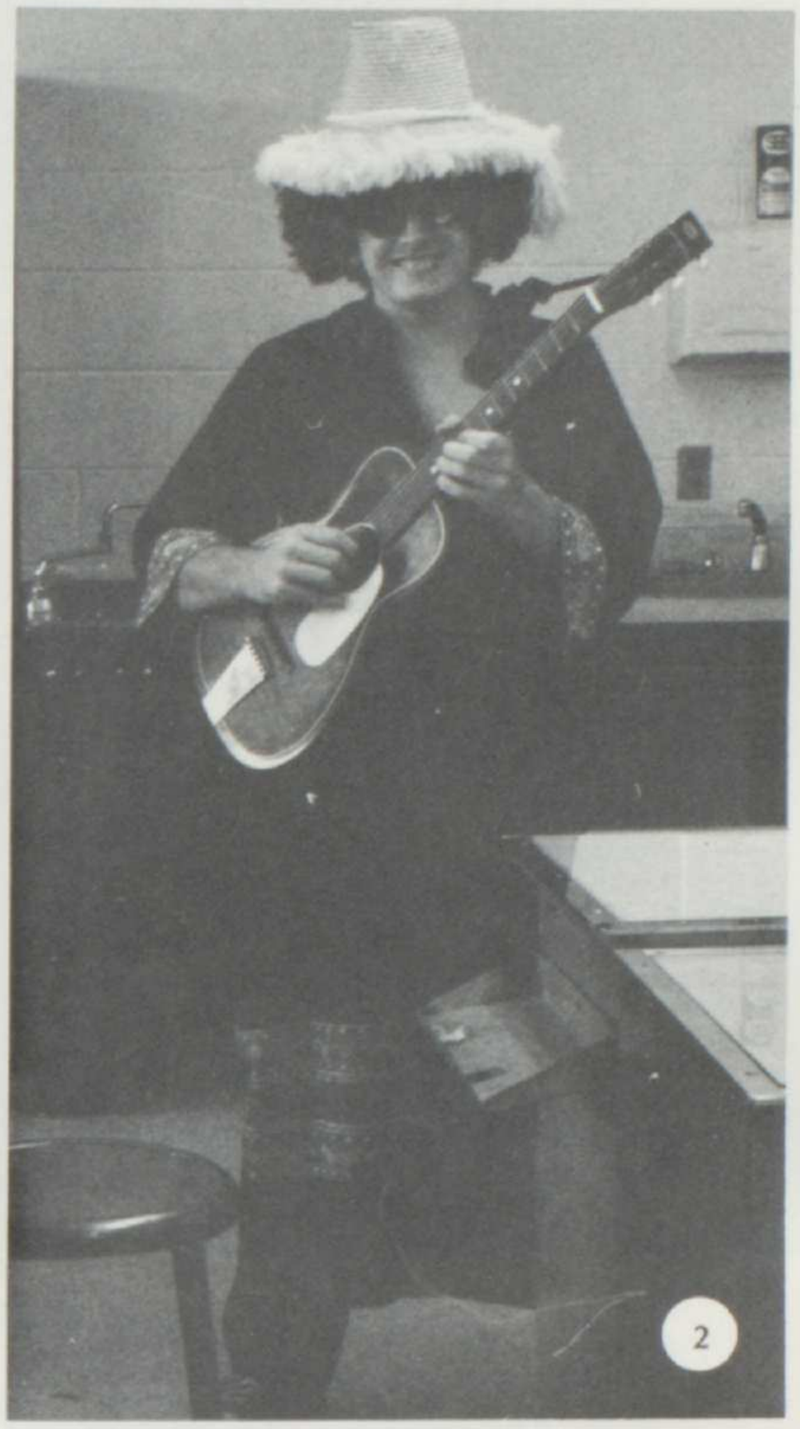
Presenting . . . a world premiere!

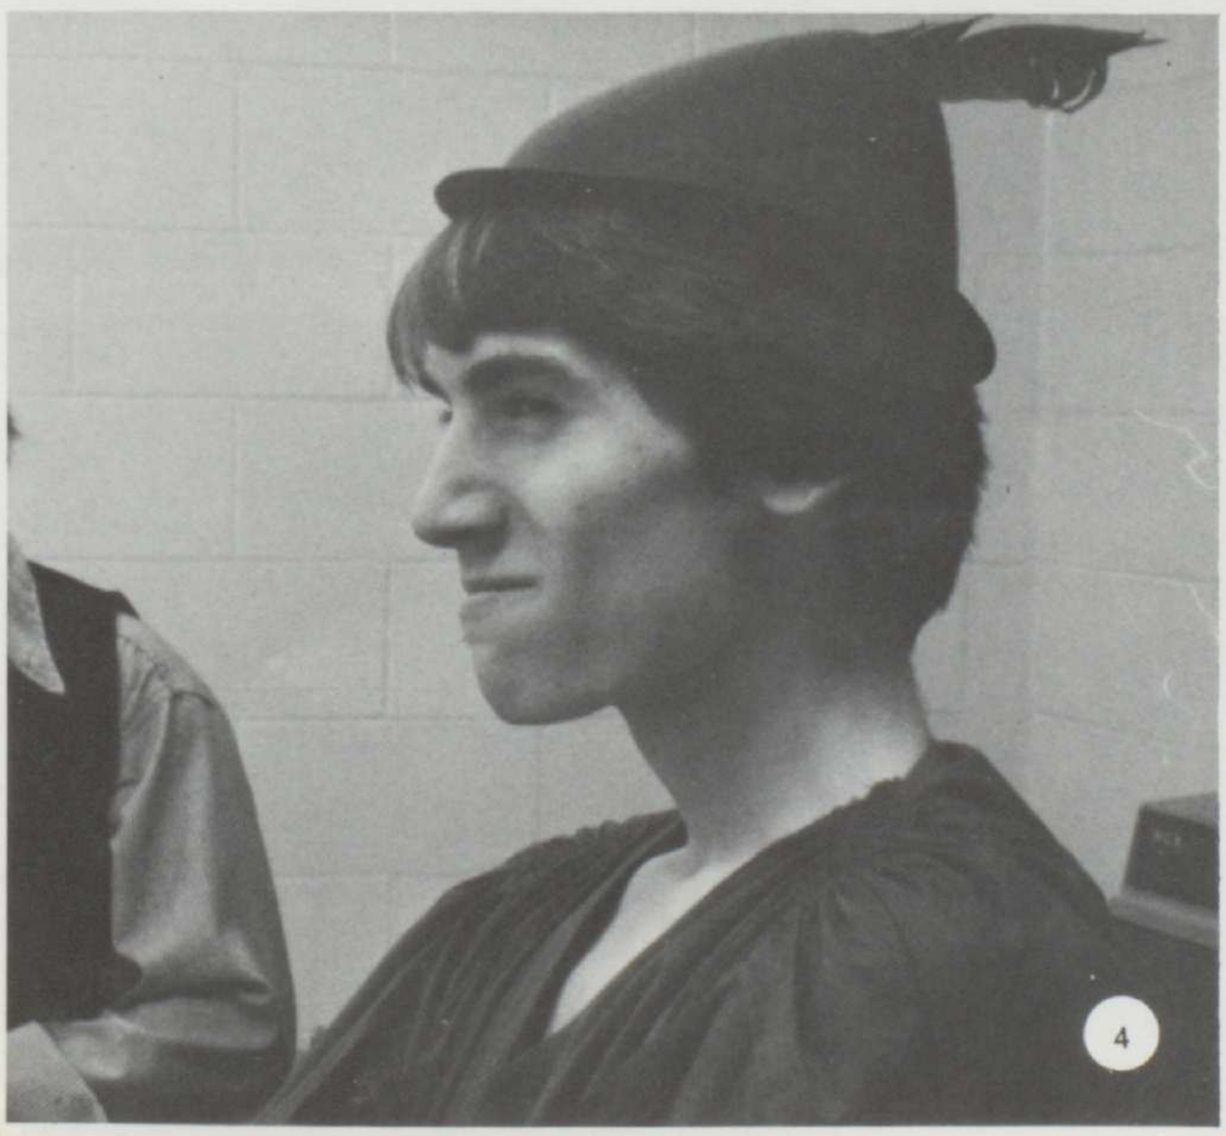
"Slow dancing, swaying to the music. Slow dancing, just me and my girl." To the mellow sounds of Mr. Frank Pees and his band, Homecoming became a "World Premiere" for many couples. Queen Becky Turrittin reigned over the pageantry of the event as couples arrived to the glamour of the spotlights and drumrolls. Stars strolled in by the hundreds to bless the event with their presence. All in all, "A World Premiere" became an exciting cap off to a wonderful weekend.

1., 2., and 3. Becky and Dave hoe-down in Hollywood. 4. "Look into my eyes . . . ". 5. "Where in the world did these kids learn how to dance?". 6. Terri Knerr finds happiness in Hollywood. 7. "Step, one, two, three, four, step, one, two . . . ".



Has anyone seen my broom?

Ghosts and goblins haunt the halls. Witches stir their brews. Wild-looking monsters sulk in dark corners . . . This is not an excerpt from a Friday night chiller movie. This is just what went on at WHS on that infamous date of Oct. 31 — Halloween! No one knows why people dress up in everything from Frankenstein to Raggedy Ann. Maybe it's just the kid coming out in them, the yearning to say "Trick or Treat" one more time. Maybe it's because they like to wear masks when they cut class so no one will know it's them. Whatever the reason, it lies in the magical mystery of Halloween, the day where the unexpected, but hoped for, always seems to happen.



1. "I think I'll move to another table . . . ". 2. Rich Byrnes as . . . a rock star? 3. How can anyone so photogenic be camera-shy? 4. "Down in the valley of the jolly green giants . . . ".

When a mouse roars . . .

A small French fishing vessel sailed into the New York harbor. When an American ship asked their name, they received a pelting of arrows. The Duchy of Grand Fenwick had indeed attached the United States in the Thespian production of "The Mouse That Roared".

The efforts of dozens people combined to merge the fourteenth century Fenwickians and twentieth century Americans. From the student director, Lisa Price, to the stage manager, to the costumes committee, to the teacher advisors, to the crowd scene actors, all work culminated in two stellar performances.

Special additions that have become a WHS tradition added comedic highlights to these performances. New dialogue added in by the cast and each cast member contributing his own personality to the role caused the audience to melt into a sea of laughter. Brian Clark wrote a whole new television scene into the play that further built up the hilarity.

Princess Gloriana XII, the sovereign of Grand Fenwick, was played by Pam Jackson. The role of the hero, in the tradition of honesty and simple-heartedness, Tully Bascomb, was portrayed by Brian Clark. Other lead roles ranged from the President of the united States (Todd Troll) through the Secretary of State (Dwight Pottinger) and a General (Charlie Ault), to the berserk Professor Kokinz (Doug Althauser), and to Gloriana's advisors (David Rau and Steve Gee).

1. An upset Secretary of State asks, "Why me?". 2. Tully Bascomb shows a visitor one of the main attractions of his country — a mouse! 3. Tully puts his two cents in as the rest of the cast listens. 4. Princess Gloriana and her advisor (Steve Gee) argue about politics. 5. Professor Kokinz shows his "simple" cube bomb theory to the President and his staff. 6. Tully praises his country, the Grand Duchy of Fenwick. 7. The President and his staff lament over the disappearance of the general. 8. The general looks in disgust at Professor Kokinz as the housekeeper looks in disgust at the mess.

Once again, the personal law classes at WHS proved their knowledge and ability as they presented the biannual Mock Trials.

Each semester these students, who are taught by Miss Shirley Nault, present the trials in the main campus auditorium before a crowd of students and staff, and also many guests. Students from Gahanna, Upper Arlington, and even Worthingway Middle School came to observe.

Each class, although given the same case, presented their own separate trial. Each consisted of a judge, a defendant, a plaintiff, two attorneys, a recorder, a bailiff, a jury, and several witnesses. The judge, attorneys, and witnesses made use of the OSU law library to research the case. The trials were unrehearsed, everything was being heard for the first time.

Except for an occasional "slip of the tongue", the trials went very smoothly and appeared very professional. The trials traditionally ended with a presentation of flowers to Miss Nault. Also acknowledged were Jim Scowden and Patricia Huckabee for contributing the new permanent set for the trials. The participants had worked hard again this year, and it showed.

. . . Some law and order

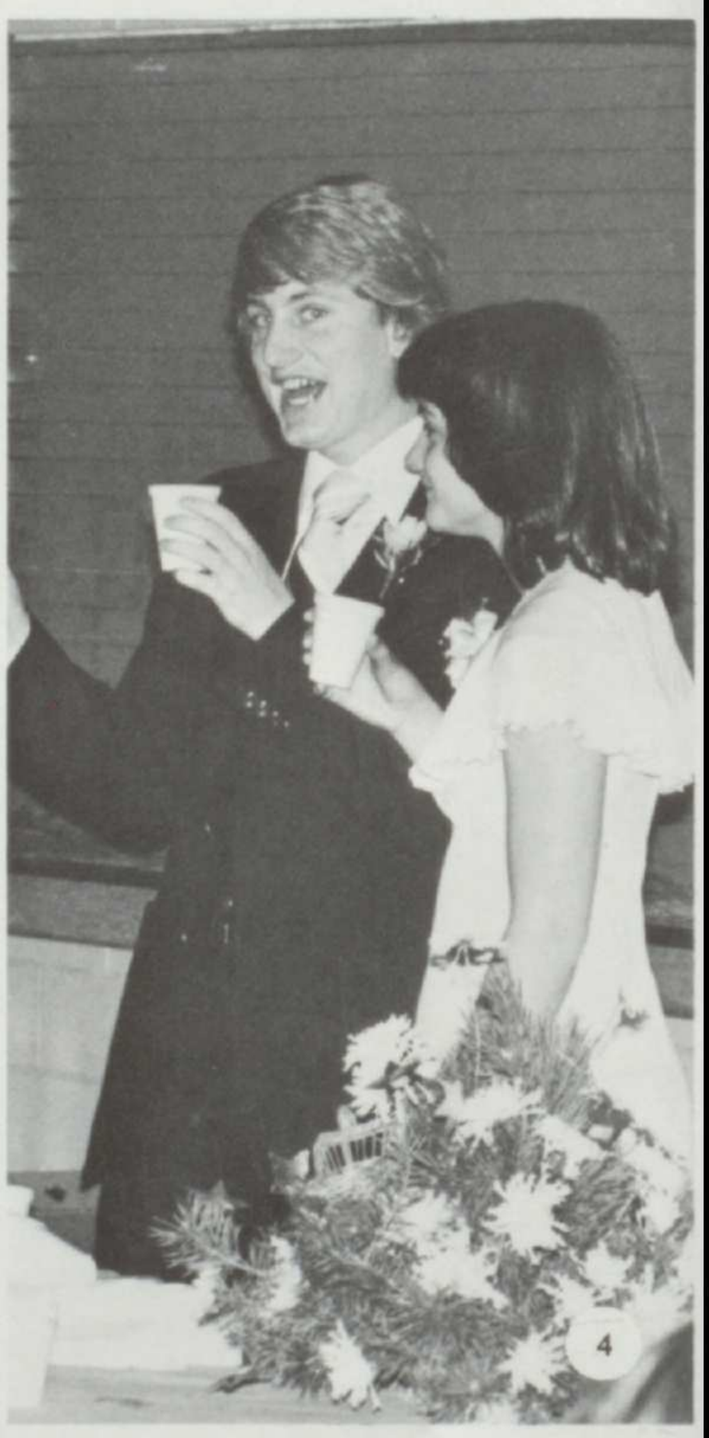
Tis the season . . .

Christmas is a time for giving, sharing, and brotherly love. It's the time of year when the Scrooge in all of us passes away and a need to show how much we care about each other replaces it. The air is filled with laughter, tummies are filled with egg nog, and hearts are filled with that special warmth that comes during the holidays.

All of this was present at WHS this year right before the holiday break; and although there was the usual fidgetiness to get out for vacation, most were having fun right at school — even teachers.

Many things were going on at WHS during the holidays. The teachers were honored by a Faculty Appreciation Day in which they were each given a carnation as a token of thanks from the student council. The students enjoyed the Christmas Formal where J. Passias and Jackie Bailey were crowned Cardinal King and Queen. There was also a Christmas Dress-up Day where everyone dressed up as famous Christmas characters.

The time finally came when school was over and everyone could go home for vacation. The halls soon grew quiet and dark, and WHS looked as though it was any other normal night. But that holiday spirit still lingered and in the distance faintly, yet growing louder, there was the sound of jingling bells . . . Could it be?



1. "The things I do to please J." 2. Voila! Instant Santa Claus! 3. Queen Jackie knows what Santa wants for Christmas. 4. We're having a wild and crazy time!

Hoola hoops and happy days!

What do bombshelters, "I like Ike" buttons, and greasy hair have in common? They're all from the fifties, and one of Student Council's most successful projects this year was Fifties' Day, held on January 26th. The purposes of this extravaganza were to give students and teachers a chance to relax and a change of pace after finals' week, and also to encourage attendance at the boys' basketball game that night, where anyone dressed as if from the 1950's was admitted for half price.

Signs were posted all over the school, listing interesting facts and figures from the 1950's (Did you know that in 1956 the esteemed Hall of Fame was started?), and during lunch periods many students hopped and twisted to tunes of the 1950's. A special appearance by Ace and the Five Jokers topped off the excitement with more than one love-crazed teenage girl throwing her body at their dancing feet. All in all, Fifties' Day was a highly effective medicine for first semester blues.

1. "Isn't he the most?" 2. "Lisa's in there". 3. "Hold me back!". 4. Big Ace . . . or Little Richard? 5. Big Ace and the Jokers perform their original version of "Splish, Splash". 6. Larry Fields, along with the crowd, grooves to the music of Big Ace and the Jokers.

The tables were turned and . . .

. . . The guys loved it!

Each year there are the four traditional dances: the Homecoming dance, the Christmas Formal, the Valentine's dance, and the Prom. Each has its own unique qualities, especially the Valentine's dance. At this point the traditional world is shattered when, instead of the guys asking the girls, the opposite happens. This gives the girls a taste of what it's like to ask someone out.

The dance itself, of course, was very beautiful and romantic. The Senior class did an excellent job of making it as nice as possible. The music came from the group, the Rick Monroe band, and a highlight of the evening was when it was announced that Dave Aumuller had been elected King of Hearts. All in all, it was a perfect celebration of a lovely holiday.

1. "Wait a second! This isn't his good side!". 2. "Just call us Fred and Ginger." 3. "Now watch this step!". 4. "All right, so I tripped over her feet while we were dancing. It wasn't that funny!". 5. "You mean, I don't replace Dr. C. now?"

Step right up and try your luck at . . .

1. "If you tell a single soul, I'll . . . " 2. "Believe me, it won't hurt a bit." 3. "I never read THIS in my dean's contract." 4. "Maybe I should've stayed with Avon." 5. "Do you REALLY think YOU can make that?"

. . . The Winter Carnival!

Remember when you were a kid and a traveling carnival came to town? You played games, ate candy, won prizes and had your picture taken. The chance to relive those memories was in the form of the Winter Carnival, a tradition at WHS. Many clubs set up booths and, although trying to make money, also helped to bring out the kid in all of us. Children of all ages were given a chance at games from the goldfish toss to the pie-throwing contest at such personalities as Dean Fitsko. It was just like it used to be. Eating caramel apples, popping balloons, winning that cuddly teddy bear at the baseball toss . . .

Annie gets her gun and . . .

In the back woods of Dark County, there was born a star. She wasn't a dancer, and she wasn't a singer. She wasn't known for her great paintings, lovely poetry, or eloquent speaking. But, she could shoot better than any "derned hombre around". Her name was Annie Oakley.

Such was the subject of this year's operetta, "Annie Get Your Gun". Annie (Mindy Edwards) was discovered by Buffalo Bill (Bob Phillips) and his agent Charlie Davenport (Brian Clark). They wanted to make her the star of their show so as to reap in the profits and put their adversary, Pawnee Bill (Jim Augur), out of business. The only problem was they already had a star, Frank Butler (Todd Troll). Although he and Annie had fallen in love, he was not about to share top billing. The troupe ran into many difficulties but finally, with much aid from Chief Sitting Bull (Carlyle Owens), everything worked out and they all lived "happily ever after".

Many long hours were put into this year's operetta. Even though the students involved were devoted to their classes, they gave up precious time for homework and put it toward their work in the play. Indeed, everyone DID WORK very hard for this play, especially with the tight schedule. A special recognition should go to Miss Hottenroth, Mr. Haney, and Mr. Scowden for devoting so much of their time and effort to making this production one of the best WHS has had.

1. Annie's initiation into the Indian Tribe. 2. Miss Annie and Chief Sitting Bull are presented at the ball. 3. The diligent stage crew. 4. "Well, here we go again." 5. There's no business like show business. 6. The harmonious pit orchestra. 7. Annie and the kids show Mr. Wilson their "stuff". 8. Co-stars Todd and Mindy — doing what comes naturally. 9. Chief Sitting Bull puts on a show. 10. "Are we fantastic or are we fantastic?"

The Academic Honors Banquet . . .

WHS has always been known for its high academic quality. Many students have worked very hard to make this statement true. It seems right that they should be recognized for their efforts, so every year the high school honors these high achievers with an Academic Honors Banquet. Each student that has maintained a 3.5 cumulative for either three, five, or seven semesters is invited to this special occasion and is presented with either a bronze, silver, or gold key depending on how long they have maintained this average.

In contrast to the food, the program this year was excellent. As well as being a good superintendant, Dr. Lakey also proved to be a good speaker. And, of course, the procession to receive the keys from Dr. Cavanaugh was both exciting and moving. It was the students' night, and, although it falls but once a year, it was an event to be long remembered as that pat on the back that everyone needs.

1. Cheers! 2. The seniors line up to receive their gold keys. 3. "So this is Dr. Cavanaugh." 4. "Congratulations, Mr. Carey."

Green beans are . . .

. . . part of growing up

PLAYWRIGHT: That's the title that Senior Brian Clark earned this year at WHS. He wrote a children's play, entitled "No More Green Beans", which was brought to life by the WHS Thespians. The play, a satire on growing up, tells the story of how two children try to become adults all at once. At the end, though, they realize that they must grow up slowly so that they can learn the difference between right and wrong. The lead roles were given to Becky Turrittin, who played Jerome's sister Mandy, and Brian Clark, who played Jerome. The play was presented at all of the elementary schools and made three public performances.

1. "This is definitely not the good ship lollipop!" 2. "Woe is me!". 3. "Do I have a deal for you!". 4. "We are gnomes!". 5. "Since when has this been washed?".

Golf + tennis + talent equals . . .

. . . a great show!

Once upon a time there were two teams: one was a group of tenacious tennis lovers and one was a band of gallant golf swingers. These two teams were led by the valliant Mr. Neil Walter and the heroic Mr. Dave Riegel. The teams were so poor that, well, let Mr. Fitsko tell you that one. Anyway, they needed a good way to raise much-needed funds. But how? The men put their heads together and thought and thought. Finally they came up with the great idea of having a talent show. Now another big question. Where would they get the talent? At WHS, of course. There's plenty of talent there (?). So they had some auditions and got an emcee and put on a show. In contrast with Mr. Mike "I like to pretend I'm an emcee" Fitsko's jokes, the show was excellent. Everyone loved it and, more importantly, the two teams raised the needed funds and then some. The moral of the story: Try hard and you'll always succeed (it's old but it fits). That's the end. Good night.

"Well, they'll be calling you a radical, a criminal, a liberal, oh, a fanatical . . ." These are a few words from a popular song last spring called "The Logical Song" by Supertramp. A display of these words could also be seen last spring when Student Council held a 60's day. Everyone dressed up in everything from a national guardsman to a "hippie" demonstrator. Although there are some bad memories of that decade, generally, all sitdowns, marches, and protests were in good fun. It must have been good — Mr. Molnar looked very, very pleased.

1. Students display practical application of Political Radicalism. 2. "This is dragsville, man!". 3. "Peace!" 4. Jill Radicalism. 5. Macho men, Drew Koschny and Ron Dill get ready to hang ten. 6. S.W.A.T.!

The most expensive dance at WHS . . .

Out of all the dances during the year, the Prom, put on by the Junior Class, is the biggest, the most extravagent, and the most expensive. Raising funds for it starts at the beginning of the freshman year — almost three years before the actual event. The final months before the dance are always hectic. The worries and the troubles accumulate over this period until they form a great heap right before the actual event. This year, thankfully, this great pile miraculously disappeared and the Prom turned out to be a great success.

Following the theme "Knights in White Satin", handsome young knights and their lovely maidens all gathered at the Holiday Inn North in a royal midieval setting. Superb in the only way to describe it; the food, decorations, and entertainment were all excellent. To the music of the Diamond Brothers, the couples slow danced and also boogied to crazy tunes like "The Bunny Hop" and "Happy Birthday". A special attraction was a cake shaped into a midieval castle that was beautiful both in size and in taste.

All of these fantastic touches were due to a group of hardworking persistent people. Much thanks and recognition should go to all of the committee chairmen, especially the head chairmen, Patty Haller, Diana Hong, and Beth Weaver. The Junior Class advisor, Mr. Don Wilke, also devoted many hours and many headaches to the cause. Like a caterpillar turning into a butterfly, all of the pains and frustration transformed into one beautiful event that will bring many fond memories for years to come. The years of hard work were over finally and, when looking back, one sees that it was all very much worth it.

An undying spirit

The cheering crowds, rousing band tunes, and the routines of the drill team and cheerleaders, represented Worthington's undying spirit despite a disappointing 1978 season. The pigskin took some bad bounces for the Cardinals as the team finished with a 4-6 win-loss record. This year's season did not, however, go without its victories. The first of these was a whopping 69-6 win over Delaware, with Scott Gordon showing excellent quarterbacking skill, and Rick Macer proving his exceptional running ability. In the next two contests against opponents Mt. Vernon and Chillicothe, the defense showed its strength as they held the opponents to a total of 13 points, and won both of the games. "Our defense has been superb this year," stated Coach Ellwood. Brian Morrison and Rick Macer proved to be exceptionally good on defense. Despite a few more discouraging losses when Homecoming came around, the team decided it was time to show their power. Homecoming with its traditionally enormous crowd turned out to be a very victorious event with a score of 24-14 against Westerville South.

There is no doubt that the season could have been better for Worthington. It was a season of costly penalties and turnovers, but many of the players feel it was a season to learn from. 1979 will surely mark the year when Worthington becomes O.C.C. champs.

Sunny season

If tennis were announced like the weather and coach, Mrs. Jerri Stephan, were the weather meteorologist she would report that last season was mostly sunny with 20% precipitation. The rain came in the form of a few defeats but the bright sun clearly dominated the season.

The Worthington girls tennis team shared the OCC Team Title with Chillicothe. Outstanding achievement in third singles and first doubles in the OCC went to Leslie Gast, Allison Hilbert, and Kelly Heal respectively. Other members were victorious in sectionals and went on to the districts.

Becky Webb, the number one singles player, and Jenny McGann, the team captain, proved to be a consistent source of sun for the team. With hard work and dedication by all, a prediction can be made for a brilliant '79-'80 season.

The cross country team headed out this year, led by senior co-captains, Doug Keown and Steve Huber, to a successful season ending with an impressive record of 6-1 in dual meets. This group of hard working young people won the sectionals and placed a victorious number two at the district meet. They then went on to become number one in the league. Among the many talented athletes is Clark Fox, a junior who is sure to return to lead the 1979 cross country team to a victorious season next year. Coach Gary Smith can be proud of his team and should anticipate a successful season in 1979.

Once is not enough!

On a hot, rainy, muggy day when summer was just beginning to fade into fall, thirty-one girls lined up in sticky shorts and damp t-shirts to try their hands at a game known as field hockey. Only ten of the girls, who returned from the previous year, had any idea of what they were doing.

Led by co-captains Yolanda Harding and Molly O'Connor, the girls ran, drilled, ran, drilled, and ran some more until their pride hurt from discouragement and frustration as much as their muscles hurt from the running. Finally, they started looking like a team and were ready to take on the whole world. They followed coach Dee Dexter-Eder (with some assistance from Karen Howell) out onto the field and played their hearts out. It was no use, though. They kept losing and losing until it seemed as if making goals was a sin.

Then the day came for their final game which was against Upper Arlington. Lifted in spirits and encouraged by their theme "Once is Not Enough," they put out a tremendous effort against the Golden Bears and won with five goals scored; the most goals scored in two years. Their long, hard work had finally paid off in a victory that they long remember.

At the end of the season, the team always goes to the Central Ohio Field Hockey Tournament and this year they placed fifth out of eight teams present. Molly O'Connor and Caroline Rogers were also named to the League All-Star Team. It was not all in all a winning season for the girls, but to them it's not the winning that counts, but the satisfaction of knowing that they've done their best.

Golf team wins State

The varsity swingers stroked their way to a sensational season in 1978. With senior co-captains Jeff Fort and Dan DePaso leading the way, the team was undefeated in the regular season. They then went on to take third place in the district, where they edged out arch-rival Upper Arlington by one stroke. Worthington's fine golfers topped off their fantastic season by finishing first in the state and with three returning lettermen, the team is hopeful of another great season in 1979. Coach Dave Riegel's training was a big factor in the success of the golfers. In addition to the outstanding varsity record, the reserve linkers had a great season, finishing 10-1. As a fall sport, golf came out on top in 1978.

For many, it was their last season in high school soccer. As the end of another season for the women's varsity soccer team rolled by, that gut feeling of emptiness landed in the pit of many of the girls' stomachs, the same gut feeling one experiences at the loss of a loved one or something else very special.

However, seniors, you really needn't fret for you still hold in your minds a complete memory album of the past. From it, you can leaf through and remember those exciting moments of distant times, like when that first game-winning goal went in or those bubbling parties afterwards. Memories of the pain encountered during practices as leg muscles ached for the rest and lungs gasped for oxygen will return. Then the over-whelming feeling of accomplishment will prevail and suddenly the pain will not be so distinct. The season, despite the record of 5-4-4, will always be remembered as a success . . . as well it should be.

The success of the boys varsity soccer team was summed up when coach Ed Shay said, "This was the biggest, fastest, most skilled soccer team Worthington has ever had." Led by senior co-captains Brian Swartzentruber and Rich Compton, the players kicked their way to a 13-4-1 record. Their impressive list of victories includes the Central Ohio High School Soccer League Championship. They should be commended for their fine performance in the state tournament finishing as semi-finalists, ranking third out of 160 teams. One of the many highlights of the season was the defeat of arch-rival Upper Arlington by a victorious score of 6-0.

The junior varsity team, coached by Bill Arnold, also had an excellent season finishing with a 7-2-1 record. Next year's season should be equally impressive with the return of many of these fine athletes.

A tenacious team

Soothing the hurt of earlier defeats the girls volleyball team led by co-captains Julie Robison and Ning Bodhipaksha, rose to success later in the season. Despite some set backs as a result of inexperience, the team, consisting mainly of underclassmen, worked with determination to tie for third place in the league. Poise and dexterity were the characteristics of many of these fine athletes who were up against formidable competition.

Coach Jenny Elin gave direction to the tenacious team, which developed into a well-rounded squad. With the return of several promising stars, coach Elin anticipates a very successful 1979-1980 season.

This is one wild and crazy team!

WHS has Water Polo!

Not everyone at Worthington High School knows about the Water Polo team. The team was started three years ago by Skip Runkle, the head coach of the wonderful AAU swimming program and assistant coach of both the boys and girls high school teams. Some of the high school guys were interested in playing water polo so Mr. Runkle arranged some games with Todd Grant, Upper Arlington's swimming coach. For the past two years we have just played against UA but this year Ayersville was added to the list of teams. Our team is progressing very well each year and hopes to become a Varsity sport in the near future. Let's hear some support for Worthington Water Polo!

Soccer

The boys soccer team had an excellent season in 1978. They progressed to the Ohio State Soccer Tournament and captured third place out of 160 teams. The tournament team was led by senior co-captains Brian Swartzentruber and Rich Compton who were vital links in the Cardinal attack.

Golf

Mr. Dave Riegel is a very proud coach this year because five of his varsity golfers went to the state tournament and came out on the top of the 296 AAA teams in Ohio. Chris Sampson won the honor of third medalist by getting a 77, 77. Congratulations guys!

Determination at its finest

Hard work and enthusiasm characterized the 1978-79 Varsity Basketball team, under the expert guidance of coach Pat Mannion. Though the team had some difficulties this season and suffered more than their share of disappointing losses, coach Mannion feels that they greatly "improved toward the end of the season." Among the outstanding performances of the many talented athletes Dave Clinger, particularly, showed excellence in basketball. Captains J. Passias and Kevin Starks provided the strong leadership necessary to acquaint the newer players with High School basketball.

The persistant determination exhibited by this year's basketball team is sure to pay off in the 1979-80 season. Good Luck Cards!

Team rebounds for a victorious season

The girls basketball team showed strength and determination on the court in the 1978-79 season. Coached by Jenny Elin, the women dribblers rebounded after several disappointing losses to victorious wins against Westerville North, Chillicothe, and Groveport, to name a few. Senior captain Cindy Kline proved to be a very able leader. Team work and spirit were definitely characteristics of this year's basketball team, on and off the court. The 1979-80 season should net the arrival and development of some new stars on the Cardinal's winning court.

Gymnasts place second in state

Competitive gymnastics requires agility, flexibility, endurance, and most of all, strength. The Worthington gymnastics team showed that they had all of these qualities in abundance by their 5-2 varsity dual meet record. The team, led by coaches Baker and Willson, won many honors this year. Some of these include placing third in the Worthington Cup Invitational and second in both District and State competition. The gymnasts who qualified for the State include graduating senior Mike Willson, Scott Willson, Scott Schuler, Jeff Sickeler, Tom Mannik, Todd Mannik, Ben Zimmerman, and alternates Dave Kinnick and Bill Klunk. Scott Schuler did an exceptional job at the State meet, winning yhe Parallel Bars competition. With the superior performances of these gymnasts and the many others on the team, this season was very rewarding.

Exciting gym season

The Worthington High School girls gymnastics team wrapped up another exciting and prosperous season this year. Under the guiding light of coaches Marty McLain, Laurel Parsons and Sharon Alley, the hard working girls had a league record of 6-0 and captured the OCC title for the third year in a row. Four girls this season were eligible for state competition. Captain Janet Oberle, Lori Houser, Linda Keys, and graduating senior Lori Parsons represented our school and did a great job. Other top performers for the team this year were Amy Winkler, Debbie Randazzo, Rose Hallam, Cindy Barnes, Debbie Hanson, and Beth Weaver. Without the help of these girls, plus the many others, the team would not have had the success it did. Key performances this year include: four second place finishes at the OCC League meet, one second place at the Class II and III Districts, and at this same meet, WHS came home with four first place finishes, including Amy Winkler in floor, Beth Weaver in vault, Lori Houser in bars, and Janet Oberle in beam. Beth Weaver was the team's high total point scorer for the season with 243.96 points. Congratulations girls, and good luck to graduating gymnasts Debbie Randazzo and Lori Parsons and to next year's team.

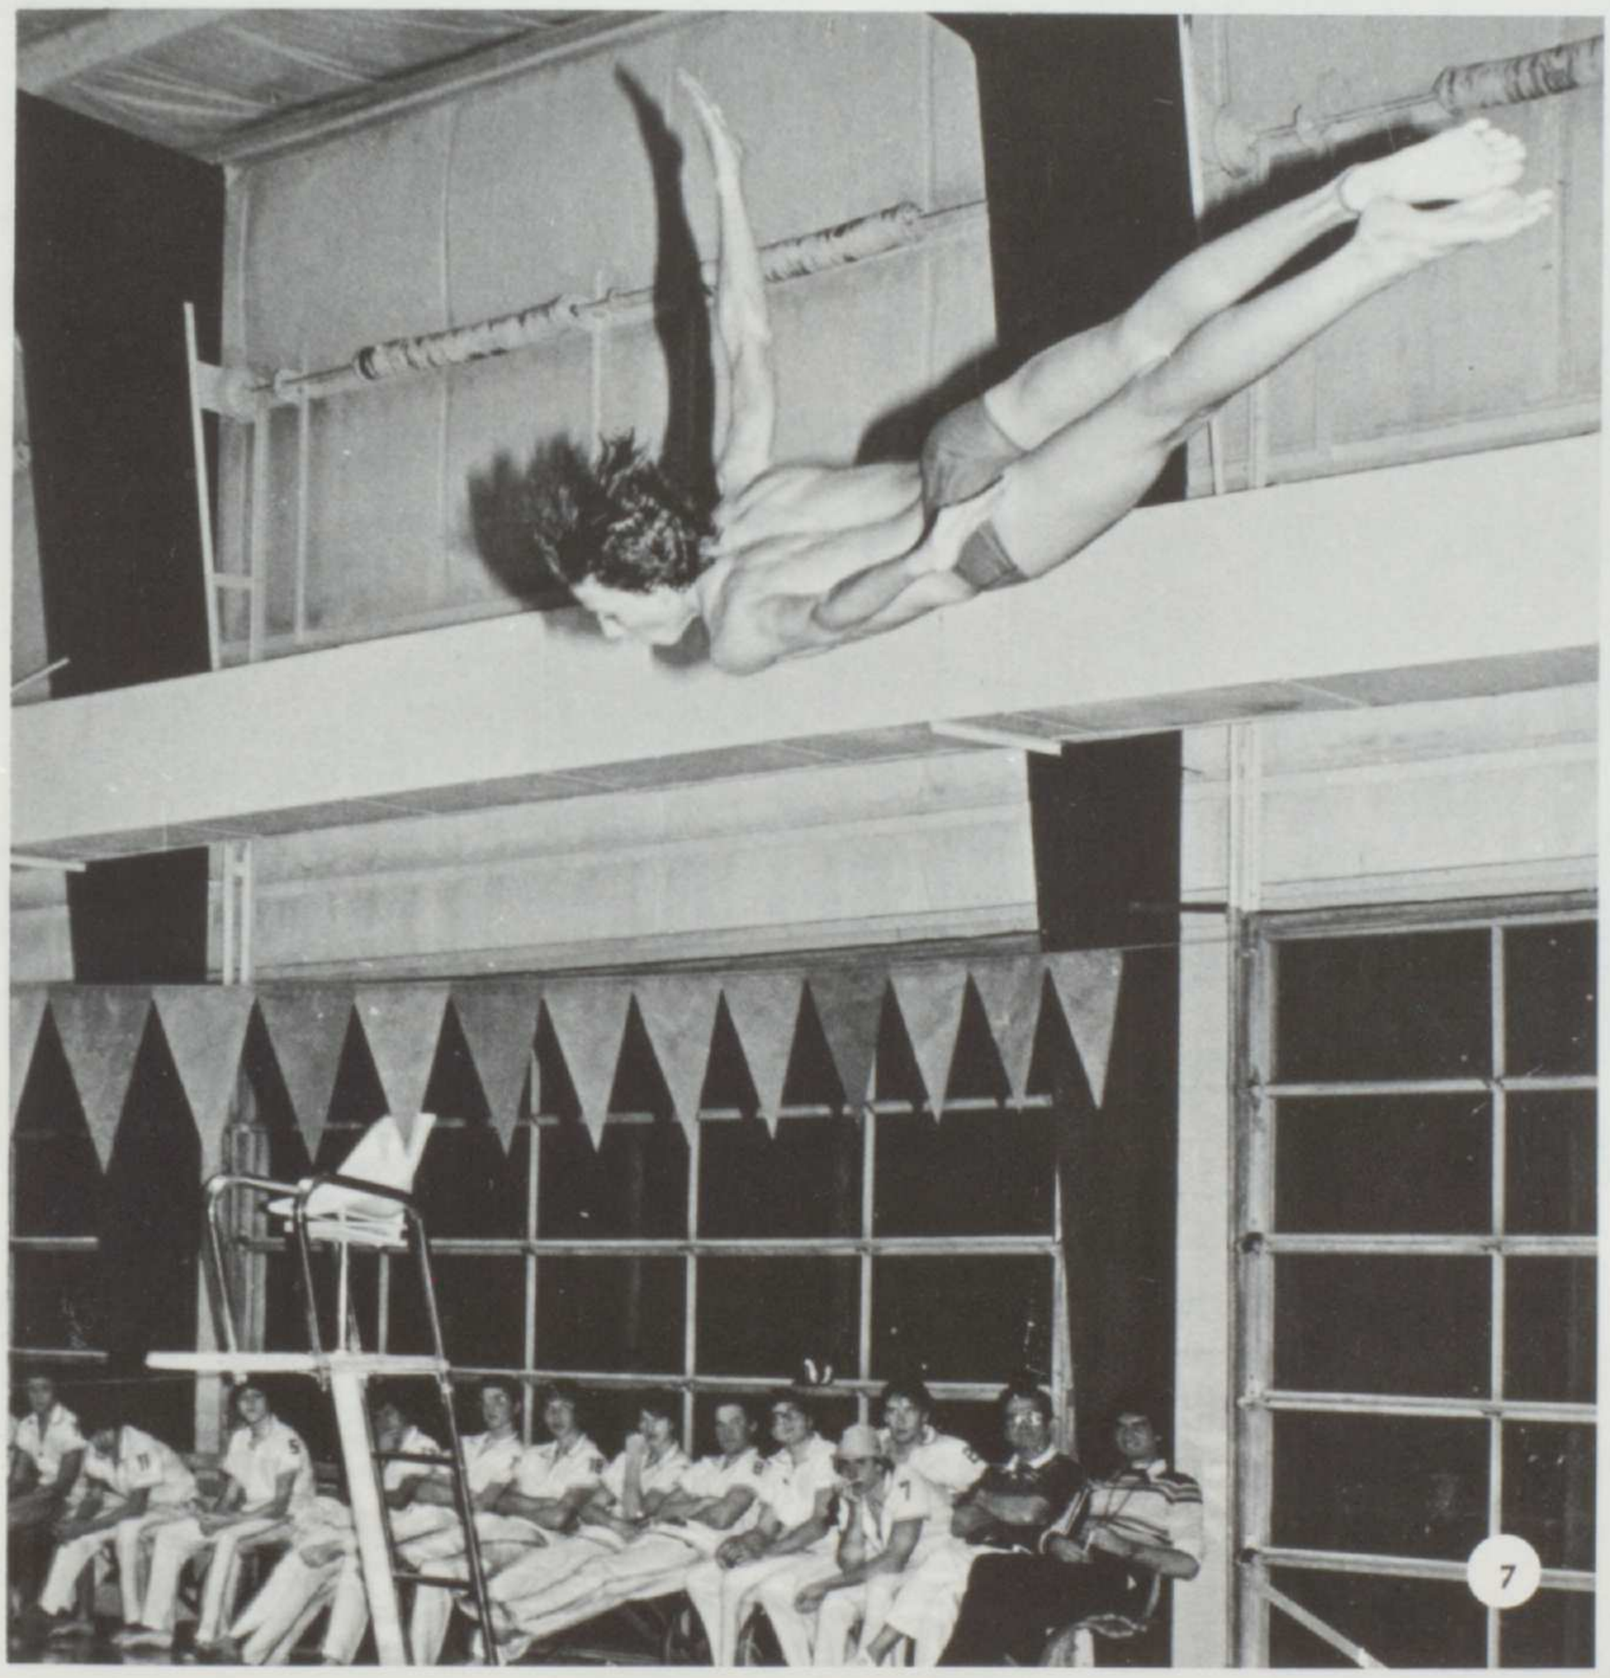
Team Theme: Competition



Competition was the theme for the 1978-1979 boys swimming team. Featuring high caliber teams such as St. Xavier (third in the nation in 1970) and Upper Arlington (second to St. X in the 1978 State Meet), the Card's schedule was one of the toughest in the nation. Despite this competition the squad posted an 11-3-1 record and placed second in the Upper Arlington Relays. Led by a group of record-breaking juniors, the team finished the season with a second place finish in the Districts. Several events happened for the first time during the '78-'79 season including the 10,000 yard New Year's workout, a meet clinching a 1-2-3 finish in the 100 freestyle against Toledo St. Francis, and a blazing 1:04 sec. 100 free split swam by senior diver Tim Miller against St. Xavier. In what was predicted to be an off year, the Cardinal swimmers combined a winning attitude with good coaching by Dick Rabold, and hard work to make it a very memorable season.

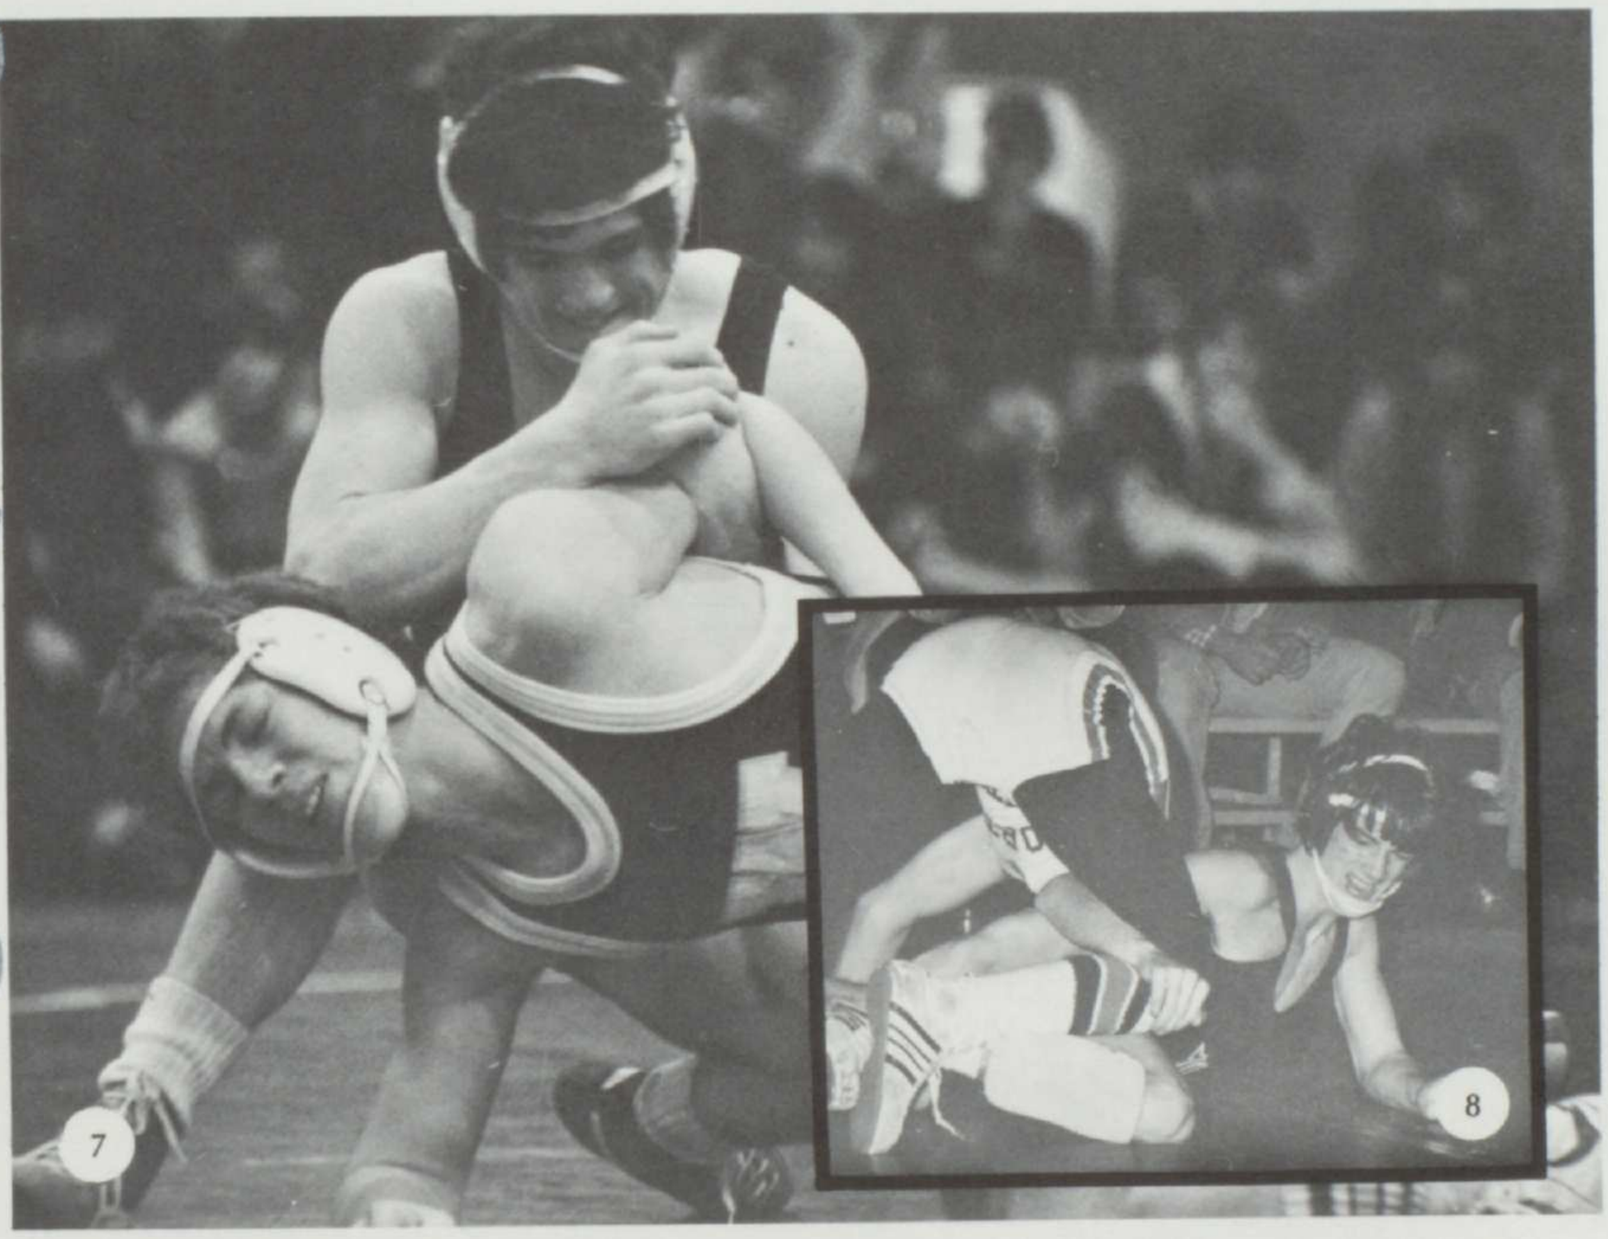
Wrestlers pin winning season



The Cardinal Wrestling team, led by captains Steve Soroka, Matt Brennan, Tony Politz, and Mark Jackson muscled into a very successful season marked by the performance of seniors Mark Haimerl and Steve Soroka, as well as many other fine athletes. The wrestlers achieved many new records, including the most take-downs in one season (49 by Mark Haimerl) and the most pins in a career (Steve Soroka). With the direction of ten-year coach, Jerry Stephan, this strong team pinned their way to the O.C.C. championships for the tenth consecutive year.

The 1979-80 season should be equally successful with the return of frosh stars Mark Gundling and Dave Ramirez.

The end of the 1979 season marks the resignation of our fine coach Jerry Stephan. His superior coaching ability will be missed by all.

Strength and determination lead to victory

8

The girls swim team, led by co-captains Anne Jordan and Lori Hampshire, splashed their way to a very successful 1978-1979 season. This season was marked by strength, determination, and ultimately victory.

Coach Jan Myers, who will be retiring next year, can be proud of the efforts put out by her 1978-1979 swimmers.

The team had many exceptional victories, particularly over Westerville North and South in the triangle meet, and the dual meet with Middletown. They then went on to finish second in the district, losing only to archrivals Upper Arlington.

The season was successful for many individuals on the team. Records were set and broken and many fine swimmers were sent to the state meet, where the Cards captured third place. With many juniors returning, Sue Bangs, Bev Guthery, and Kim Langhout among them, next year's team should have plenty of strength and leadership to help them make their way to another successful season in 1979-1980.

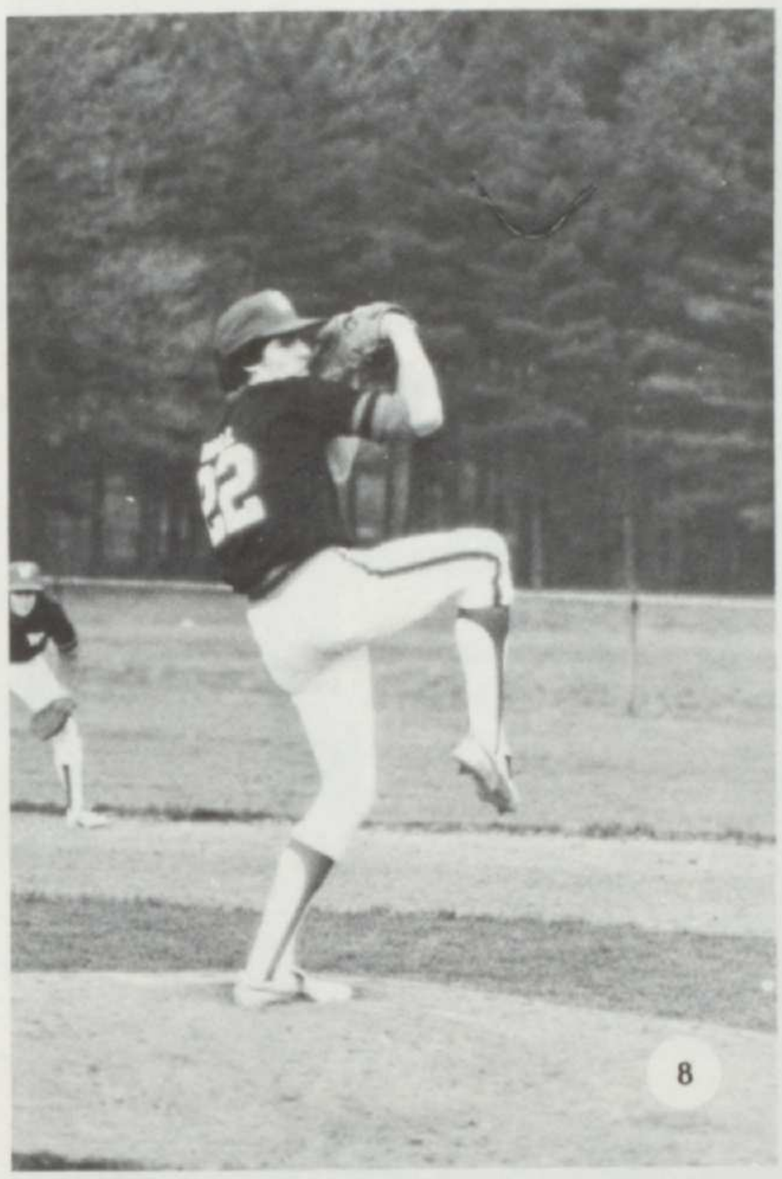
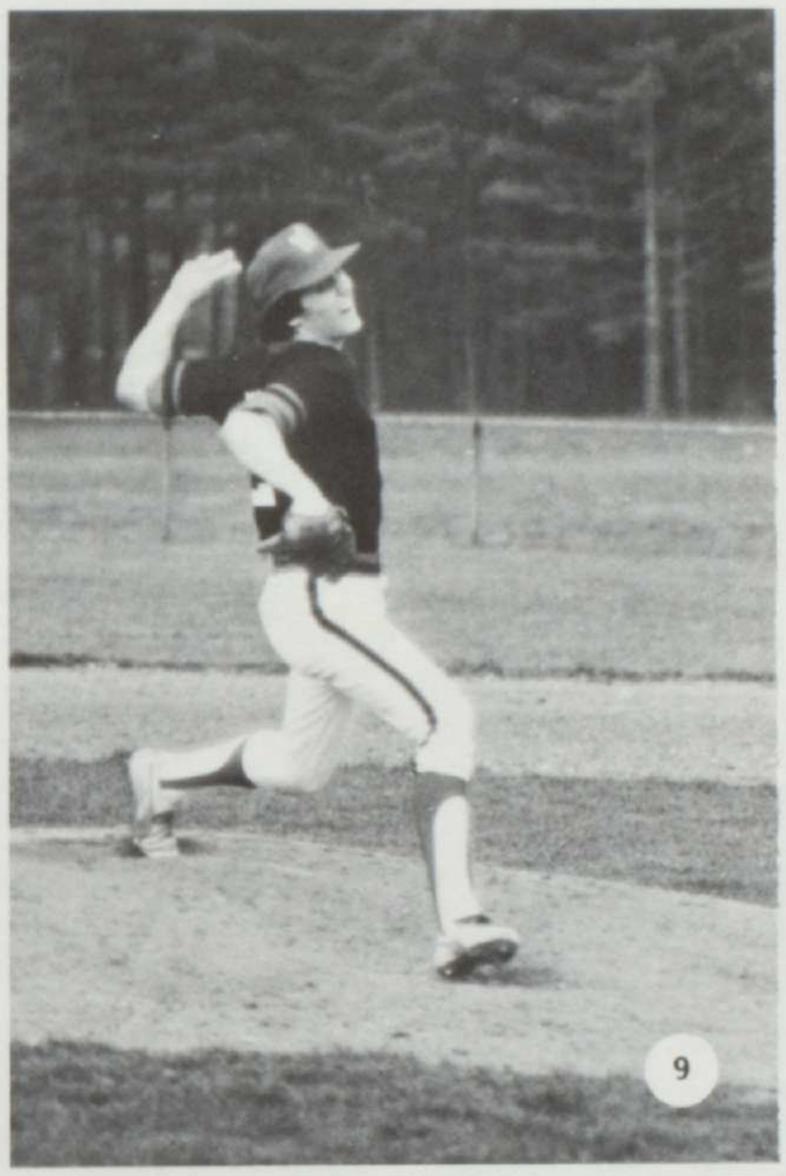
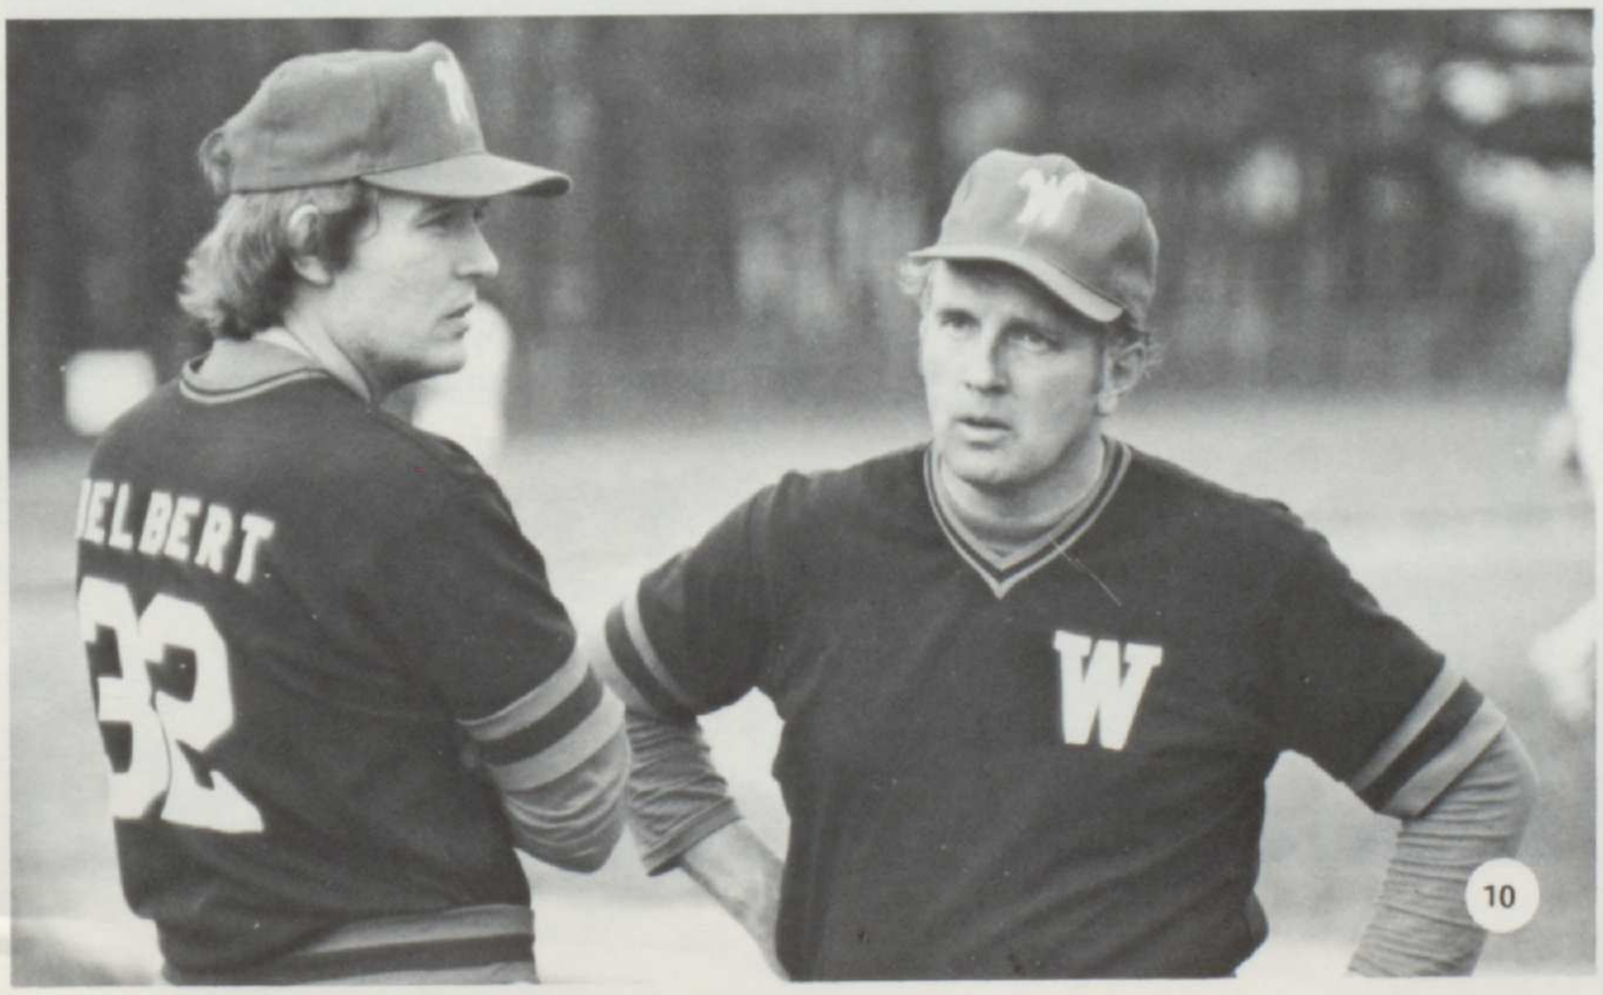
The best Worthington has ever had







A more awesome ball team Worthington has never seen . . . until this past spring. The Worthington baseball team, led by co-captains, the mighty shortstop Jeff Evans and pitcher Bruce Hill, made a tremendous showing this season ending up with a 27-5 record. Coached by the colorful Frank Cozze, the team devastated Westland and Whetstone to place first in the Districts. From there, the team advanced to regionals where they unfortunately lost to Lima Senior.

The season was the most accomplished in Worthington history. Senior team members, Tim Heitman (left field), Ralph Smith (first base), Dave Cannon (third base), and Joe Monska (pitcher) as well as many others, contributed their great talents in the areas of ball handling, agility, and hitting.

Coach Cozze managed to pull the team into a close-knit unit. The players came in as individuals, but throughout the season, they won and lost as a team. The seniors now leave as again individuals, but they now have one common memory, for they were the best Worthington has ever had.

Team slides into winning season

The Varsity Softball team had a winning season this year with a record of 9-8. This was made possible by the leadership of tri-captains Judy Belluche, Sharon James, and Molly O'Connor. Shortstop Beth Haunty and catcher Sandy Hitchens were selected to the All-Conference OCC because of their superb skill and talents. Molly O'Connor received Honorable Mention. Due to an ankle injury early in the season, Bonnie Barkley, an all-conference player, was unable to complete the season. Fortunately the team is only losing one senior, so they are looking forward to an excellent season next year.

Lacrosse captures 2nd in M.S.L.A.

An overall diagnosis of the boys lacrosse season was a very healthy one. They finished the season with a 9-4 record. This year's captains were Dave Aumuller, Craig Gallager, Larry Thomas, and Matt Winkler. Al Brady, the team's new head coach did a good job this year and has the record to prove it. During the season one of the most significant games was one against Upper Arlington with Worthington winning 12-8. Getting second place at the M.S.L.A. (Midwestern Scholastic Lacrosse Association) championships put the finishing touches on the season. Outstanding performances were seen this year by Larry Thomas, who was the high point scorer for the Cards.

WHS'S most improved team

The girls lacrosse team deserves the award for the most improved team, for only having lost three games this year. With the rigorous training and support of coach Debbie Stein and the captain, Myra Chackroff, it's no wonder that the team did so well. Myra Chackroff scored the most points during the season, which helped lead the team to the play-offs.

1979 Season: highly successful

The 1979 season was highly successful for the boy's track team. Exceptional performances were exhibited by many of the fine athletes. Among these were outstanding efforts by senior co-captains Steve Huber in the mile run and Mark Miller in the 440 relay, mile relay, and pole vault. Mark placed fifth in the state in the pole vault.

In the league, the team suffered a defeat only to Gahanna. Coach Les Eisenhart showed no mercy in training his team but the effects of his strong direction became evident as the season progressed. Although there are many talented athletes on the squad, junior Doug Harris is an especially gifted runner. His excellent form and determination led him to the state meet where he nabbed first in the 100 yard dash.

Cardinals stars burn up the track

Under the direction of Coach Jenny Elin and assistant coach Dee Dexter-Eder the Girl's track team started off at a fast pace.

They opened the season with a decisive victory against Groveport and despite many injuries, the Cardinal track stars continued to burn up the track, landing second in the league to Gahanna's strong team.

The team, led by captains, Juniors Sandi Jensen, Melanie Justice, and Senior Kari Wilson, showed strength and perseverance as the season progressed. Their determination to succeed became evident as many personal times continued to drop steadily throughout the season.

With the experience of this year's many young athletes, the 1980 team can be expected to show exceptional Cardinal Power on the track.

OCC champs for eleventh year in a row

The Worthington Varsity Tennis team smashed their way to a 16-4 dual match record. The netters lost only one singles match in route to an eleventh consecutive OCC championship. Coach Walter's Cards played excellent tennis, trimming the state's second place team 3-2, but still missed the elusive Bear Meat. Captain Jeff Tikson led the way this year with strong support coming from the other singles players and the two doubles teams.

We're proud of our teams!

Gymnastics

It took hard work, determination, perserverance, muscle, and a lot of sweat, but it all paid off in the end when the boys' Gymnastics team took second place in the 1979 state meet. The Cardinals sent 9 gymnasts to this meet, which is quite an honor. Scott Schuler was by far Worthington's best contender, coming away with second places in the Pommel Horse, Rings, High Bar, and All Around, and a first place in the Parallel Bars. Other key performances included Scott Willson eighth in the Floor Exercise, and Mike Willson fourth in the Parallel Bars. Worthington scored a phenomenal 145.65 points at the state, which is a new WHS team record. Coach Baker has a lot to be proud of, and with the loss of only one Senior, Captain Mike Willson, maybe we'll see a similar or even better performance in 1980.

Swimming

Some said it was a "rebuilding year," after the loss of many talented seniors last year, and that the team would never be the same. The 1979 girls' Swim Team had difficult steps to follow, for both the 1977 and 1978 teams won the state meet in their prospective years. But this year was to be different, or so they said.

The girls knew that they had a job to do, and they set their sights on getting it done. Much to the surprise and elation of many, the swimmers came away with third place in the 1979 state meet. With the return of virtually the entire team, and the gaining of several promising freshmen, who knows, maybe the 1980 team will return to what we'd like to call a tradition and recapture the state title next year!

Trainers: are they really important?

Does anyone really know what the trainers do? They're the guys on the sidelines and in the locker rooms with the Varsity letter jackets. One might ask, "Why did he get a letter, he's not on the team, he's just a trainer?" The trainers really earn those letters. Each one puts in between 30 and 35 hours of work every week to keep Worthington High School's many talented athletes healthy.

The job of a trainer is an especially tough one, for all of their work is done behind the scenes. They arrive at each sporting event before the team does, and don't leave until everyone is gone. The unfortunate part about all of this is that the trainers are never recognized for their strenuous efforts. They are some of the most dedicated people you will find around. "It's hard for the trainers because they're not getting the glory. They're kind of the unsung hero that people don't even really know about," said Harry Himelright, the head trainer at WHS.

One can be sure that our trainers are qualified, for they are trained by Himelright who is certified by the National Athletic Trainers Association. He also holds a B.S. Degree in Physical Education and a Masters Degree in Adaptive Phs. Ed., both from OSU.

In addition to the responsibility each trainer carries, they receive benefits such as a Varsity letter, travel privileges with the team, and passes to all school sports events. The trainers are just as much a part of High School athletics as the players themselves and should be recognized accordingly for their contributions.

PRIME OF LIFE

"These are the best years of your life."
They keep telling me.

But I dented my Dad's car,
My face is breaking out,
My grades are slipping,
And a term paper is due tomorrow.
I'm gaining weight,
And my boyfriend . . . doesn't exist.

"Don't waste your time, this year will be gone before you know it."
They warn.

Time.

I have obligations, things to do, responsibilities to meet.
I have my homework to do,
Cut my hair,
Clean my room,
Write letters.

I have ten million decisions to make about college
about my career
about school
about life.
I'm packing so much living into each day that I don't have much time to find out who I am.

"You're in the prime of life."
I keep hearing.

But I'm so confused
so mixed up
so alone
so afraid.

That I know they're wrong.

But someday,

When all this is over and done with,
when the decisions are made and the term papers are written

I'll look back and remember these days and tell my teenagers,

"Those were the best years of my life."

And they'll know I'm wrong.

You, my friend
I will remember you
Your smiles
Our laughter

Your sadness
Our tears

We together
Our memories

Though we may be parted
In time
In distance
I'll carry memories of you
And the me you helped to mold with me always
And someday I'll see that familiar smile
Hear that familiar laugh
And feel that familiar warmth
And I will relive these happy times once again

I think back on these happy times
A dance, a game, a silly little joke
Sometimes I wanted so much to throw my arms around you
And give you a hug
And sometimes I did
At times, your smile brightened my darkest days
When I was at my silliest you giggled with me
All along, you, my friend, seemed to understand
And you cared

So you my friends
Some of you I may not see for quite awhile
And true, it'll be different
We'll both change
But even if we go in opposite directions
We'll always have one point where our lives
And memories have become entwined

My graduation wish for you is merely that you live each day
In peace, in love, in happiness, in togetherness
And that we together
Clutch the link where our lives have touched
And let our hearts be filled with joyous times
From the past

May these times forever light our journeys
And turn our future dreams into happy memories.

Is the Prom worth it?

From the first tremulous day of the freshman year to the night when one steps across the stage at Mershon and receives the slip of paper that sends the graduated senior off into the world, high school is packed with memorable experiences. Of these, one of the best remembered and the most talked about is that age-old spring dance, the Prom. Perhaps no other event is planned, schemed for, desired as much, and experienced as fully as that one night in May (unless it is that one night in June). Indeed, the very fact that the Prom is so important to so many people may be a reason to examine it more closely. To put it bluntly, is the Prom worth all that is put into it? This query can be examined from many points of view.

For the Prom Co-Chairpeople (PCC) the dance is far more than a one-nite stand. Instead, practically all of the Junior year revolves around the event. From the first task of choosing a theme (which has ranged from "The Mad Hatter's Ball" to "The Lost City of Atlantis") to those last final hours of decorating, the lucky(?) PCC's must withstand incredible stress. Leslie Smith, a PCC from 1968, stated "The Prom chairman is asked to sacrifice time, friends, grades and sleep." and Carl Juckett, reflecting on the final hectic hours of 1972, wrote, "We worked 'till about midnight on Thursday and about 4:00 am Saturday morning. You will never have been so tired or nervous in your entire life." Miss Hottenroth recalled coming to school one year on a Saturday morning, only to find four girls sobbing on the steps of the school building and six inches of water on the main lobby floor. For many years the Prom involved fantastic feats of decorating as the gym was transformed into Paris, Hawaii, or an old Southern mansion. Special effects have included volcanoes, waterfalls, 14' clam shells (don't ask) and little munchkin-type people placed strategically around the Gym. In 1972 an Eiffel Tower was the center of attention. Sadly, these decorations were destroyed at approximately 6:00 a.m. Sunday morning in a huge bonfire — not a very auspicious ending for months of work. Another headache for the PCC's involves getting workers. As classes have grown and unity has dissipated, fewer and fewer students have had to assume larger and larger burdens. Then there is the final irony — on the night of the Prom, year after year, these hard-working people, generally girls, are often found at home or at small parties while others enjoy the fruits of their labor.

And what of those who are at the Prom? Both partners devote a large amount of time, effort and money on the average Prom date. From as far in advance as January, scheming may begin on how to get asked by, or how to ask (depending on the sex of the schemer) someone to the Prom. Once the date is established, the money begins to disappear. For a typical date, the budget reads as follows:

dress (store bought)	$70.00
tux (rented for the occasion)	$50.00
dinner (not McDonalds)	$20.00
corsage and boutonniere	$12.00
tickets, parking, pictures	$15.00
TOTAL	$167.00

This amount of money paid in hard earned cash is enough to make even the richest kid wonder if one night is worth all that green stuff. It must be pointed out that many students also become very extravagant and hire limo's or put out money for after-Prom entertainment. The emotional stress may also have a dampening affect on the festive occasion. While it is one thing to see a person at school or on a casual date it is quite another to go out on a formal date, dressed in a tux or long dress (again depending on the sex of the person), placed in a relatively stiff, formal atmosphere. Besides contending with parents' flash cubes and neighbors' jokes, the couple usually goes out to dinner at a nice restaurant and thus is exposed to the public. There is small wonder in the fact that most people look forward more to the parties after the Prom than the dance itself.

However, there is a third party to be considered in this matter . . . the long suffering Prom advisor.

The Prom . . .

This poor individual sacrifices lunch, prep periods and sleep for a year. Another small wonder is the way this job tends to bounce around to a new person each year. A big headache, according to Mr. Andrews (Prom Advisor 1971-1972), is trying to get some of the students to inform their advisor of what they are doing and when they are doing it. Another duty is the budget. The Prom advisor has the final responsibility for the money spent, and that is no easy task during the months of March and April, when everyone is running around buying and charging to the Junior Class. The Prom budget fluctuates (which is to say it's always getting larger) from year to year. In 1968 the cost was approximately $1100, and it has risen until it cost somewhere in the neighborhood of $2000 in 1977. Theoretically, the Junior Class Treasurer should handle this matter, but in practice it is the advisor who ends up doing the work. This is largely due to the fact that many bills come in during the summer when the old treasurer has left office and the new one has not yet taken over.

And yet, even though the Prom seems to be one headache after another something within this author rebells at the idea of pitching the whole project. The Prom is a tradition, and on the hundreth anniversary of WHS it is nice to observe some traditions still in practice. However, the Prom has been overdone. Missing a Prom should not ruin a young persons' life. The costs should be reduced. There are many ways to do this. For example, the Prom can be (and has been) taken off campus. This reduces the cost considerably since the Gym no longer has to be disguised with yards and yards of crepe paper and flame proof murals. Fortunately, the classes can now hold off-campus Proms. When Harrold C. McCord was the superintendent of schools, he stated that the only way the dance could be moved off campus was to make it a field trip, complete with pink slips, yellow school buses and blushing teacher chaperones. Wouldn't that be fun? Another way the Prom can be reduced in importance without sacrificing the feeling is by lessening the amount paid out by the individual couples. Consider this budget:

dress (home made)	$30.00
tux (rented, minus the shoes)	$30.00
dinner (at home, by candlelight)	$0.00
corsage and boutonniere	$12.00
tickets, parking, no pictures	$5.00
TOTAL	$77.00

The cost, thus reduced by $90.00 is no longer horrendous. By reducing the cost and cutting down on the effort that goes into it, the Prom begins to seem worthy of its reputation. Even the PCC's seem to agree that a lot of good can come from the dance. As one said, "the chairman is a responsibility that I wouldn't have traded for anything and I would accept it again, though at times I thought that I was a fool for trying." Another wrote in her report that "the immense feeling of accomplishment and the increased maturity gained . . . can't be imagined." All in all, the effort and time seem worth the final result, and if the cost can be lowered, the age-old spring Prom can and should be kept as a pleasant tradition and a memory to savor for the rest of one's life.

Winds of Change

No school could be in existence for one hundred years without some changes occurring in it. If this were not the case, all students today would be driving horses instead of Camaros and wearing sunbonnets instead of slitted skirts. But while the changes today are obvious, the stories behind the scene are not. Here, for the reader's enjoyment is presented a few of the more interesting episodes from the recent pages of the official WHS historical saga.

There are assorted one liners to tell the fact that there were 859 students in 1960 and 2200 today, or the growth of the sports program from 15 extracurricular activities in 1967 to 64 today. Other changes take longer to describe. For example, the removal of such stringent standards as the dress code is an interesting story. At one point girls' dresses had to reach below the knee (measurable by the teacher by making suspected offenders kneel on a chair) and boys' hair had to clear their ears. Jeans were, of course, totally unexceptable for school. The teachers had an even more clearly defined code. For example ladies could only wear dresses until the late Harold C. McCord superintendent of schools, was carefully approached with a timid request that pantsuits be allowed. This was granted on the condition that pantsuits were clearly defined as "matching jackets and pants with a contrasting blouse under it." McCord was not about to have teachers slouching around the school in jeans and a sweater.

Another interesting and recent change is the organization and structure of the school. Ten years ago the high school was two buildings, one holding freshman and sophomores and the other holding juniors and seniors. These two areas were connected by a slim hallway on the first floor. What this meant was simple, if a student had a class on the second floor of the west end followed by a class on the second floor of the east end he had to try to make his way down the steps and through the bottlenecked and jammed hallway, and back up the steps on the other side — all within three minutes. Of course, there were some advantages to this system. For example, all the classes were the same temperature and the students usually knew each other better since they saw their friends once a day instead of once a week. In 1970 the campus overflowed so the freshman were sent up to Kilbourne, and in 1973-75 the Main Campus underwent extensive reconstruction. Students made the best of this time period and classes went on, even though lectures were often given to the soothing sounds of jackhammers. On rainy days people armed with umbrellas through the exposed hallways and on sunny days they wore bathing suits to soak up the sun.

The smoking lounges are another subject with an interesting background. Ironically, the students who fought hardest for this privilege were the non-smokers, who felt that they had a right to breathe the air in their own bathroom — impossible through a blue haze of smoke. Mr. Donald Wilke, a science teacher, stated that he felt the worst bathroom was the girls' right beside his classroom. At times his room was foggy with smoke because of poor ventilation. The situation eventually got so bad that the principal would go and hide up in the pines to try and catch violators. One day one of them (name available on request) fell out of a tree and landed neatly on a smoking student. Shades of Spiderman? The issue finally came to a head when the new principal, Dr. David P. Cavanaugh, had all the doors removed from the bathrooms and stalls. This caused a sit down strike (on the grass not the toilets). From this initial confrontation petitions began circling and the Board of Education was approached with the idea of erecting a smoking lounge.

This is but a sampling of the changes that have swept through WHS in the past years. To attempt to cover the past hundred years, or more to report on this specific topic completely would encompass many more pages than is feasible. While one may look at some of the preceeding facts with shock, disbelief or even amused tolerence, two things must be remembered. First, these standards were not considered unreasonable at the time by a large majority of students; they were there merely to be obeyed. Secondly, if one would laugh at these stories, it is to reflect upon how the class of 2000 will view high school of 1979.

Colleges on the Attack

It begins January of the junior year, with a letter addressed, "Dear Prospective Student . . ." and continues through May of the senior year. The ritual involves piles of stationary and enough stamps to send any postmaster climbing the walls. What is it? The process of choosing a college. Before it is over the average student will have received enough bulletins and letters to wallpaper his entire house (twice), or to reach from the University of Oglethorpe to Podunk College — whichever he desires.

The most remarkable characteristic of these letters is that none of them are personally signed — each one is painstakingly stamped with the director of admission's unreadable name. Another interesting fact about these letters is that every college is certain that "you are what we are looking for and we are what you are looking for!" How the average student would be perfect for fifty-odd colleges is beyond comprehension.

The light at the end of the mailbox is the thought, clutched desperately by most students that soon there will only be one college sending them fifty letters instead of fifty colleges sending them one letter. Only graduation, it seems, can end this onslaught.
